

7-Man Board to Choose Albany Scout Chief

Gordon Gilmore, scout executive, in making announcement Friday of several personnel changes in the Cascade Area Boy Scout council, also announced a seven-man interim committee has been appointed to select candidates for the position of scout executive in Albany. This position is left vacant by the promotion of Harry Michelson, who goes to Lewiston, Idaho.

Howard Higby, upon his resignation from the city police department and the new Albany appointee will work with Jerry Scott, present field executive, in administering duties formerly performed by Scout Executive Michelson. Gilmore said the tremendous increase of the Cascade area's scout population prompted appointment of the additional field worker.

Commenting on Michelson's promotion Gilmore said "We are very sorry to lose Michelson. His outstanding work during the past 4 1/2 years brought about his promotion. Lewiston is getting a very able man."

Michelson, formerly a professional scout in Montana and Washington, came to Salem in 1944. He worked out of the Salem office until September of 1945 when he took charge of the Albany office.

Fine Background
"We are very fortunate to secure the services of an experienced scout leader like Higby," Gilmore commented. "With his fine background as juvenile officer and as a scout, he will be a great asset to this area."
Higby, a native of Denver, Colo., has been active in scout activities for more than 20 years. He came to Salem in 1941 and entered the navy a short time later, serving three years as a ship repairman in the Coral Sea area. Returning to Salem he worked as a penitentiary guard and Salem policeman before being assigned as juvenile officer in June 1946. He has been scoutmaster of Rotary troop 1 for two years.

Garden Club Holds No-Host Dinner Meeting

Members of the Salem Men's Garden club and their wives were entertained Thursday night at a no-host dinner and meeting in the home of L. L. Ferguson.
Following the dinner Glenn Wharton discussed "Landscaping with Native Shrubs." After an informal flower show Dr. Robert Gatzke spoke on "Landscaping with Rhododendrons." Dave Cameron was chairman for the program.

Truman Turtle Found at Capitol

With national politics recently played to Oregon settings, Capitol political observers here looked for significance in a Wednesday "discovery" on the statehouse lawn.
The "discovery": A land turtle with its shell lettered in yellow printing "Harry Truman."
Ownership of the turtle was not established.

Brun's Orchestra To Appear at Fair

Manager Leo Spitzbart announced here that negotiations have been completed for the appearance of George Brun's and his orchestra of Portland to appear during the Oregon state fair in Salem, Sept. 6 to 12.
The Brun's musical aggregation will play during the nightly state fair dances and also the musical revue which is staged earlier each fair night.

West Salem Sewer Project Authorized

WEST SALEM, July 9 - At a special city council meeting held here tonight G. R. Boatwright was authorized to go ahead with installation of one section of sewer on Murlark street.
The section authorized is to extend across Seventh street and a manhole is to be installed on the east side of Seventh street. Preliminary work by the state highway department recently has been in connection with the drainage problem on Seventh.

$500 HEIFER MISSING

Robert B. Sears, route 3, reported to state police Friday night that a registered polled heifer, valued at $500, was lost or stolen from his farm sometime Friday. The 13 months-old heifer has F-17 branded on each ear and has no horns the police report said.

Mrs. Craig, Salem Heights Teacher, Dies

Mrs. Grace A. Craig, 60, well known Salem school teacher and civic leader, died unexpectedly Thursday in a local hospital after a short illness.
Funeral services will be held from the Clough - Barrick chapel today at 1:30 p. m. and interment will be in the Belcrest Memorial park.
Mrs. Craig was born in Glencoe, Minn., in 1888, and was graduated from Stevens Seminary high school in that city. She was also a graduate of St. Cloud, Minn., Normal school and the Oregon College of Education at Monmouth.

Taught in Grants Pass
She came to Oregon in 1909, taking a teaching position in Grants Pass public schools where she remained for seven years. On June 27, 1917, in Waukegan, Ill., she was married to Dr. Don D. Craig who survives.
The Craigs moved to Salem in 1923 and have resided in Salem Heights at 3225 Liberty road since that time. During her 25 years in Salem Mrs. Craig taught for many years at the Auburn school and for the past several years at Salem Heights.

President of Group
A recognized leader, Mrs. Craig was a member of the Salem Heights Women's club, Salem Heights Community club as well as taking part in many civic activities. She was also past president of the PEP teachers club of Marion county.
Many young people, former pupils of Mrs. Craig's, have always remembered her with birthday and holiday greetings throughout the years. Friends, expressing sorrow at her passing, remarked that her greatest pleasure came from her work in the schoolroom where she took special pains to help backward children.

Surviving besides her husband, Dr. Craig, are a son, John S. Craig, and a grandson, John S. Craig, jr., both of Jefferson.

Style Show to Follow Coronation Of Salem's Cherryland Royalty

An advanced fall and late-summer style showing of women's and children's clothing will take place at the opening night of the Salem Cherryland festival, July 15, at the state fairgrounds.
The style show will be held immediately after coronation of the festival queen and just before a dance program by the Armstrong School of Dance pupils.

Sports, day and evening wear will be styled by local and professional models, according to Dave Holtzman, chairman of the fashion show. About 20 models will display the fashions on a ramp which is to project from the platform in front of the main grandstand almost to the grandstand seats.
Sixteen local stores are participating in the show and will display merchandise which will not be out until fall. Helen Chapin of New York City will make a special trip to Salem to be commentator and advisor for the show.

Professional models from Portland will supplement local models. Participating stores which will use Salem models include Leon's, Little French Shop, Moderne, Penney's, Roberts Brothers, Rohland's, Montgomery Ward and Miller's. Other stores planning to take part include Price's, Kay's, Fashionette, Smart Shop, Field's, Johnson's, LaChelle's and Wilner's.
Dances Scheduled
Approximately 170 children will take part in the dancing show which will complete the initial festival night entertainment. The young dancers range in ages from three and one-half to 17. They are all members of a school conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Armstrong of Salem.
The dances, slated to last 35 minutes, will be conducted to original songs composed by Mrs. Grace Brown of Salem, pianist for the dancers. Robert Shawhan of Hollywood, Calif., will be a featured singer on the program.
With the cherryland used as a main theme most of the dances will be conducted on that score and will include such numbers as "A Bowl of Cherries," "Cherries are Ripe" and a finale designed to show a ripening limb of cherries.

Prostitution Legal in Reno

RENO, Nev., July 9 - (AP) - Prostitution is legal again in Reno.
In 1942, under pressure of the military, the city adopted an ordinance forbidding prostitution.
Reno's "stockade" where from 20 to 30 girls were available 24 hours a day, was closed and was to remain closed "during the present war emergency."
Today State District Judge Merwyn Brown ruled that the emergency period is over. He reversed a lower court which had convicted a girl arrested July 4 and convicted of prostitution. The judge ruled that no public offense had been committed.
He said the president's proclamation of 1948 ended the war emergency period and held "the city council did not intend for the prohibition (of prostitution) to be permanent but only for the emergency period when army and navy personnel were in the area in large numbers."

Hop Growers Cross Fingers On Crop, Price

By Lillie L. Madson
Farm Editor, The Statesman
Hop growers are keeping their fingers crossed both as to crop and price, it was revealed Thursday. Strengthening markets and prices since the first of the month have been reported in the Willamette hop growing sections, but growers are none too happy because of the loss of potential crops.
Surveys made Thursday in the Independence district, as well as in other heavy hop growing areas, show that damage to hop vines from mildew is not negligible. A number of vines had to be removed early in the growing season because of the heavy infestation of the mildew. In other yards, portions of vines were removed.

Dusting Continued
However, favorable weather throughout the latter part of June has brought on the hop vines nicely and almost full recovery was expected until the rain set in early this week. Much dusting has been done in yards this spring, and quality and quantity of the crop will depend much upon the weather within the next three weeks, Independence growers said.
So far the loss sustained by growers whose vines have been attacked by downy mildew has not been offset by the gain in price noted this month.

Contracting Slow
Few contracts are being made now because of the dual situation which points to higher prices than those which were quoted around the first of the month. These were 5 to 10 cents higher than the 5-55 cents for which quite a number of Willamette valley growers contracted their 1948 hops earlier in the spring. Quotations Thursday stood around 62 cents.
The total United States stocks of hops in June, according to the federal agricultural department, were 38,800,000 pounds, some 6,290,000 pounds less than the March 1 total and compared with carryover holdings last September 1, the beginning of the current marketing year, of 23,770,000 pounds. In June, growers were listed as holding but 1,400,000 pounds, with brewers holding more than 34 million pounds and dealers the remaining two and a half million pounds.

INDUSTRIAL FATALITY
One fatality, 620 covered accidents, and 13 claims for occupational disease benefits—covering the week ended July 8—were reported to the state industrial accident commission here.

Blast Blamed On Gas Main
A ruptured gas main under a parked car owned by Mrs. Melvin Vejraska, Salem route 7, caused an unexpected explosion in the car's motor Friday afternoon at Chemeketa and Water streets, Salem, police report.
When Mrs. Vejraska returned to her car after parking at the corner earlier in the day, police said, she stepped on the starter. A spark evidently ignited the gas which had accumulated under the hood from the leaking gas main under her car. The front of the car was badly burnt, police said, but Mrs. Vejraska was not hurt. City firemen extinguished the blaze.

'Learn-to-Swim' Campaign Sets Plans for Record Registration

Registration cards will be given out beginning at 10 a.m. Monday for the American Red Cross sponsored learn-to-swim campaign at Olinger and Leslie swimming pools, Vernon Gilmore, recreation director announced Friday.
The cards are to be signed by parents and returned to the pools by boys and girls taking the classes Gilmore said. Over 650 signed for similar classes during last summer's park activities, he said, and he expects as many or more this year.

Already Mill City has indicated that it will send a busload of aspirants for the classes and Chemawa Indian school will also participate. Gilmore said that children under five years of age will not be accepted for the classes and that they are designed especially for all those who really want to learn to swim or swim better.

The Black Dragon group of the American Red Cross will assist with the campaign. At Leslie Pool, Cole Stevens and Wilfred Logan, both aquatic school men, will be in charge and at Olinger, Alvin Dahlen and Dan McCall, of aquatic schools, will handle the swim campaign. Assistants at the pools will be Hank Juran and Robert Medley, who have had life-saving experience in the navy and army, respectively.

The schedule for the campaign beginning Tuesday is: Boy beginners, 5 to 12 years old, 10 to 10:30 a.m. daily; girl beginners, 5 to 12 years, 10:30 to 11 a.m.; intermediate boys, 12 years and over, 11:30 to 12 noon; intermediate girls, 12 years and over, 12 to 12:30 p.m.; boys and girls swimmers, 12:30 to 1 p.m., and junior and senior life saving, 5 to 6 p.m. Schedules are to be adjusted as called for, Gilmore said.

Forty-Two Die In State Traffic During June
Forty-two persons lost their lives in Oregon traffic accidents during June to boost the mid-year toll to 186. Secretary of State Earl T. Newbry announced Friday.
The figures compare with 208 lives lost in the same period last year for an 11 per cent reduction in deaths. At the same time, automobile registrations were increased 10 per cent and mileage about seven per cent, Newbry averred.
Cities and towns accounted for 40 deaths in the six month period, the remainder being charged to smash-ups in rural areas. The four to one ratio between rural and urban fatalities is almost identical to that experienced throughout 1947, indicating speedy highway driving is still the major death-dealer.

1947 Fire Toll 61 in Oregon
Sixty-one persons lost their lives and 101 persons suffered injuries in 9,673 fires in Oregon during 1947, Seth Thompson, state fire marshal, reported to Governor John H. Hall here Friday.
The fire losses aggregated $8,634,923 which was approximately 62.74 per cent above the 10-year average. The number of fires was 27.25 per cent above the 10-year average.
Approximately 25 per cent of the fires resulted from matches of careless smokers. Three out of four fires occurred in dwellings.
