

Bishop Home Presented to Willamette U. as Memorial

This familiar Salem landmark, home of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bishop at 765 Court st., was this week presented to Willamette university by members of the Bishop family. It will be used for residence of the university president. (Photo by Don Dill, Statesman staff photographer.)

Home Given as Residence of WU President

Presentation of the C. P. Bishop home at 765 Court st. to Willamette university for a president's residence was announced Thursday.

The executive committee of Willamette's board of trustees disclosed that the large home across from Willson park had been presented by members of the Bishop family. The committee said the property will be known as "The C. P. and Fannie K. Bishop Home, Residence of the President of the University."

In establishing this permanent memorial to the late Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, Roy T. Bishop of Portland advised the board that an endowment fund had also been created to provide for improvements, repairs and maintenance of the property.

Specification Made
The terms of the gift specify that if, at any time, commercial developments should make the particular location of the present property unsuitable for the residence of the university president, the property could be disposed of and the proceeds invested in another presidential residence to bear the Bishop name as a memorial.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop were distinguished Salem citizens. Mr. Bishop was born in California, came to Oregon in 1855 and in 1876 married Fannie Kay, daughter of Thomas Kay, a textile manufacturer of Brownsville, Mr. Kay trained his children in the woolen mill operations, and his daughter Fannie became well versed in the process of manufacturing.

In Store Business
Following their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop went to Crawfordsville in 1878 and started a general store under the name of Glass and Bishop. From 1884 to 1889 Mr. Bishop had a clothing store in McMinnville. In 1889 the Bishops came to Salem and with Thomas Kay and S. Farrar organized the Thomas Kay Woolen Mill company. In 1891 Mr. Bishop bought the Thomas Kay Woolen Mill store, which in 1927 was renamed the Bishop Clothing and Woolen Mill store. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop were longtime benefactors of Willamette university. Mr. Bishop was, for many years a member and officer of the board of trustees of the university. He had the direct responsibility for the Booth loan fund for Willamette students. Mrs. Bishop was always interested in the activities of the campus and her home was open to campus organizations and became the setting for many university social events.

Mayors Invited To State Fair

Two hundred Oregon mayors Thursday were invited to attend the Oregon state fair September 9, the day on which they will be honored.

Fair Manager Leo Spitzbart also announced there won't be any flies at his fair. All restaurants and the livestock area will be sprayed with DDT.
