Herbs Will Be Feature Aug. 17

LEBANON—Industry continues unabated as members of the Lebanon Garden club make ready for their annual herb tea. The making of herb favors for each guest and the preparation for sale of corsages, lavender sticks and a number of herb products are keeping many hands busy as the tea date on August 17 draws near. The garden of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shimanek, 377 east Grant, will again provide the setting for the affair.

For the past 11 years Lebanon's herb tea has been an event of interest in northwest gardening circles. Other clubs have also adopted the idea of giving herb teas but none arrange them in quite the same way as does the Lebanon group. Most clubs brew their own herb tea, but the local group provides a variety of herbs and urns of boiling water, and guests are allowed to mix their own blends.

So many inquiries about herb recipes and uses came from clubs in Oregon and 22 other states, that in 1941, Mrs. Oliver Gunderson, then president of the Lebanon club, appointed a committee to compile a recipe book. Demand exceeded the supply and when a mention of the project was made in a national magazine, the flood of requests necessitated the printing of a second edition in 1944. During the first year of the tea, a charge was made for each cup, and later an admission charge was made, but this practice has been abandoned in favor of a silver offering.

The herb cottage, always an attractive exhibition at the tea, will be arranged again this year in the Shimanek's garden summer house.

A large attendance of the local gardening fraternity are planning to attend the tea, as well as visiting groups from many parts of the Willamette valley. Tea hours are from two to five in the afternoon. Featured for the program this year is Miss Arlie Seaman, Portland herb specialist.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Shepard will be Mr. and Mrs. William Mulligan of Portland, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Johnson, who recently returned from Nice, France, and their other daughter, Mary Mulligan of Portland. The Johnsons were married in Europe and this is their first visit home in three years, both having been studying in France following the war. Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander of Eugene will also visit at the home of her parents this weekend.
