

Bearcats, Linfield Square Off Tonight

WU Gym Mix Finds Lewis Quintet Needing Win to Stay in NW Race

Needing this one to continue as a top threat for the Northwest conference cage title, Willamette U's Bearcat basketballers tonight play host to the fast-moving Linfield in a night game in the Cat gym. The freshman teams of both schools will commence the evening in a 6:30 o'clock prelim.

Coach Johnny Lewis' troupers had a battle on their hands before subduing the Wildcats 51-44 in the first meeting at Linfield, and Lewis anticipates another tough evening tonight. Lewis has been hard at work with his charges most of the week, tuning them up on offensive measures against the zone-type defense used by Glen Hubbard's team. Polishing the Cat scoring machine, led by the Johnsons and Ted Loder, also has drawn the Methodist mentor's attention in practice.

In two other league games tonight the Lewis & Clark leaders play host to the strong College of

Wolves Tangle With Raiders

MONMOUTH, Feb. 3.—(Special) Bob Knox' Oregon College of Education basketball Wolves take on the Southern Oregon College Red Raiders in a Friday-Saturday night series in the OCE gym, and are primed to hand the talented visitors a pair of upper losses. The Raiders, coached by Ted Schopf, downed OCE in a December game at Ashland.

Knox' starters for the Friday opener likely will be Marv Hiebert, Bob McKee, Harrel Smith, Jess Palmer and Claude Buckley. The games will start at eight o'clock. The Southern Oregon quintet is currently leading the Far West conference standings.

Bend in Pair Of Loop Tilts

The individual scoring race in the conference will resume tonight also. At present Bob Pollard, huge L-C center is in front with 77 points in four games. WU's Bob Johnson has 37 in three games and Loder has 35 in the same number of tilts. Linfield's top pointsman is Neal Abrahamson, with 24 markers in his two outings. Tonight's line-ups:

W	L	Pct.	W	L	Pct.
Linfield	1	.500	Linfield	1	.500
Willamette	1	.500	Whitman	1	.500
Columbia	1	.500	Pacific	1	.500

Idaho Coyotes, now in a tie with Willamette, and Whitman plays at Pacific. The Whites go to Lewis & Clark on Saturday and the Coyotes play at Pacific.

The individual scoring race in the conference will resume tonight also. At present Bob Pollard, huge L-C center is in front with 77 points in four games. WU's Bob Johnson has 37 in three games and Loder has 35 in the same number of tilts. Linfield's top pointsman is Neal Abrahamson, with 24 markers in his two outings. Tonight's line-ups:

Linfield	Willamette
Gasaway	Tom Johnson
Ch. Johnson	Jim Johnson
Abrahamson	Ted Johnson
Williams	Tom Warren
Hammond

Joe Flattens Another Foe

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—For the second time this week Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis tonight knocked out an exhibition opponent. He scored a third round technical knockout over Bill Graves, 210-pound Daytona Beach negro, tonight. Monday night at Orlando, Louis had kayced Dixie Lee Oliver of St. Petersburg.

Unlike Oliver, who was out 10 minutes after his head hit the unpadded ring floor, Graves was able to leave the ring under his own power.

OFF ALBANY. Feb. 3.—(AP)—Snow forced postponement of an Albany-Toledo high school basketball game scheduled here tonight. It was the second such postponement. The Toledo coach sent word that he was unwilling to risk sending his players over the snow-covered highway.

Rollin' Along by Jerry Stone

Fate dealt a tough blow to Ben Hogan in the Texas crack-up for injuries will force the Bantam to miss a precious year or perhaps more of competition while he is at his peak. Hitting the top came after years of grueling labor at the divot game and at Hogan's age (36) he could figure on retaining his full links magic for say three or four more years. Ben's consolation is the medical word that he will ultimately be able to resume his career...

For those who cry that sportsmanship is pretty well a minus quality among present-day hunters...

BILL BOWES

men, for those who pipe that nowadays the nimrods don't give a D... for wildlife as long as the quarry is in convenient enough position to get a beautiful lead—well, let them take notice. Hay-loaded planes are getting food into marooned elk and deer, ranchers of eastern Oregon are ploughing through hip-deep snow to give succor to antlered herds which, but for the hand of man, face starvation. Hundreds of thousands have come in that hungry bird flocks may survive. The state game commission and wildlife groups have been behind much of the feeding, but individuals—the fellows who, gun in hand, take to the fields and woods each season—have also chipped in with plenty of help. And don't think all this assistance to the birds and bigger game stems only from a desire to keep 'em alive for that bullet next fall. The motivation can be deeper down than that—and if you have it you're a sportsman, bub...

Salem has contributed her share of talent to the state's skiing picture. Did you by chance notice recent those two big blow-up shots in a couple of metropolitan dailies? None other than Nap Rocque and Bill Bowes, who did their early skiing in the surrounding hills—when there was snow. Nap is doing fine as head instructor at famed Timberline Lodge on Mt. Hood. Yes, he's even given instructions to names like Dennis Morgan. Bill has tapered off in his slat endeavors since he got married, but he still came through with a second place in the Portland Trail Day classic last year. And he is a past member of the Oregon State Ski squad. Bill was pointing for the Olympics last season and came within a hair of making the American squad but he figures waiting another four years for the next Olympics would be just a bit too much...

It's still very much a wintry time of the year but John McConville and Jim Dimit, a pair of gents who handle a good share of the reins in the local softball scene are thinking ahead to the winter when the big pill will be flying around once more. McConville, who's a member of the state executive softball board, reveals that he's trying to make the Salem area a district in its own right. If the move is successful you softballers will have to worry about the likes of McConville, who's a member of the state executive softball board, reveals that he's trying to make the Salem area a district in its own right.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Bill (Bull) Weidner, the muscular and powerful blond gent who won this week's tournament, gets his reward at the armory next Tuesday night when he climbs in with Frank Stojack for a crack at the former WSC football all-American's Coast junior heavy mat title belt. Matchmaker Elton Owen isn't looking for action until next Tuesday, at Albany. Bend comes to Salem a week from tonight.

Change Handed Fistic Mainer

Monty to Biff With Bacca in Top Bout

It'll be Monty Montgomery against Pancho Bacca in the armory boxing main event next Wednesday night after all. Matchmaker Tex Salkeld had matched Montgomery with Alvaro Estrada, of Juarez, Mex., with whom the Klamath clouter had punched to a draw in Portland Tuesday night. But when the snow began to fall in Portland Wednesday Estrada and his Mexican stablemate Sonny Gomez headed for the train and sunny California. They refused to stay in the northwest because of the cold weather.

So Salkeld had no alternative. He immediately grabbed Bacca, the Los Angeles who was supposed to fight Montgomery here last week when snowy weather postponed that card.

"I think the Montgomery-Estrada fight would have been better," Salkeld reported, "but this Bacca will fill the bill plenty. He has just as good a chance, if not better, of beating the Indian as the Indian has of beating him." An added glow has been handed the Wednesday show in the form of Dean Abney, also. Dean will biff in the six-round special with Al Cliff, rugged Portland negro 150-pounder. Fast-coming Dean was the hit of the Portland show earlier this week in a smashing four-rounder with Paul Kennedy of Longview. Kennedy decked Dean for a nine count in the second round but the Jefferson hustler roared back to gain a draw and completely steal the entire "talent" show. "He's coming fast," accolades Salkeld, "and he was terrific in the fight in Portland."

Three four-rounders, one of which will be Leo (The Lion) Turner vs. Irish Johnny O'Day middleweight exhibition, will complete the card. Tickets will go on sale Monday at Maple's.

Vikings Off For Astoria

Set on making it four straight for the season over the Astoria Fishermen, and going ahead 26-24 in the total number of games played with the Finns since 1935, Salem high's Vikings today hit the road for basketball games with the Fishermen tonight and Saturday night. The Vikings spanked Astoria twice here last month, but the games were merely played. More of same is expected by Coach Harold Hank & Co.

Hank likely will shoot his regular starting five at the Fishermen tonight—Tom Faulstich, Ben Pitzer, Keith Farnam, Bud Duval and Darrel Grod. Salem will be primed to elaborate on her seasonal 14 won, 4 lost record also.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

Change Handed Fistic Mainer

Monty to Biff With Bacca in Top Bout

It'll be Monty Montgomery against Pancho Bacca in the armory boxing main event next Wednesday night after all. Matchmaker Tex Salkeld had matched Montgomery with Alvaro Estrada, of Juarez, Mex., with whom the Klamath clouter had punched to a draw in Portland Tuesday night. But when the snow began to fall in Portland Wednesday Estrada and his Mexican stablemate Sonny Gomez headed for the train and sunny California. They refused to stay in the northwest because of the cold weather.

So Salkeld had no alternative. He immediately grabbed Bacca, the Los Angeles who was supposed to fight Montgomery here last week when snowy weather postponed that card.

"I think the Montgomery-Estrada fight would have been better," Salkeld reported, "but this Bacca will fill the bill plenty. He has just as good a chance, if not better, of beating the Indian as the Indian has of beating him." An added glow has been handed the Wednesday show in the form of Dean Abney, also. Dean will biff in the six-round special with Al Cliff, rugged Portland negro 150-pounder. Fast-coming Dean was the hit of the Portland show earlier this week in a smashing four-rounder with Paul Kennedy of Longview. Kennedy decked Dean for a nine count in the second round but the Jefferson hustler roared back to gain a draw and completely steal the entire "talent" show. "He's coming fast," accolades Salkeld, "and he was terrific in the fight in Portland."

Three four-rounders, one of which will be Leo (The Lion) Turner vs. Irish Johnny O'Day middleweight exhibition, will complete the card. Tickets will go on sale Monday at Maple's.

Fight Manager Faces Charge

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

The manager of boxer Jack Snapp faced an assault charge today after a hotel altercation involving the Tulelake police chief. Roy Drake, Snapp's manager, was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm, and drunk and disorderly conduct. He posted $1,500 bail.

Lyle Williams, an ex-pugilist, was charged with battery. He was freed on $1,500 bail.

Bevos On Crucial Jaunt

All Isn't Woe With West Salem Juniors

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

Bevos On Crucial Jaunt

All Isn't Woe With West Salem Juniors

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

Bevos On Crucial Jaunt

All Isn't Woe With West Salem Juniors

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game, but the plague hasn't dimmed the team's spirit, as the above picture would indicate. That's Coach Bill Hanauka with (left to right) Dick Carter, Warren Clemons and Bill Nelson. The wee W-Salems always manage to give a good account of themselves in loop play. They tangle with the Farrish Cards at Farrish this afternoon in fifth round play.

The West Salem entry in the Salem Junior high basketball circuit hasn't yet won a game,