Governors of New York, Texas and Hawaii and U. S. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon were among those telegraphing Gov. John H. Hall Tuesday to offer aid in connection with the Oregon flood.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who recently spent more than two weeks in Oregon in the interest of his campaign for president, wired:

"The great suffering brought upon the people of the flooded areas of Oregon by the rising waters of the rivers of the northwest is touching each and every one of us deeply. The people of New York state stand ready to offer every assistance possible and to that end I am prepared to send you immediately, through the agency of the American Red Cross, a corps of sanitary engineers, public health nurses, epidemiologists and all other technical assistance at your command."

Morse Telegraphs
Senator Morse telegraphed: "Have been close in touch with White House, federal works agency and Red Cross relative to disaster area and am advised that everything possible is being done. Expect to get full report from Red Cross later Tuesday. Shall appreciate getting as many details as possible from you to help me in introduction of legislation to make funds available to carry out president's emergency order."

Gov. Beauford H. Jester, Texas, wired: "I extend the profound sympathy of the state of Texas to the people of Vanport and other communities afflicted by the flood. Please command any assistance we can give you."

Hawaii Wires
Oren E. Long, acting governor of Hawaii, wired: "The people of Hawaii are distressed by the flood disaster in the northwest and extend sympathy to their fellow Americans who have suffered loss of life and property. I have appointed a committee to consider ways of extending aid that is not available through established relief organizations. We have planned tentatively through school children and other residents to raise funds to replace books destroyed in the public and private schools of area affected. Please advise of other ways we might assist."

Lewis Fights T-H Injunction; Verdict Today

WASHINGTON, June 1—(AP)—Fighting to avoid another injunction, John L. Lewis told a federal court today he can't legally be compelled to dick with the Southern Coal Operators association.

He asked dismissal of a government motion to force the United Mine Workers to bargain with the association on a soft coal contract. The case is before Judge T. Alan Goldsborough who twice has heavily fined the UMW chief and his union when they failed to move promptly to obey his orders. He is expected to rule tomorrow on Lewis' motion to dismiss the injunction request.

The government went into court again on the heels of collapse of bargaining sessions on a contract between UMW and operators to replace the present one expiring June 30. The talks failed when Lewis refused to have anything to do with the Southern association. He told the court the association was formed to obstruct true collective bargaining.

Lewis is charged before the national labor relations board with Taft-Hartley law unfair labor practice by refusing to bargain.

Venezuelan Credited with 'Voice' Script

WASHINGTON, June 1—(AP)—A writer of the radio stories about America that made congress-hopping mad said today that National Broadcasting company officials compelled him to put "cheap comedy" into them.

The writer, Rene Borgia, 52-year-old Venezuelan, told senate investigators that he wanted to turn out "beautiful" scripts but officials of NBC, which employed him, made him write the way they wanted under threat of discharge. His superiors, he observed, "lacked culture."

Borgia testified at an investigation of "Know North America" broadcasts which NBC beamed in Spanish last winter to Latin America under contract with the state department. He wrote many of the scripts for the series.

He has been in this country off and on since 1916. Borgia said, but hasn't asked for citizenship. He has been writer, translator and adapter of books and radio programs.

"Amazement" was expressed to reporters by two senators, Smith (R-NJ) and Ferguson (R-Mich), because Borgia was entrusted with the series. Smith said he couldn't understand how anyone could have thought a man of Borgia's background could have reflected what America is.

Hens, O'Sullivan Benefit as Solons Hold Bill-Passing Spree

WASHINGTON, June 1—(AP)—The senate went on a legislative binge today. In three hours it whipped through 52 bills that dealt with a little of everything, including the hen.

For among the bills passed was one telling the postmaster general to issue a three cent stamp honoring the poultry industry and the one billion hens in this country. The bill now goes to the house.

No general hen comment was immediately available.

But I quickly hunted up a hen I know, a buff Orpington named Gertrude, and her attitude may be typical.

"Good," said Gertrude. "This stamp is precisely what I have always wanted. In fact, you might say that I egged the senators on."

And she cackled like a mad, mad thing.

"Calendar Day" "Getting back to the senate, this was 'calendar day.'"

On calendar day, bills are brought up on which there is little disagreement. Each bill is called off by its title.

If no senator objects, it passes. If a senator does object, the bill is put back, to be considered another day.

Often after a bill has been objected to, another senator will become curious and ask for an explanation of what the bill is all about. He gets it.

This is sort of like a baseball player who strikes out turning to the crowd to explain how he would have darted around the bases—if only he had hit a home run.

Attitude Relaxed
In spite of the wholesale bill passing, the whole attitude is fairly relaxed.

For example, the senate was confronted with this question: Should the name of a dam in the Columbia basin be changed from Potholes dam to O'Sullivan? Senator McGrath (D-RI), grinning, jumped to his feet to ask: "Mr. President, may we have an explanation of this bill?" Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.),

Presbyterians Back Measure To Admit DPs

SEATTLE, June 1—(AP)—The general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U.S.A. approved today legislation to admit more displaced persons from Europe into the United States.

The highest national body of the northern church urged Presbyterians, if congress should admit more war refugees, to help the immigrants become economically and socially adjusted as Christian Americans.

The Rev. Dr. Harry T. Scherer of Webster Groves, Mo., chairman of the committee on national missions, told the delegates that church plans to spend $1,000,000 for new church development next year. He said it made 60 grants totaling $649,342 to help build churches during the past year.

Flood Affects Relatives of Silverton Folk

SILVERTON, June 1—That the Columbia basin flood is far reaching was brought home to Silverton today when Mrs. Lawrence Norton cabled her mother, Mrs. A. Honeyman in Prahran, Victoria, Australia, that while she and her husband lost all their material possessions, they and their two children were safe. Mrs. Norton, who is here with her husband's parents, the S. W. Nortons, since the flood, is a war bride and has been living in Vanport with her husband. She reports that her mother would be very worried as she reads everything that is printed about Vanport.

Mr. and Mrs. Verlin White are here with their son and daughter-in-law, the William Whites, following the flood from which they saved only their car and the clothing they were wearing.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Weatherill (Jean McClanathan) and a small daughter, Christie Anne, were visiting at Silverton with the parents of Weatherill and Mrs. Weatherill over the week end. Their Vanport home and belongings were all destroyed including heirloom silver pieces. Mrs. E. A. McClanathan had given her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Miller and two children, Vicky and Francis Joseph, were rescued from their Vanport home on North Victory Boulevard, escaping with only the clothing they were wearing.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Fellows (Delores Forland) and their son, Douglas, escaped by driving a car out on the first alarm. Mrs. Fellows is a daughter of Mrs. E. R. Ekman. Mrs. Ernest Mott and three children, Gary, Bobby and Janice, whose husband and father is on an Alaskan business tour, lost all of their belongings but were safe at the home of her family, the Carlos Hanks, in Silverton.

Safeway Trims It Before Weighing

We'll give you 2 T-Bone Steaks SO YOU SAVE MONEY

Wherever you buy meat you are entitled to money-savings that result from proper trimming of each cut before it is weighed. Insist that your butcher trim this way. If he refuses why not buy at a market where this kind of trimming is done?

YOU SEE ABOVE how Safeway removes excess waste, fat and bone from T-bone steaks before weighing. We prepare other cuts in similar fashion—each one according to its special requirements. This waste-free cutting is part of Safeway's Guaranteed Meats plan. We regularly trim our meats this way.

When you compare meat prices, remember that Safeway's prices always are on the TRIMMED cut, free of excess bone, waste and fat, ready for cooking.

If ever you're not satisfied that the meat you buy at Safeway is trimmed the money-saving way we say, just show it to the manager of the Safeway store where you bought it. If your Safeway T-bone steak (for example), is NOT trimmed as shown above—you get TWO T-bone steaks without a penny's extra cost (and without quibble or argument!).

Safeway buys nothing less than the top government grades of beef (all beef sold at Safeway is U.S. Government graded)... nothing less than the top grades of lamb, pork and veal.

Come prove for yourself—there's more good-eating at less cost in Guaranteed Meats from Safeway!
