Mary Bean Bride of Saturday

St. Mary's church in Mt. Angel was the setting for the wedding of Miss Mary Bean of Salem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bean of Mt. Angel, and Neil Boehmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Boehmer of Salem, on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Father Vincent Koppert performed the nuptials and singing before the nuptials were Miss Eustelle Bauman and Miss Pauline Saalfeld. Miss Helen Keber was the organist.

Of white slipper satin was the bridal gown fashioned with a drop neckline with net yoke and a full skirt with scalloped hemline in front caught up with satin bows to reveal ruffles of satin. The sleeves were long and the skirt terminated in a train. Her French illusion veil cascaded from an open crown satin bonnet and she carried a spray of orchids and bouvardia. Mr. Bean gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Dale Esch, the former Ann Bean, was her twin sister's matron of honor and wore a seafoam satin gown similar to the bride's with the skirt caught up in front and slightly extrain in back. Miss Cleo Turin was her cousin's bridesmaid and wore rose satin made like the honor attendants. Both wore matching mitts and small bonnets. They carried pastel bouquets of bouvardia, roses and narcissus.

Clifford Boehmer was his brother's best man and seating the guests were Stanley Boehmer, Dale Esch and Louis Turin.

Mrs. Bean wore a wine silk afternoon dress with grey accessories for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Boehmer attended her son's marriage in a teal blue afternoon gown with black accessories. Their corsages were of white roses.

The newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the Memorial hall at Mt. Angel. Pouring were Mrs. William Bean and Mrs. A. Bean. Symphony Concert Tuesday

Werner Janssens has chosen the music of Haydn, Mozart, Setana and Tchaikowski for the Portland symphony orchestra's concert in Salem on Tuesday night. The program will be given in Salem high school auditorium and is the second in the series of three winter concerts to be given here.

Soloist for one number is Harold Schriener, violoncellist of the orchestra, who will play the Haydn concerto. Salem, with three concerts scheduled, is reaping benefit from Oregon's No. 1 musical asset, and at a very low cost. The budget for the current season for the orchestra is $185,000 and the orchestra is ranked among the half-dozen top philharmonics in the nation, yet its budget is relatively small. One reason for this is that two-thirds of the musicians are permanent Oregon residents. About $75,000 is expected to come from box office, the balance through subscription.

The following program will be given: Overture to the Magic Flute — Mozart Concerto in D major for violincello — Harold Schriener, soloist Haydn Tone poem: The Moldau — Smetana Symphony No. 5 in E minor — Tchaikowski Andante: Allegro con anima Andante cantabile Valse: allegro moderato Finale: andante maestoso; allegro vivace.

"Holly" Says

Wish I could have a January Sale or something — those sale ads look so glamorous and inviting but darn it I marked my jewelry so close there just isn't margin enough left to cut so guess you are just going to have to be satisfied with low prices all year and no January Sale. I thought if I'd put on a sale I may get a few more customers in here and I really need them — you see since it started to snow and covered up all the green feed my horses are getting mighty hungry and pretty soon I'm going to have to buy a few bales of hay and a sack of oats. I don't like to bother you with my personal troubles but that it would be better for you to know that these horses are particular, they just won't eat diamonds and silverware or clocks and watches, or rings and bracelets, or buckles and hat bands, or pens and pencils, or tie pins and cuff links. I just have to convert those things into cash and with that cash buy hay and oats.
