No Time to Eat

Gardening, Nice Evenings Cuts in on Eating Time; Menus Must Be Simple

By Maxine Buren
Statesman Women's Editor

This nice weather, and especially if daylight saving comes in, is going to be pretty good for our figures. The "our" refers to the figures of those men and women who want to spend every daylight hour after work in the garden.

This means that taking time off for dinner is considered a waste of time and therefore meals are made up of less filling and less longer-to-prepare foods.

We working men and women who find outdoor work so desirable either put off eating until after dark or eat a bite of salad and other cold food.

Eating out in the garden, where one can look at his handiwork helps a little though.

A meal in a skillet is one speedy way for mom to work in the garden up to the last minute, get dinner and then dash out and fill the remaining time of daylight in the out-of-doors.

For six servings, here's:

MEAL IN A SKILLET
1 pound ground beef
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup whole kernel corn
1 cup sliced onions
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup whole tomatoes, cooked
1 cup tomato juice
Combine ground beef, soft bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, and pepper. Fry in heavy skillet, stirring frequently until well browned. Cover ground beef with corn and onions. Sprinkle 1/2 teaspoon salt over onions. Next add whole tomatoes. Do not stir mixture but leave vegetables in layers over meat. Add tomato juice, cover and simmer 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender.

This means that there's but one tin to wash, and if plates are served in the kitchen, the minimum of dishes are soiled.

Frankfurters are recommended meats for summer cooking, for it's only a matter of heating them through.

Here's a recipe for using the frankfurters, which may be gotten ready all but the cooking. In the morning, with a salad this can be the main course and can be cooked in or out doors.

BROILED FRANKS
1 pound package frank
3/4 cup finely chopped onion
8 slices bacon (about 1/2 pound)
Slice frank to make long pocket. Fill each frank with onion. Wrap bacon around frank, spiral fashion. Fasten each end with tooth-
