was independently strong in today's board of trade session. Some buying was traced to mills. Other buying was by shorts and by commercial houses against sales of cash wheat to the government.

In early trading the continued heavy movement of wheat in the southwest continued to attract attention, but there was no indication of heavy hedge selling.

At the close wheat was ¾ to 1½ higher than the previous close, July $2.28¼-%. Corn was ¾ to 1¼ lower, July $2.27%-3¼. Oats were ¾ to 1% lower, July 93½%, and soybeans were 2½ to 8 cents lower, July $4.07.

The Commodity Credit corporation reported purchase of 721,500 bushels of wheat during the Saturday-Monday buying hours.
