Home Economist To Demonstrate

Martha Logan, nationally known home economist for Swift and company, will be the featured guest at the cooking school sponsored by the IGA stores Thursday and Friday, June 10 and 11 at 2:30 p.m., in the auditorium of the Portland Gas and Coke company, 109 S. Commercial street.

Miss Logan will show how to use a new type of shortening made from a bland lard and will feature meal planning. Such foods as a quick-mix cake, oven-fried chicken, and Martha Logan's famous ice cream pie will be prepared in addition to a home-made biscuit mix and pastry mix.

Recipe booklets and meal planning aids will be distributed. The public is invited to attend this cooking school for which there is no admission charge.

Camp Plans Are Outlined

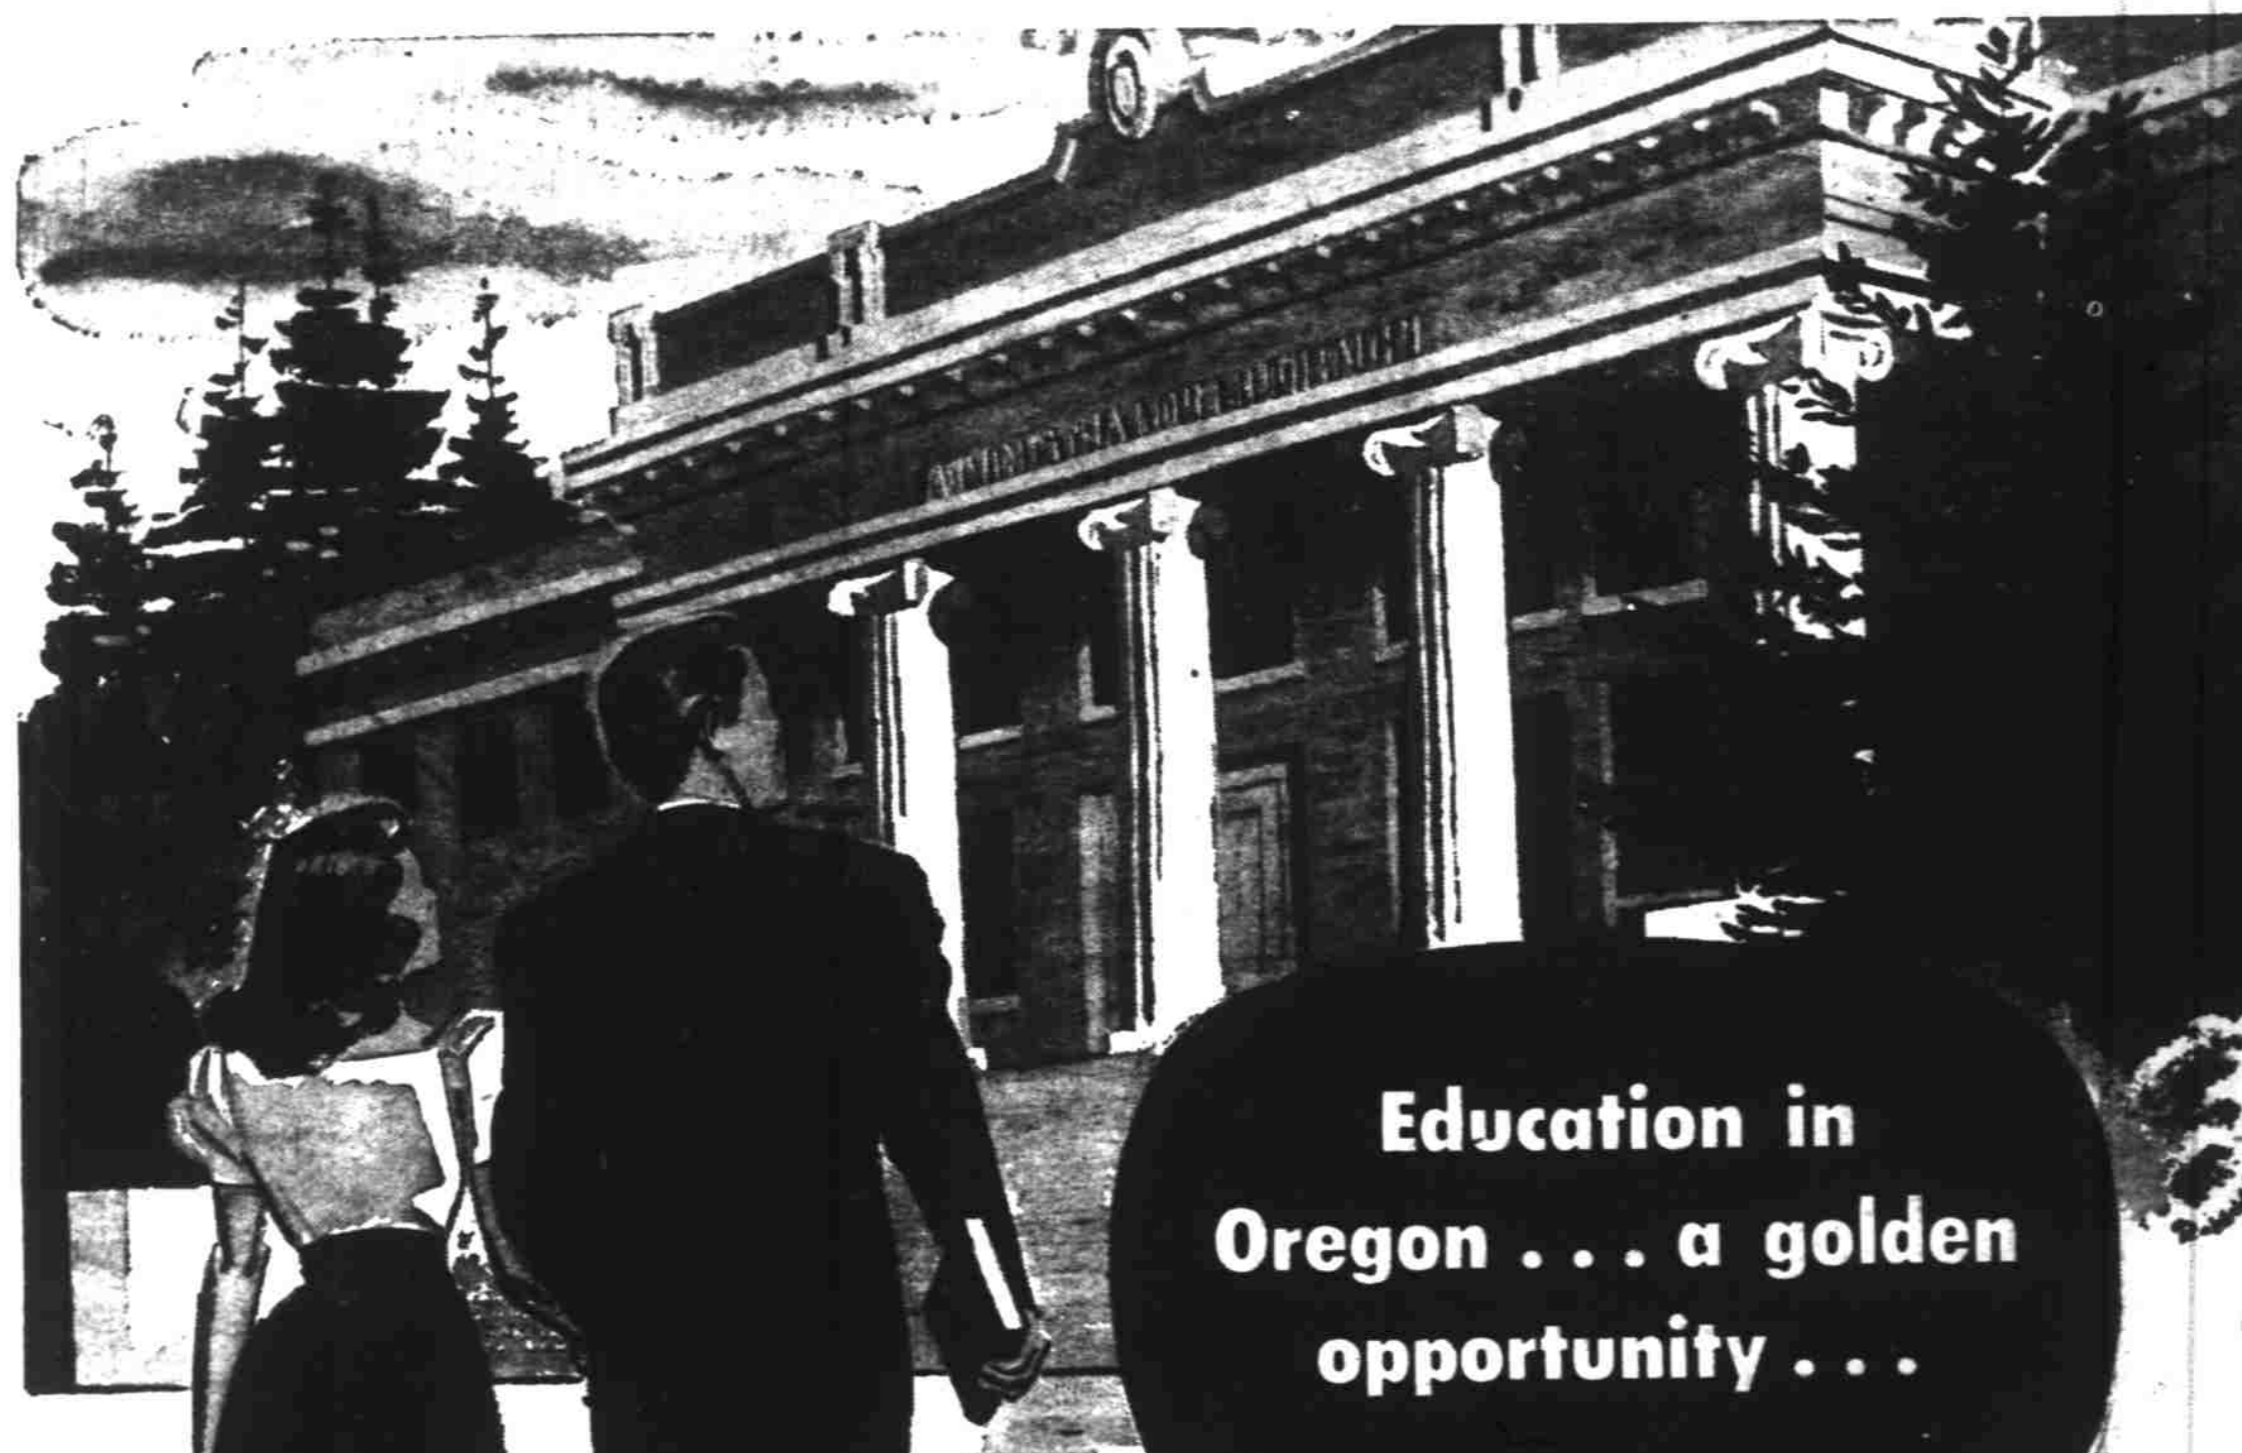

Cooking out of doors will have its appeal in more challenging and inviting ways than ever before in the new camp project at Crestwood Acres. This camp, sponsored by the YWCA, is located 9 miles north of Salem.

Registrations are still open for any grade and junior high school girl over eight years of age. In addition to five day periods throughout July, the camp committee is planning to have overnights for Y-Teen clubs. These latter are for any high school or junior high girl, and, although organized usually for only the winter months, these clubs will have an opportunity for sponsored overnights throughout the summer at Crestwood. Committees from each of these Y-Teen groups will plan ahead for menus, camp 'kapers' and camp program for each trip.

Cook outs will be geared to the background and experience of each group and those who have never had much outdoor cooking will learn stick cookery and simple one pot meals. Later, reflector oven baking and more elaborate menus will be planned. The camp is equipped with an outdoor fire circle and fire place, a large hamburger and hot cake grill and large wood range. A bean hole will be made by the campers for underground cooking. Such trips and experiences as vagabond trails, Dutch treat hikes, foot travelers' jaunts and lion hunts will be staged.

Some of the menus to be tried and tested by the campers this season will include gypsy stews, stews on the mountain, kabobs, pioneer dramatics, bread twists, bean-hole beans, mock angel food cake and imus.

Other campers will make and turn are doing their job of preparing our children for higher education. Though the state is fortunate in having so many schools of higher learning, it finds all of them jammed to capacity with eager young men and women, making further expansion necessary.

As this region grows, so grows PGE

Oregon's fine youth and the growing educational system by which they benefit are another reason why the state has a shining future. PGE is investing in this future with expanding facilities and service 180,000 customers in the Willamette Valley. PGE has already used $12,500,000 for this purpose since the war. This year it will expend $7,000,000 more.
