1949 Senator Roster Listed

Emigh Speaks Up On Team Prospects

By Al Lightner The answer to the question making its annual round these What'll the Senators have this season?, has been answered, in part, by George Emigh, club manager. Emigh has released a list of those players who have signed for the 1949 Western International league season, those to whom contracts were sent recently and those who may be returned to the Solons after the parent Portlands look them over in their spring camp at Riverside.

The Beavers begin their training February 21, and it won't be until they are almost through and ready for the Coast league campaign that Salem will know just who is to be sent here on option, according to Emigh. He has high hopes of getting such 1948 performers as Dick Sinovic, Eddie Barr, Cal McIrvin and Hal Saltzman, but at present must be content with hoping, period. The cavers may pick up a handful rookie prospects at Riverside, which will be sent to Salem of course. Also, both Jim Wert and Marty Krug, first basemen who have played for the Salems, are apt to be sent back by Portland. Emigh is sure the Solons first sacker will be either Wert, Krug or Johnny Johnson, the lefty picked up last summer when released by Yakima.

Those now signed for the season are Manager Bill Beard, who will undoubtedly do most of the team's catching, and rookies Bob Robertsen of Bellingham, an outfielder; Doug Stevenson, an infielder, who is now goalie for the Tacoma ice hockey Rockets, and Bill Stites, pitcher.

Fur Flies at Senate Labor Bill Hearing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 - (AP) The senate labor committee climaxed eight hours of public squabbling tonight with Senator Neely (D-WVa) roaring "You keep your mouth shut" to Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Thus ended the sixth day of the bitterest hearings in recent senate history — a hearing on the Taft-Hartley act and the Truman administration's proposal to replace it with a new labor law. During the long day and eve-

Diamond Stars To Show Here

Plans for the Salem Breakfast club's second annual baseball banquet - the one which sends off with best wishes the numerous ballplayers in the northwest area - are well under way, according to Club President Howard Maple. The conclave is dated for Wednesday night, February 16, at the chamber of commerce banquet room. And if it is only half the gala event it was last year, success already is assured.

The banquet will be a public affair and tickets may be purchased from Committeeman Bill Phillips or at the Maple Sporting Goods store. Phillips likely will install ticket agencies elsewhere also. George Emigh is leading the committee in charge of invitations, and already he has sent out the beckon call to over 25 diamond stars of both the present and past.

The principal speaker for the party will be "Buck" Bailey, famed coach and story teller with the Washington State College Cougars. Last year it was Western International League President Bob Abel who was top speaker, and Washington Baseball Coach Tubby Graves also delivered.

Diamond luminaries present a year ago included Freddy Hutchinson, Larry Jansen, Wes Schul-merich, Carl Mays, Moose Clabaugh, Bill Bevens, Pete Jonas, Curt Coleman and many others. Extra-special efforts are being expended this time to bring them back again, along with Joe Gordon, Don Johnson, Eddie Erautt, Bobby Doerr, Bill Sweeney and various Portland Beaver players.
