

Nuptials Are Performed Wednesday

The Corvallis home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Mockmore was the scene of a pretty wedding ceremony on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Viola Brainerd Shaffer of Salem became the bride of Harvey L. Wells of Corvallis. The 4 o'clock nuptials were performed by the Rev. Daniel Walker, pastor of the Corvallis Methodist church. George W. Kelley sang "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer" with Mrs. Albert Marsh the accompanist. The couple exchanged their vows before members of the immediate family and a few friends. The fireplace was banked with arrangements of heather, snapdragons and violets. For her wedding the bride chose a handsome eggshell chiffon wool afternoon gown embellished with seed pearl embroidery. Her lavender cloche style hat was adorned with flowers shading from blue to violet. Her accessories were cocoa brown and her long doeskin gloves matched her gown. The couple was unattended.

A reception followed the nuptials at which Mrs. Abner K. Kline, sister of the bride, poured. Mrs. Lewis Roth cut the cake and assisting were Mrs. Roy Peterson of Corvallis and Miss Suzanne Luelien of Pendleton. The table was covered with an eggshell satin cloth and encircling the cake were smilax and violets.

The newlyweds have gone south to San Francisco and Santa Barbara on their honeymoon and after January 15 will be at home in Sweet Home at 2281 N. E. st. For traveling the bride wore a silver grey dressmaker suit with matching hat and brown lizard accessories.

Mr. Wells is in the merchandising business in Sweet Home and his bride has served as home demonstration agent for Polk county the past two years.

Whet Appetites

Cheese Begins Highly Flavored Spreads For Crackers or Potatoes

By Maxine Buren
Statesman Woman's Editor

Though the holidays are special eating days, entertaining and eating do not cease when the festivities are over. But whether you choose a holiday or another time for giving parties, it's nice to start out with appetizers.

The calavo people offer a new spread for topping crackers or rye crust as appetizers. One suggestion is to combine chili powder, grated onion and lemon juice with sieved avocado. Here's the exact recipe:

AVOCADO CHILI SPREAD
1 large avocado
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 1/2 teaspoon grated onion
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
Salt to taste.

Mash the avocado and blend in other ingredients. Spread on crackers or potato chips.

A cheese ball makes a good impression on guests as well as the family, and no wonder, the flavor's usually mighty good. There's any number of variations of course, one woman says combine a wedge of Roquefort, a square of Philadelphia cream and a cube of nippy cheese, add a dash of Worcestershire sauce, a little tabasco and some garlic salt. Roll it in nuts and serve with crackers or potato chips.

Some of the prepared cheeses sold in glasses are pretty well seasoned up for that sort of thing. Some contain caraway seed, some bacon, some garlic.

One especially simple but well flavored appetizer has stuck in my mind after several years. It was a specialty of one of the hosts at a party I attended. Over the contents of a package of those tiny wafer shaped whole wheat cereals (like shredded wheat only very small) he sprinkled a liberal amount of savory salt (purchased in the condiment department along with garlic salt and others) and melted butter. That was all.
