Viks Seek Big-6 Title Today

From last place to first in the short space of one season is a long haul, but Salem high's cinder Viks expect to make it today in the annual Big-Six track and field meet on Bell field at Corvallis.

VERN GILMORE Not too gloomy.

As Salem has defeated both Springfield and Albany, and Bend isn't too strong this year, the Viks do not expect too much trouble from those units. Eugene is considered fairly strong, however.

Elks Swingers Resume

Round No. 2 comes up this weekend for the close-to-250 dividers swinging in the 28 flights of the Elks annual Willamette Valley golf tourney and with the weather at last turning right, the Salem Golf course turf is likely to be well battered by the time Sunday evening (the deadline for second rounders) comes around.

With Defending Champion Jack Russell and formidable contender Walt Cline, Jr., disposed of in the Championship firing after suffering first round upsets, the picture has changed. Jack Brande, long-hitter from Lebanon, seems to be the top favorite at present but may have trouble with Wiff Needham Sunday.

Another key match pits red-hot Bob Burns against Albany's Dick Yost and another throws Salem's Bunny Mason against another Albany ace, Rex McReynolds. Jimmy Sheldon, also a strong title possibility, should turn back Bob Burrell.

Other Championship flight matches: Tom Wise vs. Tony Painter; Harvey Quistad vs. Leo Estey; Glen Lengren vs. Frank Shafer; and John Nichols vs. Bill Schaefer.

First flight pairings: Smith vs. Ingram; Kindred vs. Alley; Owens vs. Ralston; Olinger vs. McNeil; Russell vs. Davenport; Albrich vs. Schultz; Buchanan vs. Victor; Dow vs. Cline.
