Bearcats, Linfield Clash Here Tonight

'Must Win' Over Inspired Enemy Faces Third Place Willamettes

In what could easily be a much more rip-snorting football game than comparative records of the two outfits indicate, Willamette's Bearcats take on the Linfield Wildcats tonight in their Northwest conference eight o'clocker on Sweetland field. It will be an out and out "must" game for Coach Jerry Lillie's Methodists, as they flunked to third place in the NW stand-ings after their 14-13 setback by Lewis & Clark last week .Another loss will take all hope for at least a share of the 1948 title from the

Now in full realization that the WU's are human after all, and can be knocked over in conference play, the Linfield team can be expected to cut loose from all angles in an effort to hang another loss on the locals. They came within a whisker of doing it last season in a 12-7 Willamette win at McMinnville, and most of the stalwarts who played in that game are back in the Wildcat lineup again.

Linfield hasn't won a conference game. But against Lewis & Clark the count was finally 20-19, and the L-C's had some rustling to do at the very end, Last week Whitman came from behind to beat Linfield 18-13, and both College of Idaho and Pacific had first-rate scraps to put up before they downed Coach Paul Durham's club.

So all evidence would point to a rough evening for Willamette. And especially so since three WU backs, Johnny Slanchik, Keith Sperry and Ray Osuna are likely to be sidelined with their leg in-juries. Slanchik's punting would be sorely missed.

Vikings Await Astoria Visit

Convinced they are to return to the victory column, Salem tinue to be the ace in the hole for high's football Vikings await the Coach Jim Aiken's team. Oregon's Saturday night visit of the As-Fishermen to Sweetland Kickoff for the annual scrap is 8 p.m. Saturday, and it will find Coach Loren Mort's locals sporting the favorite's role. Astoria has won three and lost three this season. The Fishermen downed Hill Military, Ilwaco and Seaside, but lost to Hood River. Central Catholic and Milwaukie. Salem has been playing much stronger competition this season.

The return of Fullback Paul Jewell to the Viking lineup Saturday will strengthen the Mort offensive considerably. Jewell missed the Corvallis game last week because of an ankle sprain. The balance of Salem's starting lineup, with the possible exception of Guard Fred Sproule, is expected to be intact for the game. Salem's lineup will be slightly heavier than the 171pound line and 150-pound back-field for Astoria.
