Brown with Mrs. Glenn Briedwell and Mrs. Earl J. Adams assisting hostesses. Fifty guests called between the hours of 3 and 5 to bid Mrs. Latham goodbye.

Pink and white dogwood were used about the living rooms with Pink Pearl rhododendron and pink duetzia centering the tea table where Mrs. Urin S. Page of Salem, Mrs. R. E. Kleinsorge, Mrs. C. W. Keene and Mrs. Arthur Janz poured. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Tom Anderson, Mrs. Lowell Brown and Mrs. R. A. McClanathan.

A special guest was Mrs. Foster Cone of Oakland, a daughter of the Lathams, who is here to assist in moving preparations.

In Oakland the Lathams have an apartment in the home of his brother, Marc Latham.

Tea to Fete Mothers

The Home Economics club of Salem high school will entertain with its annual May day tea in honor of the mothers this afternoon at High Home between 3 and 5 o'clock. This is the first time the tea has been held for several years and the club plans to continue with this annual affair. All mothers of home economics students are invited to attend.

High Home has recently been redecorated by the home furnishings class. Serving the tea will be Mrs. Charles Feike and Mrs. L. Cover, mother of the club president, Miss Alicia Cover. The May basket idea will be carried out in the decorations.

During the tea announcement will be made of the Junior and senior girls who have received their diplomas. They have been selected by last year's honor girls including Miss Cover, Beverly Becker and Eleanor Dierks and the advisors. The outstanding senior girl of the Home Economics club will not be announced until the annual senior class assembly.

Chi Omega Coeds Tell Betrothals

Miss Teeson Reveals Troth

Revealed Wednesday night was the engagement of Miss Stella Pearl Teeson, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Teeson and the late Mr. Teeson, to Gordon L. Littlejohns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Littlejohns, all of Salem. The wedding is planned to take place in the fall.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Salem high school and is now teaching violin in Salem, Albany and Corvallis. Her fiancé attended Portland schools and during the war served with the army air corps for three years. He is now attending the Merritt Davis School of Commerce.

The news was first told at a family dinner at the Teeson home. The dinner table was centered with a ribbon filled May basket with flowers extending to each place and tied to scrolls bearing the names of the engaged duo. The engagement was also announced Wednesday night at the mother-daughter banquet at the Knight Memorial church when a box of candy was passed.

At the dinner covers were placed for Miss Teeson, Mr. Littlejohns, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Littlejohns, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Watenpaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Watenpaugh, Mrs. A. E. Watenpaugh, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Blackerby and Mrs. Teeson. Sunday afternoon Miss Teeson and her fiancé will be honored at an at home at the Teeson residence with invitations extended to two hundred Salem and out-of-town friends to call between 2 and 5 o'clock.

Clean Little Ears

Daily Bath for Baby, and for Junior Mean Cleanliness Through Whole Life

The little boy who hates to wash behind his ears is out of fashion — gone by the board — extinct. This is only if his parents train him right, a conclusion arrived at by certain soap psychologists who find a remedy for everything, providing their product is used. But some of the ideas are sound. The daily bath habit, begun when an infant, and practiced through early youth, will produce a generation of lovers of cleanliness. Bathing, they say, should always be a pleasant occasion, as far removed from hurry and interruption as possible.

Regular tubbing for infants promotes not only cleanliness of the child, but gives the mother an opportunity to keep close check on the physical condition of the baby. Furthermore, the child gains a sense of security from gentle purposeful hands of the parent, and as most babies eat immediately after the bath, they are in a relaxed and contented state at mealtime. This condition of course promotes good appetites and digestion.

Parents of young children, if time permits, count bathing as among the happiest moments for them, as it provides a few moments when they can watch the child in perfect content.

While I believe there is always a dark period in every child's life, when the area behind the ears is something to be shunned, no matter how great the agreement to cleanliness of other parts of the anatomy. Still, regular bathing habits are bound to shorten that period.

Regular tubbing with lots of hot water, a cheerful room and encouragement to relax most naturally promote good bathing habits in a youngster of pre-school and school age. And, to give credit to the soap company which so generously inspired this story, to provide a floating soap, which adds

Birthday Parties

Several members of the very young set are celebrating their birthdays this week. Christine Drye, daughter of the Verion Dryes, will celebrate her fifth birthday at a party Friday afternoon at the Drye home on West Rural street. Games will be in play with birthday cake and refreshments following.
