MOTHERS DUOS...

Come the winter months and there is time for young mothers and children to enjoy quiet afternoons around the fireplace or in the den with their games and toys story telling at bedtime and exciting plans to be made for Christmas and Santa Claus and other holidays to come. We have pictured here today a group of mothers with their very young pre-school children.

Roland West, center circle, two-year son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland E. West, has a big hug for his mother. His recreation definitely goes indoors for the winter after a summer in the playgrounds and swimming pool at their country place east of Salem.

Jane Gail Sprague with her mother, Mrs. Arthur P. Sprague, upper right photo, Jane is a year and a half and their home is situated on Terrace Drive in Kingwood Heights. The Spragues, who have been here nearly two years, came north from California.

A frequent mother-daughter duo, upper left, are Mrs. Mary Thomas and five year old Susan Elizabeth. While mother works Susan attends kindergarten, but enjoy their evenings and weekends, and in the summer take vacation trips together.

Mrs. Kenneth H. York, lower right, and sixteen months old son, John Kenneth, who lives out on Glen Creek Drive. His father is law professor at Willamette university and next year there will be lots of activity outdoors at their country place.

Eighty Today...

The 80th birthday of Mrs. Carrie H. Beechler will be celebrated at an informal open house this afternoon when her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Garlen L.
