They'll Pass It Around Today

200 Athletes Due for Test

The 1948 district seven track and field classic, expected to be another team victory for Salem high's potent Vikings, dolls forth today on Olinger field. Upwards of 200 prep athletes, battling for berths in the state meet next week at Corvallis, will convene for the session. Class A schools to be represented are Salem, Silverton, Woodburn, Mt. Angel, Jefferson, Stayton, Sacred Heart Academy and Molalla. Chemawa, Gervais and Aumsville are expected to be more strongly represented among the dozen Class B schools eligible to compete.

Qualifying heats in all events other than the 440, 880 and mile will be run off starting at 10 a.m., according to meet Director Vern Gilmore. The main event starts at 1:30 o'clock, and all winners and runners-up here will earn the jaunt to Corvallis. Gilmore's Salems are defending champs.

Elks Action Resumes

It's quarter finals time in the Elks annual Willamette Valley links classic this week end and on tap in the Championship bracket are four matches which promise to be nip-and-tuck.

One of the feature clashes throws two Albany aces against one another as Dick Yost, victor over medalist Bob Burns last week, takes on long-hitting Rex McReynolds, Jack Brande, the Lebanon clouter and the pick of many to take the title, meets up with Tony Painter who, if hot, could give Mr. Brande a real tussle. Jimmy Sheldon, perhaps the strongest local hope now that Burns, Walt Cline and Jack Russell have been eliminated, tangles with darkhorse Harv Quistad whose game has improved to the point where he can be really dangerous. Fourth title encounter sees Glen Lengren, a long swatter on his own count, battling with Bill Schafer. Lengren had advanced to the quarters Wednesday when he turned back Frank Shafer, 3-2, in a belated go.

The Sheldon-Quistad and Lengren-Schafer duos will tee-off at 12:15 today followed by Yost and McReynolds at 1 o'clock. Brande and Painter are slated to go at 10 a.m. Sunday.

In the first flight it's Ned Ingram vs. Lawrence Alley; Bob Raiston vs. Harold Olinger; Jack Russell vs. Frank Albrich; and Bob Buchanan vs. Art Dow. In addition, swingers in the remainder of the 38 flights will be heading into the home stretch. DEADLINE for third round play is SUNDAY NIGHT.
