WELCOME HOME . . . for Josephine Albert Spaulding this week, who has been in New York City the past six weeks studying at the Juilliard School of Music. She is flying west and will be met in Seattle today by her husband, Bruce, and daughters, Joan and Doris Helen, who have been at Four Winds camp.

Expected home Wednesday from Indiana is Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, who went east in June . . . She visited her mother and attended the Pi Beta Phi convention at French Lick Springs and the Settlement School board meeting in Gatlinburg. Dr. Smith has been home by several weeks, but leaves again the end of August for Mackinac Island, Michigan, to preside at the national Beta Theta Pi convention . . . Their daughter, Margie, will return Aug. 11 from Four Winds camp. Other Salem girls attending the camp are Plum Brown and Pat Elstrom.

Planning to arrive Thursday will be Mrs. Ralph E. Purvine and children, Billy and Becky, who have been in Winona, Minn., with her parents, the Guy E. Raymonds, since mid-June . . .

VACATION TIME . . . Mrs. Stuart Lancelfield and children, Neil and Margaret, entrain today for Denver to spend the remainder of the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Roberts. Dr. Lancelfield will fly to Denver on August 15 and all will return after Labor day. . .

Mrs. Ralph Campbell is excited about leaving for Honolulu the end of September or early October. She will accompany Edith Schaeffer, who plans to take her car and remain in the islands indefinitely. Edith will take an apartment and Mrs. Campbell will remain with her until Christmas.

NEWCOMERS . . . welcomed in the capital are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Everett deWeese and children, Randolph, Laura and Harter, who recently came here from Portland . . . The deWeeses have purchased a home at 1675 Fir street and will move as soon as the remodeling is completed . . . Until then they are temporarily at the Royal Court apartments. Mr. deWeese has purchased the John A. Nathan company and has been here since spring, his family joining him the first of July . . .

Back in Portland again are the John Kellys (Lucile Brainard) and children, Jeff and Jill, who have been living in Bingen, Wash. . . They have purchased a new home in northeast Portland, John is in the lumber business . . .

BUILDING TIME . . . Seven Salem families are busy with plans for building summer homes up on the Santiam river at Elk Horn . . . The Guy Hickoks have already started construction and he plans to do most of the inside work himself . . . Others with plans to build soon are the Clyde Everetts, P. H. Schnells, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Klaus, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Post, the Russell Beutlers and Mr. and Mrs. C. Ronald Hudkins . . . A number of Portland families are also building in the mountains.

"The Wee House" . . . and it is really a dream house which Betty Woodard recently completed atop Fairmount Hill . . . an old garage at first, but now a darling house painted a soft pink with white trim and balcony, which she uses for a sun deck, edged with potted geraniums and petunias . . . white wrought iron furniture on the entrance porch . . . white ruffled organdy curtains at the windows . . . a large and small graded rug in the living room . . . lovely fireplace with attractive book shelves and over a mantle a picture of "The Wee House," 1948, which Mrs. Donald A. Young painted . . . a pile yellow kitchen and coats cleverly painted on her canisters and the board over her tubs . . . dainty blue bow knots on the knobs of her linen closet . . . and eventually pale blue-green shutters and a picket fence . . .

TEA TIME . . . on Friday when Mrs. Edgar Pierce and daughter, Barbara, entertained . . . the occasion to announce Barbara's troth to Peter Geiser . . . their wedding planned for the fall . . . The bride-elect chose a black shantung two-piece dress with pink and black polka dot tie at the neckline . . . her mother in grey with purple accessories . . .

The table . . . a lace cloth over powder blue satin and blue and pink hydrangeas in a silver bowl . . . at the base white ribbon to which were attached single hydrangea blossoms . . . A small group of the bride-elect's friends bidden with several from out-of-town.

GARDEN RECEPTION for Donna Lawrence and Dale Pence, who were married Saturday night . . . Just the newlyweds and their parents receiving . . . the bridesmaids and ushers mingling with the guests about the garden of the L. K. Lawrence home . . . The bride's table . . . a white organdy cloth over blue satin and at the back of the table lattice work adorned with blue hydrangeas . . . the cake decorated with tiny baskets in pink and blue and even satin handles which the bride's father had made . . . dozens of the young couple friends there to add to the gaiety of the occasion.

Festival Plans About Complete

HOOD RIVER, Ore.—The Hood River music festival, August 5 to 8 will be directed by Boris Sirpo, Portland, symphony conductor, whose idea it was to make the apple city become an American Salzburg each year. Five concerts are scheduled, four of which Sirpo will conduct. In five years of work at Hood River, Sirpo has built choruses and symphony orchestras which have gained national recognition.

The Alma Trio will open the festival, Thursday, August 5 at 8:30 p.m. Adolph Baller is the pianist; Roman Totenberg, violinist; and Gabor Bello, cellist.

Friday evening, the Portland Chamber orchestra will present a program featuring soprano Marina Koshetz, Boston symphony soloist, screen and radio star. Saturday evening the deeply significant symphonic psalm "King David" is offered with a cast of 600. Saturday afternoon the Hood River junior symphony and chorus will be presented.

The final concert, Sunday night, features Ezio Pinza, operatic basso, who will sing two groups of arias with the Hood River symphony orchestra. The program will be climaxed by presentation of "Finlandia" by Sibelius, in a special arrangement using a chorus. Many of the members of the chorus are Finnish, as is Mr. Sirpo.

The festival will be held outdoors in an "alpine" setting, in the athletic grounds of the high school, with Mt. Adams in the background. Reservations, tickets and information may be secured from festival headquarters, Box 35, Hood River.
