the Yaks for his fourth season. Jack Wilson had hoped he might land Gene for Salem Capitol duties next summer. And George Emigh had hoped he might swap Yakima for Thompson's services. Looks like they both fail . . . Speaking of Albany above the members of the Bulldog football team, recipients of gold charms for their admirable 1948 season, got to keep the mementos after all. That silly rule the Oregon High Schools Activities association has wherein no prep athlete can accept other than a letter for his athletic endeavors forced the Bulldogs to return the footballs to the proud Albany citizens who awarded them. But those citizens weren't to be denied. They turned around and gave the charms to parents of the kids, who in turn presented them to their offspring as Christmas presents. Nothing wrong with that, we'd say . . .

After first declaring to the Canadian press that Bill wouldn't be back in '49, and that he had over 25 applications for the job, Brown came out with the statement to the effect that none of the 25 seemed likely to do any better than Brenner, so he was keeping Bill on the job . . . What to do with those giant houses occupying space on fortunate col-lege campuses these wintry nights? Park your cars in them when you go to the basketball games. Salem, Eugene, etc., named following first team: Cliff Crandall, OSC; Ed Gayda, WSC; Sammy White, UW; George Yardley, Stanford and Bill Sharman, USC. Our vote had all but Sharman. We put in UCLA's Chuck Clustka instead . . . Seattle has sold southpaw flinger Jim Hedgecock to Wenatchee, instead of Vancouver, the Sick's farm club. Jim won a potful in the league year before last . . . Triple-threater Hugh Mc-Elinney and giant tackle Byron Zurek of Compton JC's little Rose Bowl champs are jumping right from the junior college over USC and onto the U of Washington campus this semester. They were supposedly headed for the Trojans, as Compton coach Tay Brown was an all-American tackle for Troy. All of which proves for the umpy-eighth time that you can lead the hoss to water but you can't make him drink . . .

WIL Fireworks Due This Week at Seattle

'Tis a long time till July 4, but be not surprised to hear fireerackers going off up in Seattle in midweek. Prexy Bob Abel is calling in his WIL directors for a showdown meeting on the Spokane situation, and from what we gather there will be a few explosions. One might blow the Spokes right out of the league for 1949 . . . Unique picture of basketballer Gale Bishop, former WSC and Fort Lewis great, on the front page of the January 30 New York Times sports section. It shows "Bish" passing the ball to a teammate, something he didn't do much of last time we saw him in action. He's with the Philadelphia Warriors pros, incidentally, who beat the New York Knickerbockers in that particular game, 78-73. Bishop made 10 points . . . Also noticeable in the New York sheet is the way they print up the box scores for all-basketball games, professional, collegiate or high school. Listed anly are the columns for field goals, free throws and total points. The personal foul is left out entirely, and so are the summarized "free throws missed." Very little mention is made in the written accounts on fouls . . .

Estrada simply didn't like the snow and cold in our state, so took off for California. (He might just as well stayed here-they're as bad off as we.) So it'll be Montgomery on with Pancho Bacca Wednesday instead-the same fight that was snowed out here a couple of weeks ago . . .
