ness has brought Jim to Salem as another of its many new residents.

This isn't meant to be a history on our new native. But there is a snappy yarn in which the gent is involved, as told by Jack Witleague seasons, a group of the big by a one-up count on the 19th hole. show stars, including Mosolf, Wilson and Boston Red Sox Outfielder-slugger Roy Johnson, were barnstorming across the country. They booked a game in Tacoma and, as he had begged and pleaded with all hands en route, Outfielder Johnson was to pitch against Mosolf and the National leaguers. Now it has always been the ambition of every infielder or outfielder to one day take the mound. diamonds in the rough, so to speak. So that day in Tacoma was Johnson's, as a hurler.

Roy made 12 pitches to start with and had the bases loaded. He had walked the first three batters without once getting over a Friday night in the 13-7 loss to Up 'came Mosolf. He Central Washington. Also, Lillie bopped Johnson's first serve, for intends spending much time in a grand-slam home run. Upon tutoring the Bearcat ends, as they which Johnson was shorn of both appeared to be the weakest parts his toe plate and desire to climb of the Willamette defense against the little hill in the middle of the Centrals.

He wrote a column, two other stories, made up the page and took over in general. And as would be expected, the total effort was A-1-particularly his cracks concerning his own Pittsburgh Pirates and Bob Hope's Cleveland Indians. . . . From the looks of their roster the OSC Rooks speared the cream of the 1947 prep players around the state. But not all of it, after peeping at a similar roster coming in from Eugene. The Duck yearlings, under Bill Bowerman this year, will have such prominents as End Chuck Bufaro of Portland's Commerce Hi, Fullback Chuck Missfeldt of Milwaukie, Scatback Tommy Edwards of Klamath Falls, Halfback Emile Holeman of Pendleton and even more interesting, Tackle Bob Craig of Salem and Halfback Bob Funk of Salem Academy. Also noted in the lineup are the names of a dozen or more sharpies from such whisle stops as Los Angeles and San Francisco. . . .

Coe on Record Busting

Joel Coe, a bearcat on everything bowling when it concerns doings at Capitol alleys, asks that we help in answering a number of questions that has hit the ten-pin drome since Erc Kay unbuttoned his 287 game the other night. The big question has been: Is that the best that has ever been rolled here? To which the statisticallyminded Coe answers an emphatic "no." Sure, there have been those who have topped Kay's mark considerably, with as much as '300" perfect scores. But only two bowlers have ever beat it in league play, the play that counts. Back in 1939 one Ken Wolf uncorked a 289 which still stands high for league competition (Wolf had a scant 150 average at the time, incidentally). And Ed McClusky, one of the Capitol vets, has a 288 to his credit.

UO Favored—It Sez Here

The U of Michigan athletic news bureau has been kind enough to supply us for weeks with football infor on the Wolverines, most of which concerns how downright feared same Wolverines are of their chances to beat Oregon Saturday at Ann Arbor. Which is or isn't so much hooey. After last week's Webfoot scare at Stanford, Wolverine confidence should be at a new high for 1948. At any rate, one item noted in particular in the releases is the fact only the 11th coach the Michigans have had since 'way back in 1870.

champ Frank Stojack and his coveted belt tonight in the top feature of Matchmaker Elton Owen's weekly mat party, and this time the sensational Frenchie won't be stymied by a grappling rule if he happens to spill the former WSC grid All-American again.

The local commission has ordered the rematch after last week's weird but bristling brawl, in which LaBell won the only fall in a hour but still didn't get the belt. One must stomp a champion twice within the ring before he takes over his belt. So tonight there will be no time limit and the match will be a 2-of-3 faller. The first prelim, opening the show at 8:30 o'- clock, puts Baldy Knox and his roughte-toughte stuff with Canadian Herb Parks, the punishing and perpetual motionish operator who hasn't been in the local ring in months. The No. 2 tilt sends popular little Tex Hager against the colorful Gypsy Joe. Both appetizers lean to the exceptional side. Because of an injury to Elton Owen, the refereeing will be done by Mike Casey.
