MILLIONTH Postwar telephone added

How we've put in telephones almost three times as fast as ever before in the West

1. Here is Ashley Stone of Sacramento, California, whose daddy and mother got the millionth telephone we've added since V-J Day. To make this gain, we've actually had to install three million telephones...for many of our customers have moved their homes and businesses. Telephones we serve are now at an all-time high...over 3,630,000.

2. We've literally built a city spread over the West... hundreds of new buildings and major additions. New wire has been strung...new cables laid...an astounding total of three million miles. And we're rushing still more construction—half a million dollars worth, every day—to meet the public demand for service.

3. An amazing amount of new equipment of all kinds has gone to work. We've filled three times as many orders as were waiting on V-J Day. To add these million telephones, we had to get $400,000,000 of new money from investors. Orders still pour in, and our job is not yet done. But we're working at it mighty hard.

4. Millions of new working dollars...needed to extend and improve service must come, not from telephone bills, but from thousands of people who put their savings to work in the telephone business. To attract these working dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use. This depends on the sale of our services at fair and adequate prices.
