

Fire Departments Map Plans To Meet Emergency Disaster

Plans for cooperation in the event of emergency disaster in Marion county, with community organization centered in the fire departments, were outlined at the meeting of the Marion County Firemen's association at a meeting at the Salem central fire station.

Further organizational details were left to a committee headed by Chief W. P. Roble, Salem, and including Joe Berchtold, Mt. Angel; E. A. Ditter, Sublimity and C. F. Frind, Hubbard. Jack Hayes, coordinator of the Oregon state disaster council, was made a member of the committee.

Members agreed to inventory their departments and communities for equipment. Copies of the inventory are to be furnished each member of the association. All are to seek from their governing body approval of mutual agreements which would expedite exchange of equipment or personnel in emergencies.

Hayes led the discussion, outlining steps necessary as preparation for possible disaster. The meeting was arranged to implant plans made at recent Red Cross disaster working in Salem and "Vanport unexpectedly gave it point," Hayes said in opening the meeting.

Attending were Susan Faherty, executive secretary Marion county chapter of American Red Cross; Don Legg, state relations officer, American Red Cross; M. S. Gillson, A. F. Butcher, deputy state fire marshals; C. M. Charlton, captain Salem first aid car; W. R. Gould, W. C. Miller, chief and assistant chief, Four Corners; R. A. White, chief at Brooks; E. A. Ditter, Sublimity chief; Raymond Davis, Monitor chief; E. H. Rondeau, Gervais chief; A. F. Hurst, Aurora chief; C. F. Frind, Hubbard chief; C. S. Kerr and Bernard Brentano, chief and assistant chief, St. Paul; Arlo T. Mill City chief; Joseph J. Berchtold, Mt. Angel chief; W. P. Roble, Salem chief. Berchtold acted as chairman.

Farewell Sermon Set for Saturday at Adventist Church

Farewell sermon by Elder Alfred R. Ogden, who is returning to pastoral work in Panama City, will be preached Saturday at 11 a. m. at Salem Seventh Day Adventist church. Ogden, who has acted as senior pastor here for the past six months, will be succeeded early in July by Elder A. J. Gordon of Birmingham.

Ogden served as a missionary in the West Indies and Panama for 20 years before coming to Salem, out of his ministry of more than 50 years.

Robert C. Skinner is serving as associate pastor.

Fine Levied After Accident Injury

Larry VanVliet, 1865 N. Commercial st., was fined a total of $20 in municipal court Monday on charges of failure to yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian and driving an auto with defective brakes.

VanVliet was arrested at Ferry and South Liberty streets by city police Saturday night after his car struck Mrs. Maxine Bonewell, 1230 N. Liberty st., breaking her collarbone, police said. Mrs. Bonewell is in Salem Memorial hospital.

Erma Weir, Oregon State college physical education department, is the new president of the Oregon Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. It was announced Monday.

Marjorie Herr, Albany high school, was elected secretary, and Paul Johnston, Springfield high school, treasurer.

Sports Shorts OUT OF THE PAST...

1923—M. Y. vs. M. Y. New York met New York for the third consecutive season. The Americans won the series four out of six games.

1928—REAINED & RELINQUISHED: Gene Tunney regained the light-heavy title by outpointing Harry Greb in a 15 round match. Relinquished the title to enter heavy ranks.

1928—NEARLY PERFECT: Netro Dame, with its famed Four Horsemen, won nine, lost one for a nearly-perfect season.

1928—SHORT 'N' SWEET: Tony Cannoneri won (from Benny Bass) and lost (to Andre Routis) the featherweight title in six months.

1928—ALL-AMERICAN: Alfred James of the U. of W. was named on the All-American Basketball Team.

1923—POP FOSTER'S BOY: Jimmie McLinn, the Vancouver, B. C., prize, Kool Young Carbert III in one round to win the water title of Los Angeles.

NEAR-TOP & BOTTOM: Portland finished second (105 W; 77 L).

Bills Specify Regulations For Solicitors

(Story also on page 1) Greatly increased regulation of peddlers, solicitors and canvassers would be afforded by two ordinance bills introduced in Salem city council Monday night by Alderman Howard Maple.

Applications for such business would require photographs, fingerprints, references and a Salem doctor's certificate of freedom from infectious diseases — to be followed by a police department investigation of the subject. A $1,000 bond would be required of non-resident representatives of out-of-state firms. The bills which would repeal ordinances passed June 21, 1939, would not apply to street newspaper vendors or to persons selling farm produce grown by themselves.

The council last night also: Denied to Herrall-Owens company a permit to install a large sign in a parking strip, recalling that the council was on record against such installations. Established 30-foot no-parking areas, to enable city buses to stop out of traffic, on the west side of Commercial street just north of Miller and Owens streets.

Postponed to next meeting action on the expiring civil service commission term of Arthur H. Moore.

Granted permits to hang six cross-street banners for the Oregon State Federation of Labor convention here.

Adopted a resolution to prohibit parking on the south side of Howard street between Church and Berry, to relieve traffic congestion.

Postponed to June 28 the third reading of an ordinance to give Oregon Electric railway a 10-year franchise on installations in the city.

Right to Legal Aid Upheld by Highest Court

WASHINGTON, June 14—(AP)—A prisoner who is incapable of defending himself "adequately" has an absolute right to the help of a lawyer in any kind of criminal case, the supreme court ruled today.

If that help is denied, it said, a conviction cannot stand up. The 5-4 decision made a broad extension of the court's previous rule that counsel must be provided in cases where the death penalty might be imposed.

It came in a ruling which set aside the conviction of Donald Wade, then 18, who was sentenced in Palm Beach (Fla.) county court in 1945 to serve five years for burglary.

The high court also refused a hearing to Kenneth Romney, former sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives, on his conviction of concealing a shortage in his accounts and upheld the constitutionality of the war contracts Renegotiation Act under which many millions of alleged excess profits have been recovered from war material producers.

Hop Prices Up; Crop Conditions Held Unfavorable

PORTLAND, June 14—(AP)—Hop prices increased today as unfavorable Willamette valley crop conditions were reported.

At least one sale was reported at 62 cents for dried hops with less than 6 per cent stems and leaves. The general market was 60 cents for 8 per cent hops. Some sales of 10 per cent hops at a penalty were reported.

Downy mildew damage was believed extensive in the valley because of the late, wet spring. Hard-hit was the Independence area.

Pin Removed, Baby All O.K.
