

State Meeting Plans Prepared By Young GOP

The executive board of the Young Republican club of Oregon met in Corvallis Sunday to make plans for the organization's pre-primary election convalescence in that city on Sunday, May 15.

Orval Hager, Willamette university student and Trumpeter editor, presided at the meeting and George Cowens, state executive board chairman, addressed the group.

The May meeting, Hager announced, will include several panel discussions, an executive board meeting and a banquet. Gov. John Hill, State Sen. Douglas McKay, both gubernatorial candidates in the primaries, and Ralph Calkins, Portland, republican national committee member from Oregon, may be present at the convalescence, Hager said.

Steve Anderson, Salem, state president of the club, and several Salem members were in Portland Saturday with a large group of the Young Republicans met with the state republican central committee.

Half of the banquet program was turned over to the younger group. Anderson thanked the senior club for its financial aid during 1948, stating the contributions had aided the young groups materially.

Jim Cowens, Salem member, addressed the group.

Norway Lodge Sets Program

Public installation of newly-elected officers of the local Thor lodge, Sons of Norway, will take place Saturday night at Salem Woman's club building, it was decided at a meeting of lodge officers Saturday night.

A business meeting will be held at 8 o'clock next Saturday night and the installation will follow at 9. Thor lodge also voted to support the concert tour of the famous Norway university chorus, slated to appear in Benson high school auditorium in Portland April 25.

Tickets for the concert are now on sale at Olson's Florist shop in Salem. The 70 singers are from the University of Oslo, Norway.

Duncan Reverses PUC and Orders Permit Restored

A public utilities commission order revoking a "common carrier" permit of Oregon Freight lines was reversed by Marion County Circuit Judge George Duncan Monday and the permit was ordered restored.

C. C. Harger of Portland, operator of the trucking firm, had instituted a suit in circuit court against George H. Flagg, former public utilities commissioner. The suit was on appeal from the PUC order issued last December 23.

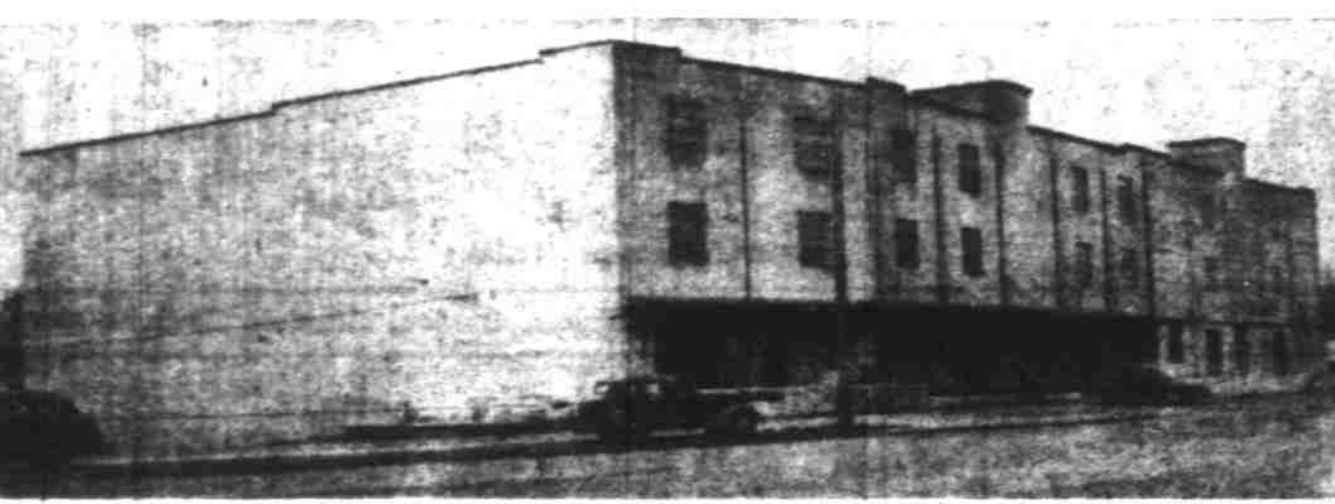

The freight lines' common carrier permit was cancelled by the PUC on the finding that the lines operated as a fixed terminus common carrier without a permit as such. The PUC also alleged that the firm was hauling over routes already covered.

As the plaintiff is operating under an "anywhere-for-hire" permit, Judge Duncan ruled that the operations which may be conducted under such a permit are not clearly defined by statute sufficiently to authorize revocation of the permit.

MARK VALUE SET
FRANKFURT, Germany, April 12 (AP)—American and British authorities today set a value of 30 cents for the German mark for purposes of international trade in most commodities. Previously the mark had been given arbitrary values ranging from 10 cents to 60 cents.

Newest Larmer Warehouse Units Now in Use

Above photo shows two newest 200 by 240 foot units of the Larmer Transfer and Storage company warehouses at 889 N. Liberty st. The new section is at the extreme right and is being completed while in use. Dan A. Larmer, head of the warehouse company, this week announced his retirement from active management. Dan Larmer Will Retire After 40 Years Building Storage Firm

Dan A. Larmer, owner of one of Salem's oldest transfer and storage firms, has retired from full-time participation in the company which bears his name, he said Monday.

Frank L. Earnest, manager of Silver Wheel Motor Freight, Inc., for the past 15 years, has been hired as manager of the Larmer firm. Larmer still retains ownership of the business and will assist Earnest on a part-time basis, he said.

Larmer began business 40 years ago in a small building known as the old Wade store, across the street from the present warehouse at 889 N. Liberty st.

From the Wade building Larmer moved his business to North Front and D streets, site of the present Terminal Ice & Cold Storage company. He transferred to his present quarters on Liberty street 22 years ago.

About 18 years ago, Larmer recalls, he suffered a total loss when a fire destroyed his warehouses. He immediately rebuilt and last fall added the third of three huge warehouses. From a beginning years ago with team-and-wagon hauling, Larmer's business now includes over 20 pieces of rolling equipment, trucks and trailers.

From a local firm, the Larmer Transfer and Storage company has expanded to include daily truck runs to Portland and the sale of fuels.

"I believe I'll relax and take it easy for a while," Larmer said. He lives with his wife at 951 Larmer ave.

China Important, Dahlquist Holds

No place in the world is more important just now than China, and it is urgent that United States help save it from communism. This opinion was expressed by Lt. Col. Frederick C. Dahlquist, Oregon's chief army recruiter, before the Salem Chamber of Commerce Monday noon.

In explanation of the inability of workers to reach an agreement by the national government and the communist forces, Dahlquist said the communists always had something about which to object when it came to signing on the dotted line.

Vandalism Noted At Fairgrounds

Vandals who entered the state fairgrounds in North Salem over the weekend did more than $200 damage in a restaurant and the grandstand, city police reported Monday.

The destruction was discovered Monday afternoon by Bruce Williams, state fair publicity director. Detectives said the intruders smashed out all the windows in the restaurant and broke up the tables and light fixtures. In the grandstand the vandals shattered several windows and sashes and broke up several chairs.

Farrell Returned On Check Charge

Earl Farrell, Portland, was returned to Salem Monday by city detectives and will be arraigned in Marion county district court on a forgery charge.

Farrell was arrested on a district court warrant charging him with cashing two worthless checks on Salem merchants in late January and early February. He was arrested by Portland police Saturday and held for local officers. He is being held in the city jail in lieu of $1,000 bail.

Electrical Workers Back to Work Here

Approximately 38 outside electrical workers of Walton-Brown Electric who had been idle since last Thursday on a wage dispute, returned to their jobs Monday at a compromise advance in pay.

The work stoppage was general in Oregon, Washington, and part of Idaho where the outside electrical workers are hired.

Traffic Wreck Cost Totalled

Oregon motorists footed a bill of at least $25,633,400 last year as their share of the cost of traffic accidents to individuals, Secretary of State Earl T. Newbery reports.

Safety officials estimate the average cost of each traffic death at $18,000, Newbery said, and injuries $660. Property damage is estimated at $160 per accident.

A breakdown of Newbery's figures shows 63,590 accidents accounting for repair bills of $10,174,400. With 439 deaths aggregating $7,902,000. The cost of the 11,450 injuries was estimated at $7,557,000.

Newbery pointed out that dollars and cents take no account of the pain and grief but only of the pocketbook.

Those receiving the pins are Barbara Fuhr, president; Sharon Fleming; Gail Ashly, secretary; Barbara Brockway, reporter; Patty Burres, vice president; Gilberta Bates, Lynn Barrell, Marilyn Harland, reporter; Sandra Shaw, Roxie Williams, Judy Phipps, Darlene Turner, Verna Leonardard, Merilda Taylor, Anita Muir, Jessie Wyatt, Marjorie Mitchell, Nadine Young, Joann Hill, Delores DeFilippi, Shirley Pederson, Sandlen Lasley and Mary Brenner. Mrs. Arthur Weddie is club leader.

Richmond school Cub Scouts, directed by leader Leslie Morris, presented several acts during the entertainment program. First grade pupils, under their teacher, Mrs. Carmen Jensen, played rhythm orchestra numbers.

16 Solons Urge Veto-Proofing, Police for U.N.

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—An "ABC" plan to make the United Nations a veto-proof, fighting organization for peace was pushed forward today by 16 republican and democratic senators from 14 states.

Introduced as a resolution by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), the senators' plan calls for (a) outlawing the big power veto in questions of aggression, armament for aggression, and admitting new countries to the U.N.; (b) banning atomic weapons, through the U.S. plan for an atomic development authority, and limiting other heavy armaments under a quota system to be set up by the security council; (c) formation of an international, peace-keeping police force, made up of volunteers from five nations. There also would be small "reserve" forces supplied by the U.S., Britain, Russia, China and France.

State Cattle Import Rules Get Approval

Oregon's regulations governing importation of cattle into the state are "reasonable, necessary and in conformance with state and federal laws," Attorney General George Neuner ruled in an opinion Monday.

The regulations, established by State Agriculture Director E. L. Peterson, are designed to prevent diseased cattle from coming into Oregon from California drought areas. They provide that certificates of good health must accompany the cattle, or else they must be quarantined at the owner's expense for 30 days.

"The provision for health certificates is no barrier to commerce of traffic in livestock that may lawfully enter the state," Neuner wrote. "It has the effect of stopping diseased animals only and permitting others to enter without hindrance."

"It is the duty of the state director of agriculture to take such measures as will prevent the spread of communicable diseases of livestock and, if necessary, to resort to restraint and isolation of diseased or suspect animals."

Many thousands of cattle have come into the state this year from the California drought areas. Peterson said he fears the animals might infect Oregon herds with many diseases, including the dread hoof and mouth disease which has spread over much of Mexico.

Richmond PTA Names Officers; Awards Given

Paul Holloway was elected president of the Richmond school Parent-Teacher association in a business session following an entertainment in the school Monday night.

Other new officers are L. M. Davis, vice president; Mrs. Donald Seburn, secretary; and Mrs. Fred Humphrey, treasurer. Retiring officers are J. F. Remington, president; Paul Holloway, vice president; Mrs. Fred Humphrey, secretary; and Mrs. Eimer Amundson, treasurer.

Members voted to contribute $25 to the Camp Fire Girls' Camp Kilowan summer recreation area.

Anthol Riney, district 4H director, addressed the group briefly, stressing 4H club work's relationship with the home.

Homemaker 4H pins were presented to 23 sixth grade girls. The presentation marks the first 4H club function in Richmond school in the last eight years.

Those receiving the pins are Barbara Fuhr, president; Sharon Fleming; Gail Ashly, secretary; Barbara Brockway, reporter; Patty Burres, vice president; Gilberta Bates, Lynn Barrell, Marilyn Harland, reporter; Sandra Shaw, Roxie Williams, Judy Phipps, Darlene Turner, Verna Leonardard, Merilda Taylor, Anita Muir, Jessie Wyatt, Marjorie Mitchell, Nadine Young, Joann Hill, Delores DeFilippi, Shirley Pederson, Sandlen Lasley and Mary Brenner. Scarcities Slow Extensions of City Utilities

Only the continued scarcity of such materials as water pipe is slowing the extension of city facilities into areas annexed in the past two years, City Manager J. L. Franzen assured the city council Monday night in Salem Chamber of Commerce meeting rooms.

Pipe for water mains in the east and north parts of Salem is in short supply, although long ordered, Franzen said, and lights for every street intersection in new areas have been on order almost a year. It will require several months to get the city sewer extension program underway, he added.

The city council ordered Franzen to study reports that heavy trucks are using residential area streets.

Aldermen confirmed their action last month in setting rentals aggregating $120 a month for leases of city waterfront property and moorage rights, after three companies near foot of Chemeketa street protested the fees were too high and the city manager had submitted an alternate proposal.

DeMolay Unit Installs Here

New officers of Chemeketa chapter, Order of DeMolay, were installed in a ceremony at Salem Masonic temple Monday night.

Included in the group of incoming officers are Robert Seamster, master council, Beldon Owens, senior councilor, and Neil McCrary, junior councilor.

A large group attending the ceremony was entertained by Phil Blankenship, who played several violin selections. The DeMolay Mothers club served refreshments.

Congregational Group Favors Church Merger

Approval of the proposed national merger of the Congregational Christian churches and the Evangelical and Reformed church was voted by members of the East Willamette association of the Congregational Christian churches at a conference at Butteville Sunday.

Vote in favor of the merger was 64 to 32. The delegates also voted 71 to 23 in favor of remaining in the proposed new church if the merger is completed. The association includes Oregon churches outside of Portland.

Named by the association as delegates to the national meeting of the general council June 17 to 24, at Oberlin, Ohio, are the Rev. Seth R. Huntington, pastor of First Congregational church of Salem, and Mrs. Douglas Tennant, member.
