Grain Market In Selling Mood

CHICAGO, Sept. 25 (AP)—Grains were under selling pressure during today's session of the Board of Trade. Lack of commercial interest in wheat combined with a lower cash corn market to furnish incentive for selling. The market opened easy and rallies were not sustained. As the day progressed prices drifted lower and at the close wheat was 1/2c to 2 1/4c lower than the previous finish, December $2.23-2.23 1/4. Corn was 2 1/4c to 2 1/2c lower, December $1.37 1/2-1.37 3/4. Oats were 3/4c to 1/2c lower, December 72 1/2c. Rye was 1c to 2 1/2c lower, December $1.57 1/2. Soybeans were 7 1/2c to 9c lower, November $2.23-2.32. There was some sympathetic selling in wheat as corn declined on reports of a cash market 5c to 10c a bushel lower. Bookings were placed around 20,000 bushels, with about 20,000 bushels of that amount new crop corn.

WILL THERE BE A SERIOUS GASOLINE SHORTAGE

A Report From the Oil Companies On the Gasoline Picture Today

Even if the strike of the OWIU-CIO continues -- and we sincerely hope it won't -- there should be no general shortage of gasoline on the Coast. Here are the reasons:

Refinery Production Still Increasing - Now 3/4 of Normal Gasoline is being manufactured by the Coast' refineries at a rate nearly three-quarters of that before the strike. More gasoline was produced last week than the week before. Production has steadily increased since the refineries got back into operation after the strike started. More and more workers are returning to their jobs, and it looks as if this rate of production will increase. Shortages Have Been "Spot Shortages" Here and there on the coast there have been some temporary shortages of gasoline in some stations. Usually because of delivery problems. But these have been cleared up as they came along. Practically always in a few hours. There probably will be more spot shortages. But we don't expect them to be serious or to last very long. One Gasoline Grade Still Being Produced To squeeze the top production from refineries, we're making just one grade of gasoline. You may not find all the special grades in your station. That's because total production is greater if we concentrate on "regular." And total production is what you want as a consumer. And what we want as producer interested in needs of the communities we serve.

Continued Public Cooperation Appreciated Apparently gasoline users have realized that there probably will be plenty of gas to go around. Consequently there have been no serious "runs" on filling stations. We know that all gasoline users appreciate this voluntary cooperation. We certainly do. The gasoline picture isn't bad. But it still isn't perfect. With deliveries to filling stations running some three-fourths of normal, there is an obvious need to cut down on driving where possible without hardship. If each one of us will continue to conserve gasoline, use it only when really necessary, we'll all be able to drive when we need to.

The Oil Strike Can Be Settled Fairly to All Concerned

Offer More Than Meets Cost of Living Rise The individual companies, recognizing that there has been a cost of living increase in recent months, offered the OWIU-CIO an increase of 12 1/2 cents an hour -- a full dollar a day. Retroactive to July 3. The offer more than makes up for increased living costs. According to latest government figures, the cost of living is up 73% since 1941. The wage schedule we offered is actually up 83% above 1941 rates. The total wage increase since the war, including the latest we offered, would amount to an increase of $5.22 a day. This is equivalent to increases accepted by the same oil workers union in other parts of the country. Each company sincerely hopes this strike can be settled fairly. Fairly to our employees and to our customers. The oil companies have always worked conscientiously and bargained in good faith with OWIU-CIO.
