

Corvallis Rites of Interest

A number of Salem people will be in Corvallis this afternoon to attend the wedding of a former Salem girl, Miss Mary Margaret Glenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Glenn, who will become the bride of Robert L. Coate, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Coate of Richmond, Indiana. The nuptials will take place at 5 o'clock at the Presbyterian church with the Rev. Robert R. Buckley officiating. Joe Cosley will be the organist and Miss Marilyn Powell will sing. Lighting the tapers will be Mrs. Robert Blair and Mrs. Quentin Greenough. Mr. Glenn will give his tall, brunette daughter in marriage. Her bridal gown is of white satin with lace bodice and peplum and full train. Her tiered illusion veil is fingertip length and was worn by Mrs. Roger M. Schnell at her wedding last summer. The veil will cascade from a laced open crown headdress. She will carry red poinsettias and white orchids. Preceding the bride to the altar will be a quartet of young girls, who will wear red velvet dresses and carry holly wreaths. Mrs. Melvin D. Knorr will be the matron of honor and bridesmaids will be Mrs. Roger M. Schnell of Salem, Miss Mary Jane Kestly of Corvallis, formerly of Salem and Miss Ruth Hoffman. James Coate will be his brother's best man and ushers will be three of his Stanford classmates, Edward Sammons, jr. and Charles Crookham of Portland and Borah Hanson. Mrs. Glenn will wear a royal blue gown for her daughter's nuptials and Mrs. Coate, who came west for the wedding, will wear a violet gown. Reception at Kappa House The reception will be held at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. Mrs. A. L. Strand of Corvallis and Mrs. Dean Walker of Independence will preside at the urns and Mrs. John Beakey of Salem and Mrs. O. H. Cornell will cut the cake. Assisting will be Mrs. E. L. Getz, Mrs. W. P. Duruz, Mrs. Eugene Kelley, Mrs. H. W. Wood, Mrs. Bert McIntosh, Mrs. Henry Hartman, Mrs. Luke Gill, Mrs. Frank Allbright, Mrs. H. E. Casly, Mrs.

P. X. Knoll, Mrs. Robert Cornell and Mrs. Jack Hughes. The newlyweds will go to the mountains on their honeymoon and her going away outfit is a black faille suit, black accessories, and black coat with leopard collar. Her courage will be of orchids. The couple will make their home in San Francisco. Mr. Coate is taking his master's degree at Stanford university and his fraternity is
