Public Hearings, Zoning, New Aldermen on Council Agenda

Four public hearings on zoning and vacation matters, two aldermen to be appointed and six bills for final action — these are on the agenda for Salem city council when it meets at 7:30 Monday night in Salem Chamber of Commerce.

Besides, the council will open bids on interceptor sewer construction preliminary to the erection of a Salem sewage disposal plant. Award of contract for the work, however, depends on a favorable vote May 21 on the proposed $815,000 sewer bond issue facing Salem electors. The interceptor system would account for about $215,000 and the plant $600,000.

th telephone and lumber hearing for a p... Pending ordinance bills which would receive final action Monday would require special permission for church or school building additions in residential areas, would alter the spur track arrangement serving the Larmer warehouses on Broadway street, enfranchise the Southern Pacific Union street spur track for 20 years (with revocable power to the council), would create a 10-foot setback line for Mill street between 17th and 18th street, would vacate the alley between Chemeketa and Court west of Capitol street and would "move" Grant school from ward 5 to ward 1 to add a convenient precinct polling place to the latter.

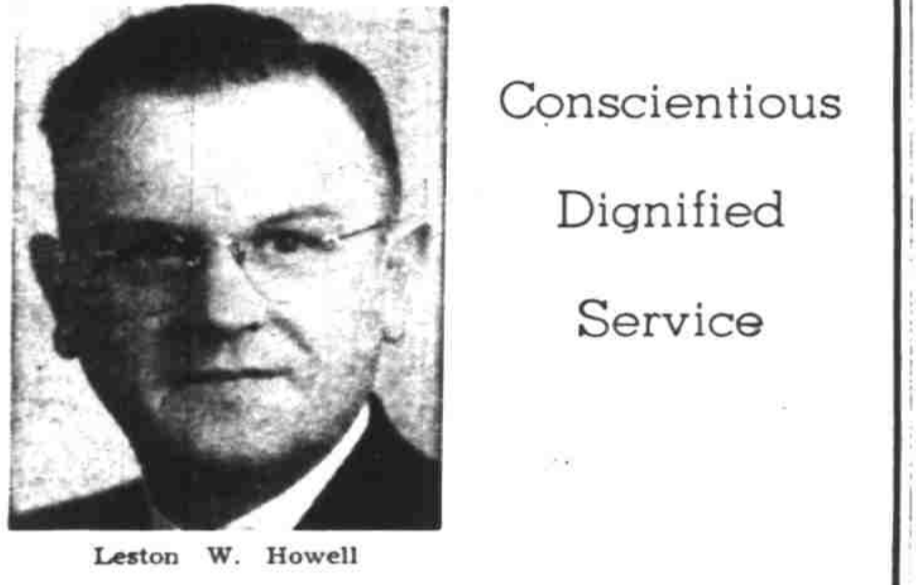

With Fry and Lewis now resigned from the council and with Alderman Howard Maple expected to be out of the city Monday, the four other aldermen and the mayor must all be present to constitute the quorum required for official action by the council.

Firm Criticized as Case Dismissed

PORTLAND, May 8-(P)—Montgomery Ward & Co. was freed today of a charge of malicious prosecution of a Salem woman. Federal Judge Claude McColloch dismissed the suit brought by Mrs. M. Baker, 62. She filed the suit after a Marion county justice court jury exonerated her on a charge she took $7 worth of lace curtains from the store. Judge McColloch handed down a memorandum opinion in which he criticized the company saying "I disapprove of the company's conduct throughout the Salem proceedings." He stressed that the plaintiff has a heavy burden of proof in malicious prosecution cases.

Not a single thing lacking!

To be completely satisfactory, a motor car must give you many things—and Pontiac gives them all!
It is big and beautiful—so big and beautiful that you can drive it anywhere, on any occasion, with pride and confidence.
It performs magnificently—and is the lowest-price car with General Motors Hydra-Matic Drive.*
It rides and handles so well that the longest journey is a distinct pleasure.
