IWA to Take Over Assets of Canada Locals

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 12. - (AP) - Delegates to the CIO International Woodworkers convention rammed through resolutions today directing officers to take over the assets and affairs of the British Columbia locals.

The moves were initiated by delegates from British Columbia under special floor privilege and were aimed at snuffing out a revolt by some Canadian union members from the parent organization.

A special investigating committee reported that around $153,000 of funds of the British Columbia district No. 1 council have not been properly accounted for. The report said a complete audit may reveal as much as $250,000 is missing.

One of the resolutions criticized Harold Fritchett, a former IWA International president, E. E. Dalskog, one time executive board member, and about 40 others for voting to disaffiliate from the international. It directed the international officers to assist in recovery of union property and protect the rights of the Canadian workers under the contracts with employers. The convention called for a new election in the British Columbia council.

Board Calls for Parrish School Project Bids

By Winston H. Taylor
Staff Writer, The Statesman
Bids on construction of an addition to Parrish junior high school, one of the largest projects in the current Salem schools building program, will be opened November 23, the district school board decided Tuesday night.

The addition, for which $300,000 was tentatively earmarked in the $1,500,000 bond issue approved last spring, would be at the rear of the present building, on either side of the gymnasium-auditorium, which would become principally a cafeteria. New construction would include a physical education setup, auditorium and classrooms. It is hoped to have them ready for use next fall.

The board also perused preliminary plans for the proposed Capitola elementary school and discussed the question of number of classrooms to meet the needs of the rapidly growing population. Most of the pupils in the area, north and east of the state fairgrounds, are now transported to buildings in the city.

Population was found to be a problem also in the Pringle area, said to be now the only trouble spot in transportation. Whether to purchase a new bus or recondition one not now in use to handle an overload was left up to the transportation committee with power to act. Possibility of having a bus permanently in that area to haul elementary students was considered. Superintendent Frank B. Bennett said 104 pupils rode the single bus for a short distance at Pringle Tuesday morning. Another, he said, would enable a later pickup for pupils attending at Pringle and remove the overload from the bus bringing secondary and parochial students to the city.

Monday, February 14 was announced as a tentative date for a Salem teachers' workshop. It would follow the week end of a secondary teachers' workshop at Corvallis, in which Salem high school instructors are to participate.

Health Insurance Plan Grants Wigs To Bald Britishers

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., Oct. 12. - (AP) - An old woman who had been bald since she was six appealed to the government today for a new wig. She's going to get it too, under the tax-supported national health service.

S. W. Davis, regional officer of the pensions ministry, told the story today.

The woman wrote that "she bought a second hand wig many years ago, but that it's now worn out."

"We have replied by telling her that she can get a new wig through us if she goes to a hospital first to get the necessary certificate for the health service. She will be provided in fact, not with one but two wigs, as a wig occasionally has to be cleaned."

Court Upholds Dennis Conviction

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. - (AP) - The U.S. court of appeals upheld today the conviction of Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the communist party, for contempt of congress. The charge arose from his failure to answer a subpoena by the house un-American activities committee.

Dennis, formerly of Seattle, Wash., was convicted in U.S. district court here in July, 1947. He was sentenced to pay a $1,000 fine and spend a year in jail. He has been free since $10,000 bond while the appeal was pending.

De Armond to Serve as Draft Appeal Agent

Appointment of Robert W. De Armond, local attorney, as federal appeal agent to the Marion county selective service board, and Dr. Merle Brown, Salem physician, as board medical adviser, was announced Tuesday by board officials.

Meanwhile Mrs. Fern Beakey, board clerk, revealed that a number of men may face immediate induction as draft delinquents. This group is made up largely of men aged 18 to 26 who failed to register and those registrants who neglect to notify the board of change of address.

The board is empowered to classify delinquents as 1-A and eligible for immediate military service. Consideration will be shown those, however, who register voluntarily even though delinquent, board officials said.

Men May Appeal

All registrants are automatically classified as 1-A until the board receives proof that another classification is warranted. Any man, Mrs. Beakey emphasized, may appeal from any classification first to the board, secondly to the appeal agent (De Armond) and lastly to the president.

De Armond receives appeal notices in his Livesley building office, reviews them and advises the board accordingly. Dr. Brown will act in the capacity of advising the board as to medical qualifications of registrants. Such advice may spare the board and the registrant the time and effort of a physical examination in Portland.

Registration Continuing

Registering of all Marion county boys reaching their 18th birthday is continuing at the board headquarters in the Salem armory at the rate of about eight per day, Mrs. Beakey said. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The board expects to move its headquarters from the armory to 359 Court st. by next week, Mrs. Beakey declared.

Other appeal agents in addition to De Armond appointed for neighboring counties include: Benton, W. T. Duran, Rennie building, Corvallis; Linn, Courtney Jones, At Bakersfield, the sheriff's office reported an eight-car convoy of 36 workers enroute to a Shell company field were pelted with rocks.

No one was hurt as people scurried in every direction. "Well," said Dewey, watching it all from the back platform, "that's the first lunatic I've had for an engineer. He probably should be shot to spare, but we'll let him off this time since no one was hurt."
