

Ranch Ramblings

More and more beef cattle are coming into the valley with the planting of more permanent grass and better forage crops. Just recently S. E. Eicher & Son of Albany bought five Hereford cows and two heifers from R. C. Awrey, Tangent, and Howard Lill, Corvallis, bought eight Angus cows from F. E. Luckey, Battle Ground, Wash. B. O. Tom of Alesha bought 10 registered Polled Hereford heifers and a bull calf from the Bonelli Cattle company at Saugus, Calif. The cattle were hauled by truck to Oregon and while the weather was all varieties on the route, the cattle arrived in good condition.

Tom, who is known at Salem and surrounding territory, has a fine meadow and hay ranch, deep in the mountains. The mountains are seeded to grass as they are timbered off.

The Etzel brothers, Ted, Al, Vince and Pete, have bought the 293-acre farm of Gerald Toelle, northeast of Stayton on the Fern Ridge road. They plan to take possession about February 1, and will do general farming. Gerard, who has lived on the farm for many years, has not decided exactly what he will do.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fox have sold their farm north of Sublimity to Mr. and Mrs. James H. Ripp.

A small cannery—as some canneries go—which is doing a whale of a big business is the Stayton Canning company cooperative. Much of the credit is due to F. M. Smith, manager. Smith gets around a bit and learns a number of things, and he got an awfully good start from his father, who was manager at the cannery before his death, when the son took over. Just at present F. M. is in Atlantic City, N. J., attending the National Canners convention there while Mrs. Smith and son, Dean, are visiting at White Salmon, Wash.

Ronald V. Hogg, Salem, one of the directors of the Oregon Purebred Sheepbreeders association, has been twice honored in recent weeks. A Hampshire ram bred by Ronald, sired the grand champion fat lamb of the International Livestock exposition in Chicago. And Ronald was recommended by the American Sheep association to act as judge for the Hampshire breed at the 1949 Chicago International.

Livestockmen around Molalla report that they are finding a system of management different from that east of the mountains must be adopted for the beef cattle business in the valley. On the other side of the mountains, it seems that spring calves do best for beef. Here, winter calves have proven more profitable to Walter Hardy and Charlie and Fred Saylor of Molalla. These cattlemen also feel that the beef breeding and feeding industry is on a pretty sound footing here in the valley.

R. L. Clark, president of the Pacific Wool Growers, is of the opinion that a lot of these folk who talk of high profits in farming don't know what it is all about. Says he, by way of illustration: "If the farmer gave wheat away a 16 cent loaf of bread would still cost the consumer 14.7 cents. If the farmer gave livestock away, $10 worth of meat would still cost the consumer $4.90. If the farmer gave milk away, a 20 cent bottle of milk would still cost the consumer 12 cents, and if the farmer gave beans away, a 10 cent can of beans would still cost the consumer 8.3 cents." This also might give the farmer an inkling of where the most profit lay.

Joe B. Johnson from the livestock division at the state college, said at the Sheepbreeders meeting at Rickreall last Friday that if bonemeal, ground limestone and salt in equal parts be set before all livestock, this would take care of their mineral needs. For sheep it was suggested to mix phenothiazine at the rate of 1 to 14 of the mineral mixture.

Henry Ahrens, at the sheep meeting # so, said that wool production had increased 50 per cent in recent years at the Ahrens farm near Turner. Henry was inclined to give some of the credit for this to the lime and phosphate program followed on the farm. Crops properly fertilized, make for better feed and better feed makes for better livestock.

The cocaine leaf is used by local medicine men to divine the location of lost or stolen property in South America. The medicine man casts the leaves on smooth ground or on flat stones and tells from the pattern in which they fall where the property can be found.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures

This L-shaped house is built on a narrow lot. It is compact enough to make for economical construction, yet large enough to contain a living area that is more than ordinarily spacious for a moderately priced home. The overall width of the house is 32 feet, 8 inches. Preliminary cost estimates can be based on the 1,060 square feet of floor area and content of 15,750 cubic feet. This is plan 729 by Walter T. Anicka, architect, 617 Forest St., Ann Arbor, Mich. The living room, dining room and terrace form an integrated unit which faces away from the street. Picture windows on both sides enhance the size of the living room. The architect suggests an exterior of gray siding, trimmed with white waterproofed masonry bricks, or brick veneer, with a roof of colored asphalt shingles.

County Court Okehs Trade Of Timber Land

Marion county court Friday agreed to a proposal made by the state forestry department to trade two sections of county-owned timber land for 2,400 acres of logged-off land owned by the Cascade Operating company.

Final order on the swap will await the results of a public hearing on the matter before the county court set for January 28 at 10:30 a.m. in the Marion county courthouse.

Nelson Rogers, state forester, broached the proposal to the county court Thursday. The company would be allowed to log the timber on the county land in the Sardine creek area of the North Santiam canyon.

The state forestry department, meanwhile would reseed the logged area but leave it in county ownership. The county would receive 75 per cent of the proceeds from the results of reforestation. The company's land is in the Silver Creek and Abiqua creek basins.

The court also advised a delegation of Silverton citizens Friday that the county did not consider it advisable to purchase right-of-way land inside city limits. The Silverton group had petitioned the court to secure the right-of-way necessary to extend the proposed Silverton-Salem highway from McClaine street to Water street inside Silverton.

Response Good In Polk Polio Campaign

DALLAS Jan. 14—(Special)—Early, contributions rolled in today as the most earnest March-of-Dimes campaign in Polk county history opened. At present the Polk chapter owes the national foundation $2500 borrowed to combat polio cases which struck in 26 homes in this county during 1948. While no monetary goal has been set, first returns indicated this year's drive might exceed the $2834 contributed by Polk county folk last year. Mrs. Ralph Howe, 809 Mill st., Dallas chairman, said Friday that the first wave of replies

DALLAS, Jan. 14—Hannelore Holder, 19, who listed her address as Stuttgart, Germany, and Gordon R. Britton, 22, Dallas route 1, a farmer, were issued a marriage license at the Polk county clerk's office Friday.

Miss Holder told workers in the clerk's office that she flew here from Germany two weeks ago.

Meet Curing Plant Involved In Damage Suit

A suit seeking damages totaling $27,137 for an alleged broken lease on a Salem meat curing plant was filed in Marion county circuit court this week by F. E. Lundquist.

Lundquist alleges in his complaint that he leased the plant, located near Turner road and 25th street, on a month-to-month basis from Norval E. Edwards and Clarence L. Isom last November 1. The complaint further alleges that on December 21 the plant was closed to Lundquist.

At a result, Lundquist charges, he has suffered a loss of business because he was not given a 30-day notice to move and because business contracts were broken. He also demands punitive damages of $20,000.

Named as defendants in addition to Edwards and Isom are Milton Van Zanten and Cornelius Van Zyle, Milton and Ethel Van Zanten of Salem and Cornelius and Helena Van Zyle of Gresham filed an assumed business name certificate recently with the Marion county clerk for the Mop-Ark Meat company at the 25th street plant.

This outstanding performance is modeled on old time vaudeville lines complete with 11 acts and a 15-piece orchestra. The production is entertaining, replete with songs — burlesque — monologue — tap dancing — music and comedy skits. It is comparable to many of the road shows playing in Seattle and San Francisco.

It Is Presented FREE — No Charge for Tickets
All Contributions Go to "March of Dimes"

10,000 people tried to see this show on first night of presentation last year. 5,000 people were turned away second night. All who saw last year's show praised it as a "smash hit." So all may see this year's presentation we are running for 6 full evenings.
