Bids on U. of O. Student Union Top Estimates

PORTLAND, Sept. 15—(AP)—Construction of the Erb Memorial union building at the University of Oregon may be delayed. This possibility arose yesterday as the state board of higher education opened bids on the proposed building and found all higher than expected.

The board called a special meeting, however, to consider action on the bids. The meeting will be at Corvallis Saturday, after university officials have had a chance to consider possible financing for the higher bids.

The board accepted bids on two other projects. Henry Mason Co., Portland was awarded a $26,996 contract to construct an isotopic laboratory at the university-medical school in Portland. The Urban Plumbing and Heating Co., Portland, won a $12,900 mechanical contract on the job.

The McCormack Construction company, Pendleton, won the other project with a $12,554 bid on construction of a combined shop and warehouse at Eastern Oregon College of Education at LaGrande.

The dahlia was named after Andreas Dahl, Swedish botanist.

Chemists Find New Vitamin

PORTLAND, Sept. 15—(AP)—A newly found vitamin which may be useful in preserving foods and beverages was reported this week to the American Chemical society.

This new substance, vitamin K-5, when added in microscopic amounts to food and drink, blocks the fermentation of sugars and prevents the growth of certain molds and fungi, said its developers, Dr. Robertson Pratt and a group of colleagues from the University of California college of pharmacy.

The primary function of the K vitamins is to prevent hemorrhage. K-5 is one of this group. In relatively large amounts it can cause toxic reactions. However, the concentration needed to preserve food is well below the toxic level and within the limits permitted by the U. S. food and drug administration, said the sponsors.

SAVING CENTER MEAT DEPARTMENT MAKES CHANGE

M. R. Van Zanten takes leases on the meat concessions in the two Saving Center Stores. One in West Salem and the other on the Pacific Highway north. That's Van on the left and B. K. ("Mutt") Walker on the right. The new meat display case is the new addition to the West Salem store, a similar case is being installed in the Pacific Highway store.

"Van" has been in the meat and grocery business for 7 years, and "Mutt" Walker started out here in Salem for Ennis D. Watt on Front Street in 1929. Since then Mr. Walker has been the sausage maker and the curing and smoking man for Christenson Meat Company, Tillamook; Del Monte Meat Company, Portland; Portland Provision; 3½ years in the U. S. Navy; Midget Market, Salem; and his own market at Henry's on 12th street. He will manage both stores' meat departments for Mr. Van Zanten.

The reputation that "Van" and "Mutt" have for selling fine meats will continue here, and they urge you to make the Saving Center Stores your meat buying center also.

The self-service at both stores will continue as before, open from 9 A. M. until 10 P. M., except holidays. The new cases, with personalized sale service, will be open from 9 A. M. until 7 P. M., Sunday through Thursday, and open from 9 A. M. until 10 P. M. on Fridays and Saturdays. Patronize the Saving Center Market nearest to your home, both stores will feature the same quality meat cleanly handled, nicely displayed.
