Elks Collect Clothing for Needy Persons

Plans for the annual Christmas activities of Salem lodge, BPO Elks No. 336 are complete with a basement full of clothes ready to be given to needy persons this week end and a Christmas party for 1,000 children December 24.

Racks full of men, women and children's clothing and garments are to be given to any needy person this Friday, Saturday and Monday. Every type of clothing is represented and has been cleaned, pressed and readied for distribution. Friday morning, December 24, a special Christmas show will be held at the Capitol theater for about 1,000 children. After the show the youngsters will be taken to the Elks lodge for presents and treats from Santa Claus.

Heading the holiday committees is J. E. Krauger, and helping him are Lloyd Thomas, John Gilmer, Cecil France, B. N. Speer, Samuel Ramp, A. J. Cleveland, C. W. Cutsforth, D. P. McCarthy, W. J. Kloft, Lee Haskins, Grant Murphy, Adolph Heater, E. E. Ball, E. J. Allen, and Walter Gerth.

Williams Heads PI Exposition

PORTLAND, Dec. 15 (AP)—Directors of the Pacific International Livestock exposition have elected W. Irvie Williams president. He succeeds Theodore B. Wilcox, who has headed the show organization for 18 years.

Wilcox became chairman of the board.

The Board said expenses resulting from the Columbia river flood were $46,755 and put the exposition in the "red" for the year. The amount was not announced.

The past season's exposition drew the largest crowds of record and brought the largest income.

Frank Brown of Carlton was elected a vice president, Walter Holt was retained as general manager.

'Past Commanders' Night' Planned by New Legion Post

Salem post 136, American Legion, will inaugurate an annual "Past Commanders' night" December 27 at Legion hall with a special dinner for former leaders and an entertainment program for the entire post membership.

The announcement of the event came from Commander Homer Smith, jr., in a meeting of the post earlier this week. Past commanders to be honored are Joseph Felton, Chester Fritz, Don Goode and Tryone Gillespie.

The past commanders' dinner will open the program. Entertainment, initiations and a special surprise program will follow.

Business discussed at Monday night's session included the area 2 American Legion conference to be held at Legion hall in January. More than 200 visitors are expected to attend. District Commander Walter Wood of post 136 spoke on plans for the conclave.
