Salem Central WCTU Gives Bonds To Children's Farm Home

Four thousand dollars in Treasury Bonds is the amount of a gift which the Salem Central WCTU is making to the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis. It is stipulated that the gift be used toward the building of the new chapel. The Oregon WCTU Endowment Fund is receiving $2,500 and the Oregon WCTU Working Fund is receiving $1,500, both in Treasury Bonds, from Salem Central WCTU. The $8000 is from the money received four years ago from the Statesman Publishing Co. when it purchased the WCTU building which joined the Statesman building on the north. The gifts are to be regarded as memorials to the early members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Salem.

The first organization of the WCTU in Salem was formed in February, 1882. Starting with 12 members it grew steadily and held meetings each week in the Weura bldg, on Court street. Some of the women made their one dollar annual dues in payments of five or ten cents. The women held discussions about buying a building and serving dinners seems to have been their best method for raising money. They served a Fourth of July dinner to the public which was a success, $21 taken. They served an election day dinner, $13.57. They operated a restaurant at the state fair.

The Salem group entertained the WCTU state convention in 1889. By that time there were 42 unions in the state. That year the women started soliciting for funds toward buying a building. They asked for one dollar per month, or less. In November of 1902 Salem WCTU moved into the building which it had bought. Records show that in September and October the meetings had been held in the home of Mrs. E. M. Vandervort, mother of the late Henry Vandervort.

At the turn of the century the books recorded that among the working members of the Salem group were Mrs. Mary Minthorn, aunt of Herbert Hoover, with whom he made his home as a boy in Salem, Mrs. Helen Spouthwick, Mrs. P. B. Leabo, Mrs. E. M. Vandervort, Mrs. E. C. Matheny, Mrs. C. W. Scriber, Mrs. Mary Brooks, Mrs. Sarah Oliver, Mrs. Elizabeth Macy, Mrs. Lydia Bowerman, Mrs. R. S. Wallace, Mrs. Kate Jory, Mrs. Mary Ramp, Mrs. Mary V. Charlton, Mrs. Esther Armstrong, Mrs. Maria Good, Mrs. Mary Rhodes. The 50th anniversary of the organization of Salem WCTU was marked in 1932 by a banquet served in the First Methodist church. Mrs. Lydia Lehman was president. Fred Lockley of the Portland Journal, whose mother was a active worker, Dr. Bert Brown Barker, son of Mrs. Matheny, and Walter Winslow, grandson of Mrs. Vandervort, were speakers. President Herbert Hoover sent a letter. The Oregon state WCTU started the movement of establishing the

Mr. Friesen gave his daughter in marriage and her white satin bridal gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and a train. The bodice was embellished with design of beading and seed pearls. Her fingertip veil cascaded from a heart shaped crown of beading and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of deep maroon roses.

A Variety of Sauces Widens Chances For Originality in Desserts

Good old one-egg cake, cottage pudding, second-day angel food ice cream and any number of other bases take a glamorous sauce for added style. A good repertoire of sauces makes for wide variety in desserts.

Here are four dessert sauces which will give over some sort of cake or pudding to make a mighty nice dessert.

PINEAPPLE SAUCE

Yield: 1 1/2 cups
2 teaspoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup crushed or sliced pineapple, cut fine
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Combine cornstarch, sugar, and salt in heavy pan. Slowly add pineapple juice, stirring until smoothly combined with dry ingredients. Cook until sauce is clear and thickened. Remove from heat. Add pineapple and lemon juice. This sauce may be kept in a covered jar in the refrigerator.

CARAMEL SAUCE

Yield: 3/4 cup
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
Put half of the sugar in a heavy pan and heat until melted, stirring constantly. Add remaining sugar and boiling water slowly while stirring vigorously. Cook until quite syrupy. Add butter and salt, and cook until a very soft ball forms when a little of the syrup is dropped in cold water (225 degrees). Remove from heat, add vanilla. Serve hot or cold. This
