Newcomers Numerous in Legislature

By Wendell Webb
Managing editor, The Statesman
A well-rounded cross section of Oregon life, including 13 farmer-ranchers and 11 attorneys, will comprise Oregon's 60-member house of representatives at its 1949 session starting January 10.

will be in the house for the first time. The other 33 will be serving their second term upwards, some of them coming back after a several years' absence.

Some of them have formed a more or less permanent connection in Salem and know right where they will live here. Many others have been hunting for houses or apartments for several weeks.

Harvey Wells "Dean"
"Dean" is Harvey Wells, Portland republican, who will be in his 11th session; H. H. Chindgren, Molalla republican and Henry Semon, Klamath Falls democrat, 9th; Giles French, Moro republican and Earl H. Hill, Cushman republican 8th; Lyle Thomas, Dallas republican, and E. W. Kimberling, Prairie City republican, 7th. Serving in their 6th sessions will be Phil Bray, Portland democrat, and Jack Greenwood, Wemme, republican, 5th; Robert Gile, Roseburg republican, and John Steelhammer, Salem republican, 4th; John Dickson, Portland; Ralph Moore, Coos Bay; Carl Francis, Dayton; Frank VanDyke, Medford; Joseph Harvey, Portland; C. L. Lieuallen, Pendleton; William B. Morse, Prinville; J. O. Johnson, Portland; Henry Peterson, Ione; M. M. Landon, Sweet Home; W. W. Chadwick, Salem—all republicans.

VanDyke Probable Speaker
Seven will be serving in their third session, four in their second. Representative VanDyke reportedly is well in the lead for the speakership under usual procedure, the speaker will be chosen in caucus the night preceding the legislative opening, January 10, and ratified at the first formal session. But a floor fight for the high office would not be unprecedented.

(Another round-up story complete with pictures will feature the new state senate next Sunday.)
