Fallen Cedar's 'Family Tree' Propagated

Although removal of a rare Cedar of Lebanon tree from a downtown parking was completed late this week tree lovers will note that an offspring of the 60-year old giant is growing some nine miles from Salem.

Seed of the Lebanon Cedar cut down this week was brought to Salem from the Holy Land and planted by the late Dr. James A. Richardson about 60 years ago. It was removed to make way for a business development on Chemeketa street.
