VACATION NOTES . . . Even though the summer is drawing to an end, travelers and early fall vacationists are still planning trips . . . others are returning home from extended sojourns . . . riving in the states Friday from the Hawaiian islands will be Suzanne Small . . . She has been in the islands since June vacationing with college friends . . . She is flying home and will be accompanying Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Van Natta and their children, Harriet, a Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority sister of Suzanne's, Bill and Bonny . . . The Van Nattas will fly on east to get a new car and then tour in the states for three months . . . Suzanne stayed with the Van Nattas most of the summer at their home at Kohala on the Island of Hawaii . . . Mrs. Brazier Small will fly south today to San Francisco to meet her daughter and will visit with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Smith in the bay city for a week.

Still traveling . . . and enjoying every minute of it are Mrs. Custer Ross and Mrs. G. L. Lewelling of Albany, who left here in March for China . . . After several months in Shanghai with Mrs. Ross' son and daughter-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. Douglas Ross, they went on to Hong Kong and Manila . . . they are now sight-seeing in Cebu and will return again to Manila before coming home sometime this fall or early winter . . .

In the states again . . . are Commander and Mrs. John Enyart (Ferol Flesher), who have been in China the past year and a half . . . he is a doctor in the navy and has been transferred to North Carolina, where he will be supervisor of a navy medical unit . . . On arriving in San Francisco the Enyarts phoned Salem to her parents, the Allen A. Fleshers, and to her brother and sister-in-law, the Guernsey Fleshers . . . but her parents had left on a cross-country trip for three months . . . and luckily they were able to locate them in Pasadena for a visit . . .

MOVING-BUILDING TIME . . . Incidentally the Guernsey Fleshers and their children plan to move in September to their newly purchased country place out Wallace road way in the Brush College district . . . John and Joy Johnson and Elizabeth Jane Johnson moved the past week to their new home on the corner of South 23rd and Trade streets . . . it is a white modern duplex and Joy has cleverly combined modern and period furnishings . . . Marjorie Ann Johnson came up from San Francisco to help her brother and sister move.

Norval and Roberta Edwards are building onto their State street house, nicely situated back on the creek . . . They are adding two bedrooms, a bath and double garage . . .

FOR A VISITOR . . . tea time on Tuesday when a group of friends called informally at the Charles A. Sprague home to greet their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wallace Sprague, here with her husband from East Orange, New Jersey . . . She wore a becoming red and white silk print dress . . . The Spragues return east today . . . Mary Lou to her teaching position at East Orange and Wallace to Washington, D. C., where he is doing special work . . .

The decor . . . the tea table arranged against the windows in the dining room and covered with an ice blue satin cloth . . . a glistening centerpiece of creamy pink gladioluses . . . pansies and other gladioluses bouquets about the rooms . . .

Among those present . . . Other visitors in town also calling . . . Just like old home week with so many greetings and hellos . . . Julia Johnson out from Chicago and looking smart in her black two-piece silk suit with swirl skirt . . . Up from California the Purvine sisters . . . Margaret and Helen (Mrs. Andrew H. Burnett) . . . the latter wearing a pretty white and black print, a lovely complement to her Santa Barbara sultan, which she acquires from golfing and watching her husband play tennis . . . Also in black, Mrs. Norman Nelson over from Lexington . . . and the Savage sisters, Mrs. Manfred Olson of Medford and Mrs. Wilson Stigmund of Astoria . . .

More of same . . . Mrs. William M. Smith chic in her almond brown wool princess style dress, accented at the hipline and worn with furs and a dark green hat . . . in black with a pink shorty coat and pink hat . . . Also choosing pink was Irene McLeod, who is excited about beginning her freshman year at Oregon . . .

WEDDING ECHOES . . . Helen Paulson and Leonard Rinsarson were a happy bridal couple at their wedding a week ago at the First Presbyterian church . . . They had smiles for everyone, which seemingly made the guests happy . . . Nearly every pew filled with many coming from out-of-town . . . Lifelong friends of the Paulsons, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Jarvis of Omaha, Nebraska, who had been visiting in LaGrande, stayed over just for the wedding, leaving for home that night . . . From Eugene came the C. E. Erdmans and the Lloyd Eppinbaughs, formerly of Salem . . . and the Borden F. Beckes were down from Portland . . . and Helen's grandparents came over from Corvallis for the rites . . .

Sentimental note . . . Helen wore the brocaded satin gown which her sister, Mrs. John F. Hayes (Irene Paulsen), had designed and made for her own wedding . . . Irene was her sister's honor matron and her little daughter Nancy, was flower girl . . . They were dressed identical in yellow eyelet frocks which Irene had made . . . and during the ceremony Nancy walked over and took hold of her mother's hand . . . Thelma Johnson, a Kappa Alpha Theta sorority sister of the bride, caught her bouquet . . .

This and that . . . also receiving much comment was little Stevie Paulson, son of the junior Oscar Paulson, who wore an eton velvet suit . . . only his eyes were on his father during the wedding, as he was one of the ushers . . . After the church reception a group of intimate friends and relatives gathered at the Paulson home . . . Before Len and Helen left on their trip they opened the many gifts which had arrived that day from out-of-town . . . They leave next week for Corvallis to continue with their studies at Oregon State . . .

Miss Mann Now Mrs. Breakey

All white garden flowers were used in decorating the First Congregational church Saturday night for the wedding of Miss Pearl Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mann of Sacramento, and Donald Ray Breakey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest W. Breakey. Gladioluses and asters were arranged at the altar and the pews were marked with clusters of flowers tied with white bows. Lighting the candles down the center aisle and at the altar were Miss Carolyn Davis and Miss Carroll Cram of Eugene, who wore white pique frocks.

It was at 8 o'clock that Dr. Raymond A. Withey, jr. performed the ceremony. Miss Vee Aldene Gould of Newberg and Ray Fedje sang and Joe Brazie was the organist. Preceding the bride to the altar were her Delta Gamma sorority sister, Miss Polly Pollock of Portland, the maid of honor, who wore pink lace over taffeta, and Miss Betty Breakey, the benedict's sister, who wore blue lace for her role as bridesmaid. Their frocks were made identical with fitted bodices, cap sleeves and full skirts. They wore flower wreaths in the back of their hair and carried bouquets of hydrangeas and lace to match their dresses which were tied with wide satin ribbon bows.

On the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride walked down the white carpeted aisle to meet her bridegroom. Her floor length gown was of white taffeta fashioned with an apron skirt which cascaded around in back to form a bustle. The cap sleeves and square neckline were edged in lace. Her fingertip length tulle veil fell from a lace heart shaped headdress centered with pearl orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white bouvardia and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Cousin Is Best Man . . . Stuart H. Compton stood with his cousin as best man and seating the guests were Norman C. Mann of Sacramento, the bride's brother, Richard Page and Alfred Fedje.

Mr. and Mrs. Mann came north for their daughter's nuptials and she wore an amethyst blue satin gown with grey hat and accessories. Her flowers were rose pink carnations. Mrs. Breakey attended her son's marriage in a royal blue gown with matching hat adorned with pink and pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink gardenias.

The newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception at the North

Summer street home of the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Compton. Pouring were Mrs. Stuart H. Compton and Mrs. Dewey Davis. Mrs. Dean Pollock of Portland cut the bride's cake. Assisting were Miss Dorothy Deal of Longview, Wash., Mrs. Paul Baer and Mrs. Robert Jaques. When the couple left on their wedding trip the bride donned a royal blue wool suit with buff hat and gloves and black accessories. Pinned to her suit was a white orchid. Mr. Breakey and his bride will be at home in Salem at 958 Belmont street.
