Miss Miller Now Mrs. Faltyn

Saint Joseph's Catholic church was the scene of the wedding Saturday morning, November 27th at 10:30 o'clock when Miss Alice Louise Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Miller, became the bride of Hubert Joseph Faltyn, son of Joseph Faltyn of Exeter, Pennsylvania. The ceremony was solemnized by Father Gerald Lenahan. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Lenora Miller was her sister's honor attendant wearing a peach satin gown made with a square neck, bustle back and a sequin band in her hair. She carried white chrysanthemums. The flower girl, Geraldine Ann Unrein, niece of the bride, wore a white taffeta gown with satin bustle back and lace edged square neck line, and a sequin head band. She carried a basket filled with pink and white carnation petals. The bride's dress was of white slipper satin made with basque waist, a dropped shoulder neckline with lace trim, a full skirt with long train and her veil was finger tip edged with matching lace. On her hair was a sequin band. She carried pink and white carnations. The bride's mother wore a street dress of black with black accessories and her corsage was of white carnations. Albert Salus of Exeter was best man for the groom. Ushers were Virgil Miller and Charles Mack. Immediately after the ceremony and mass a reception was held at the Mayflower hall for 50 guests. The room and tables were decorated in yellow and bronze chrysanthemums. Cutting the bride's cake was her eldest sister, Mrs. Jerry Unrein, and pouring was her sister, Mrs. Charles Mack, a bride of a few weeks. Assisting was Mrs. Leonard McCormick of Lebanon. The newlyweds left early in the afternoon for a honeymoon at the Oregon beaches and after December 5 will be at home in Salem. The new Mrs. Faltyn attended Sacred Heart Academy and the groom received his education in the east. For going away the bride wore a blue green suit with black top coat and black accessories.
