

Rites Read In Carrier Room

In a double ring ceremony Miss Jean Van Nortwick, daughter of Mrs. Rosie Stevens of Montana, and Fred Pfennig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Pfennig of Salem, exchanged marriage vows at 8 o'clock July 3 in the Carrier room of the First Methodist church. The Rev. Brooks Moore read the service in the presence of immediate members of the family and close friends. Tall baskets of blue and white canterbury bells and white madonna lilies formed the setting.

Miss Emma Pfennig, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Henry Pfennig, sister-in-law of the groom, both in identical blue dresses, lighted the tapers. Soloist was Mrs. Paul Kimmel, accompanied by Miss Virginia Benner.

The tall, blonde bride wore a deep pink gabardine suit made with a V neckline, draped pockets and a straight skirt. Her hat and accessories were gray and she carried a white orchid on a white ribbon. George Scheele, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. The honor attendant, Miss Ruth Rae, wore a beige suit with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Henry Pfennig was best man for his brother, Robert and Raymond Thies, twin brothers, were ushers. The reception immediately followed the ceremony. Mrs. Dan Hiller cut the wedding cake, Mrs. George Scheele served and Mrs. Robert E. Covert poured. All are aunts of the bride. Passing the guest book was Mrs. Isabel Schmidt, also an aunt of the bride, and Miss Karen Covert, a cousin, had charge of the gifts.

Maiden Lady Proves Expert on Every Household Subject; Advice Given

By Maxine Buren
Statesman Woman's Editor

Being a maiden lady, we're pretty well prepared to give unlimited advice, especially on raising children, keeping house and the proper training of a husband.

Some time this spring, a poll was taken by the Woman's Home Companion which revealed that the advice of 33 per cent of the married women asked, advised the young couple to "spend all the money you can lay your hands on and take a dream trip to remember all your lives." Nineteen per cent advised watching pennies because "marriage is no vacation." About 48 per cent suggested steering a middle course, to "have a good time but save enough for the gas bill as the shock of plunging from a luxurious hotel to a dishpan is too much to bear."

All agree however, that it's not the place but the man that counts. Most vehement recommendation of all, and it was unanimous, that getting away from family and friends is No. 1 "must."

And speaking of travel, one very important accomplishment of the air travel companies is that they have taught people to travel light. You have to fit it all into a suitcase.

Fitting everything into a basic color scheme is thought to be best system by some seasoned travelers. It's the odds and ends that take up suitcase room, such as shoes and other bulky items. You can get lots of dresses and other foldable things into a suitcase if not hampered by too many shoes. The expert gives such pointers for practical packable clothes as a soft hat with detachable feathers, and all-nylon underclothes for easy laundering and fast drying. She takes only one pair of snap-on shoulder pads that fit into all dresses.

She also does a few tricks that may help the novice traveler. She puts stockings and rolls of films in shoes, she fits camera and cosmetics in hats. Cosmetics are the panacea variety, which eliminates danger of spilling.
