

Oregon GOP Reports Fund Contributors

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—Oregon's republicans have reported on campaign contributors and expenses up to September 10. Collections totaled $77,578 and expenditures $26,288, the state committee said. A long list of contributors was filed. Most of them gave small amounts.

The largest was $2,500 from Henry F. Cavell, Portland, S. J. Fleming, Portland, gave $1,000.

Contributors of $500 each were Carl Brandeliefs, St. Helens; C. W. Forrester, Coos Bay; Thomas Autzen, Portland; A. J. Chalmers, Portland; L. W. Hoffman, Portland; and Henry Nicolai, Portland. Robert E. Dent, Portland, was listed for $400.

Advertising was the largest expense. This included three payments of $5,532, $600 and $625 to George Murphy, Portland. The first amount was for billboard advertising.

Europe has a total population of about 500 million.

Planes Added To Force Due Over Salem

The air force will display a little of its winged power over Salem this week in observance of Air Force day with the announcement Wednesday by Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg that two A-26s, two B-25s and an F-61 will fly over the city.

The air force's new six-engine B-36 will fly over Salem Saturday at 3:09 p.m. Date and time for flight of the five other planes has not been determined.

Lt. Col. Donald L. Springer, fourth air force intelligence officer from Hamilton field, who was to have arrived for a Kiwanis luncheon speech Tuesday, was forced down at Medford by bad weather. He arrived in Salem Wednesday by bus and spoke briefly before members of the Rotary club and appeared on a radio program over KSLM Wednesday night.

Today the air force officer will give a short talk at the luncheon meeting of the Salem Lion's club and Friday will be one of the honor guests at the air force military ball. He will make his concluding Salem appearance as a guest on radio station KOCO Saturday at 12:45 p.m.

Walker McGinnis of Alhambra, Calif., visited the Leland Gramms last week and plans to visit nieces and nephews in Washington before returning for the winter in California and Yuma, Ariz.

Wheatland Ferry Back In Operation Wednesday

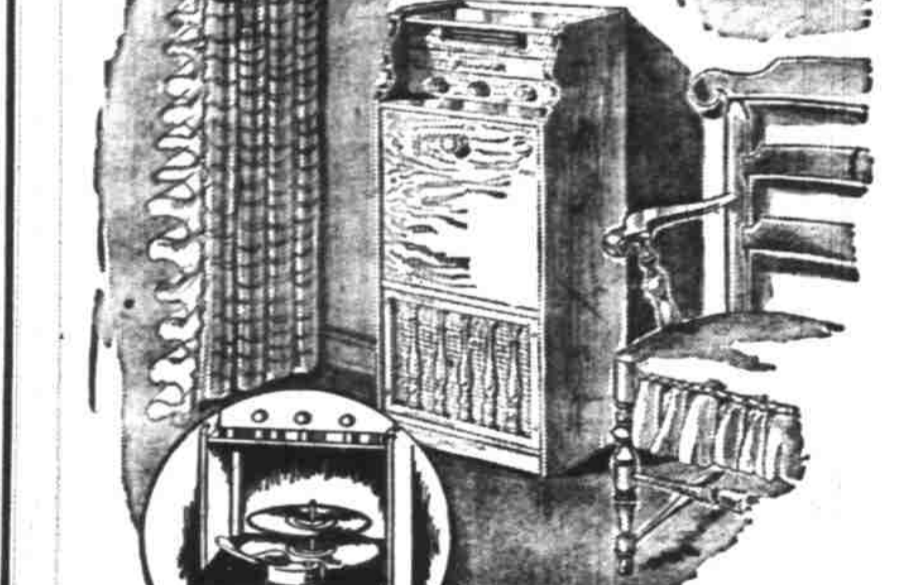

Wheatland ferry on the Willamette river was in operation again Wednesday after it was forced out of commission Tuesday afternoon.

A high wind tore off several lead wires causing an electrical short, according to Marion County Commissioner Ed Rogers.

AT DOOLITTLE MASTER SERVICE STATION

Just Arrived! A NEW Farnsworth PHONOGRAPH-RADIO

THIS compact, space-saving phonograph-radio offers full, undiminished tonal brilliance, wide-range standard broadcast reception. Incorporates Farnsworth's sensational new automatic intermix record changer—the child-proof, easy-to-operate changer that handles up to 12 records, 10 and 12-inch intermixed. Colonial styling in mahogany, maple or walnut finishes. Ask to see Model K-262.

$20 down $2.50 weekly Other finishes slightly higher.

Another first for Farnsworth! At last, a phonograph-radio that is tailor-made for apartment dwellers, camp or cottage vacationists, game room enthusiasts. Wherever space limitations are a problem—wherever you need that dependable, economical "extra" set, this amazing new Farnsworth is the answer.

Imagine a phonograph-radio so compact that it requires just slightly more than one foot wall space, but that offers the tonal beauty usually associated with a much larger console—an instrument that incorporates the revolutionary new Farnsworth drop-type intermix record changer. So simple that even a child can operate it, this changer is completely controlled by a single push button.

See these—and the many other equally outstanding Farnsworth features—today. You'll be amazed that any phonograph radio can offer so much at such an economical cost.
