

St. Anne's Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church will be entertained Monday afternoon at the North Summer street home of Mrs. Floyd W. Shepard at 2 o'clock. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, Mrs. Morris K. Crothers, Mrs. Harry Schenk and Mrs. Charles Heltzel.

Seen and Heard...

By JERYME ENGLISH

HOME AGAIN . . . are the Walter Zosel, George L. Arbucks and Lee U. Eyerlys . . . Mr. Arbucks was a guest of Lee Eyerly and Walter Zosel this year on the annual ride of the Desert Cavaliers in Arizona, in the mountainous country near Wickenburg . . . This is a group of riders from all over the country with 28 states represented this year . . . In order to become a member, first one must be a guest on the ride and then he is voted on . . . Also a famous movie star is a guest each year and this time it was Preston Foster . . . All three couples returned in time for the annual dinner of the Oregon Mounted Posse on Tuesday night . . . the Eyerlys have since returned to their ranch at Wickenburg, where they are building some courts . . . next year they hope to start construction on a ranch house, but until then they are comfortable in their deluxe trailer.

IN PARIS . . . the past six months have been the Arthur Rosebraugh of New York City . . . Arthur, is a former Salem man, is the son of the W. W. Rosebraugh and an attorney representing firms in Paris . . . Mrs. Rosebraugh, a native of France, has been more than enjoying the stay in her home country, which is slowly returning to its pre-war days . . . They have been widely feted and entertained by their Paris friends . . . They will either fly or sail for the states the end of April . . . While away they sublet their apartment to Yehudi Menuhin, and his wife . . . Mrs. Rosebraugh writes that Mrs. Menuhin is most charming.

TEA TIME . . . a week ago when the wives of Kiwanis entertained with a delightful spring tea at the chamber of commerce in honor of the visiting Kiwanis wives, who were here with their husbands for the spring conference . . . The receiving line in the foyer . . . Mrs. James T. Brand introducing the guests and wearing a lovely orchid pinned to her black lace gown . . . attractive Mrs. P. H. Schnell, the president of the club, in moon blue and Mrs. Harry V. Collins, chairman for the successful affair, quaint in her black skirt with white Gibson Girl blouse and pearl combs in her updo hair style . . .

Highlight . . . of the afternoon was the style show held in the larger room where tea was served . . . an attractive setting and runway for the models . . . Mrs. Albert Gragg, smartly dressed in the ever popular black, did a grand job as commentator . . . The tea table . . . just like a spring garden scene . . . a grass green tartan cloth . . . white . . . dozens of red camellias in a white miniature wheelbarrow and watering can . . . more camellias interspersed between the candlesticks which held tapers in shades of yellow, green, violet and red . . . even packages of flower seeds to complete the arrangement.

From out-of-town . . . noted Mrs. Ted Swint of Portland stunning in a black suit with furs and black hat with a halo crown of roses tucked in the neckline . . . A pert carnation in shades of white for Mrs. Albert Combs of Milwaukee . . . Mrs. Ben Hazen of Portland in a vermilion red crepe gown . . . Also from Portland Mrs. Harold Jones, wife of the district secretary, who has served for many years . . . she wore a black silk print in shades of iris and yellow . . . and Mrs. Melvin Goode of Albany, busy greeting her old Salem friends, chic in a beige suit and red straw sailor with white trim . . . A few of the Salem wives . . . Mrs. Herman Jochimsen in a stunning beige crepe gown made on princess lines with the skirt caught up in front with a large rose . . . Petite Mrs. Carlton Greider in black, the skirt made with a wide flounce and a petticoat showing below . . . and Mrs. A. W. Loucks in a becoming spring print with black taffeta draped at the hip line.

COSTUMES OF THE WEEK Mrs. Donald A. Young, just home from a stay in Victoria, B. C., smart in a navy blue plaid suit, green and yellow predominating, with pleated skirt, navy blue belt and purse . . . and what caught our eye were her green leather shoes to which she had added a running stitch of blue yarn around the open toe and camp.

GREET A NEWCOMER . . . on Friday afternoon when Mrs. W. W. Rosebraugh and Mrs. Harold Rosebraugh entertained informally at tea for the former's daughter, Mrs. W. H. Foster, who has recently moved here from Portland . . . the honor guest wearing a becoming gray crepe gown and corsage of camellias . . . although she has often visited in Salem this will be her first time back to live since high school days . . . A delightful affair where one chatted over the tea cups . . .

Thanks, Folks

We wish to extend our grateful thanks to the many who participated in our window contest. Thursday night before a huge overflow crowd in the store the first prize awards were given to Mrs. May Wilson who was presented with a diamond set Helibros watch and a man's Helibros Chronograph watch was given to Wilburn O. Bennett. Many consolation prizes were also awarded. Dave Hoss was master of ceremonies at the presentation party and the Priscilla Meisinger accordion quartet furnished music. Nearly 4,500 contestants took part in the contest which celebrated the 15th anniversary of the founding of Brown's Jewelry in Salem. Paid Adv.

Mrs. Bruce Cooley over from Dallas to assist the hostesses . . .

Among the guests . . . Mrs. Hugh Morrow in a black suit with white pin stripe and flower trimmed capeau, who had just finished weaving a table mat before leaving home . . . Mrs. Henry Hanzen smart in a black and white print and pert black straw hat . . . Symphonies in black were Mrs. Walter Spaulding and Mrs. Carl Chambers . . . Mrs. Garlen

Simpson wearing a becoming black milan straw with wide brim and a cluster of spring flowers atop the crown . . . and Mrs. Albert Cohen in a smart plaid suit and emerald green off-the-face hat.

Miss Mabel Conklin of Huntington Park, Ill., has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Fusom and daughter in Salem.

City Planning Is Discussed

A panel discussion of long range planning will be conducted at the Saturday afternoon meeting of the Salem Women's club April 24. J. L. Franzen will discuss sewage disposal, Rex Kimmel, memorial auditorium and Roy Harland, schools. Board meeting is at 1

p. m. and the business session at 2 p. m.

The girls teeball team from Par-rish junior high school under the direction of Miss Gretchen Kreamer will sing several numbers. Mrs. Estill Brunk will preside at the business meeting and Mrs. James M. Glass is tea chairman.

A new table tennis ball projector, capable of delivering balls at a 60 foot per second or 40 mile an hour clip, has been demonstrated.
