Miss Stella Teeson a Bride

White and pink with a touch of blue were the colors selected by Miss Stella Pearl Teeson for her marriage Wednesday night to Gordon Littlejohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Littlejohn. The ceremony took place at the Knight Memorial church at 8 o'clock with the Rev. Louis White officiating.

The altar was banked with arrangements of pink and white gladioluses and lighting the candles were Miss Veina Davis and Mrs. Claire Woodcock, who wore pink and blue taffeta gowns. Ronald Craven was the soloist and Mrs. Lewis Mitchell the organist.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Teeson and the late Mr. Teeson, wore a white satin gown fashioned with fitted bodice enhanced with a net yoke embellished with a floral design of seed pearls. The sleeves were long and the skirt terminated in a train. An orange blossom coronet held her train length veil in place. The veil was edged in a rose pattern of lace. She carried a white prayer book marked with two lavender orchids with deep purple throats and streamers of stephanotis. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Jean Nieswander was the maid of honor and wore a pink net gown with ruffling edging the skirt and ruffled sleeves. Mrs. Jimmie Watenpaugh, the bridesmaid, wore a blue marquisette gown with shirred bodice and ruffled rosettes on the skirt. They carried nosegays of pink and white gladiolus blossoms.

Joseph Borsky stood with the groom as best man and ushers were Howard Work, George Soper, Neil McCloud and Jimmie Watenpaugh.

For her daughter's nuptials Mrs. Teeson selected a pastel blue crepe gown and Mrs. Littlejohn chose an aqua chiffon dress with black print. Their corsages were of pink and white gladioluses.

At the reception which followed in the fireplace room the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Alice Watenpaugh, cut the cake. Posturing Mrs. Pearl Blackberry and Mrs. Charles McCullah. Assisting were the Misses Beverly Boehm, Eva Pearsall, Donna Jefferson, Bonnie Daugherty, Marjorie Powell, Mrs. Joseph Borsky and Mrs. Lester Den Beste. A violin choir from the John Wallace Graham studio played during the reception hour.

The newlyweds have gone on a mountain trip and for going away the bride donned a mocha brown suit fashioned with short, fitted jacket, swirl skirt, dark brown half hat with veil and brown accessories. Mr. Littlejohn and his bride will live in West Salem at 224 1/2 McNary street.

A Luncheon Wednesday

Mrs. William E. Kirk and Mrs. Frank A. Elliott were hostesses for a smartly arranged one o'clock luncheon on Wednesday afternoon at the former's North Winter street home for a group of their friends.

Covers were placed for twenty-four and the individual tables were centered with low bowls of hollyhock blossoms. Bouquets of roses were arranged about the rooms. The afternoon hours were spent informally.

Simple Life

Grandmother's Existence Had Many a Compensation; She Was a Good Cook

Sometimes we wonder if grandmother, slaving over a hot stove and leading the simple life, wasn't pretty lucky after all.

Of course she probably had to carry in the firewood (judging from grandfather's descendants, who balk at bringing in a stick for the fireplace), but the crackling of a wood stove sounds cheerful of a morning. We know several women who claim their best baking has been done on the old wood range.

Though grandmother didn't have an electric refrigerator, her ice cream, made in the old turned freezer has no modern counterpart. Remember how luscious it was, made from the pure cream old Belle furnished, with just a little sugar and vanilla added.

Grandmother didn't have any ready-prepared pastry mix, but she could whip up a mean pie. Her buttermilk biscuits, her yeast bread and her buckwheat cakes had to be made from starch, but they were perfectly wonderful.

The housewife of a couple of generations ago swept with a broom, kept the house warm with the old heater in the livingroom and scrubbed the clothes with hands and a washboard, but the beds weren't any harder to make in those days.

Less thought was given to juveniles delinquency a few generations ago, styles remained the same long enough for women to wear out their clothes, the ladies found less in the world of politics to worry about.

But sometimes I think grandmother's gruff alone would compensate for all the comforts

Mrs. Jack Wright Crider, who was Betty Jeanne Baldwin, before her marriage on August 8 at the First Presbyterian church in Dallas. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Baldwin and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey L. Crider, all of Dallas. The couple will live in Dallas. (Jessen-Miller.)
