Civics Club Princesses Selected

Seventeen high school girls have been selected as princesses for the Civics Club carnival, always a highlight of the school year. The carnival will be held at the school auditorium on March 23 at which time the identity of the queen will be revealed.

Princesses chosen and the clubs they represent are as follows: Betty Bangert, Palettes; Joan Barnes, Vikettes; Virginia Benner, Crescendo; Shirley Clark, Spanish; Jean Clement, Philharmonians; Dolly Davidson, Que Dice; Mary Dowd, Science; Marjorie Emmerton, S club; Joyce Folsom, Biology; Maxine Hansen, Home Economics; Pat McCloskey, Photography; Beverly McAra, Aesculapians; Marjorie Ogle, Snikpoh; Jamie Pearcey, French; Mertie Phillips, Latin; Marilyn Quamme, Girls Letter club; and Bernice Widmore, Commercial.

Princesses will be introduced to the student body on March 22. "So This is Salem" is the theme of the carnival this year. Diane Perry is general chairman of the carnival with Margie Acton her assistant. Other committee members include tickets, Bill Bouffleur; programs, Sue McElhinny; chairman, Janet Gaiser, Dick Fuhr and Pat Fitzsimons; princesses, Mary Brehm and Jodie Hendrie, chairmen, Joan Miller; publicity, Barbara Zumwalt, chairman, Betty Cooley, Mike Kaye and Lois Archibald; judges, Glenn Kleen, chairman, Alice Girod; make-up, Katie Siegmund; and refreshments, Paul Jewell. Russell Harris and George Brant are working with Darlene Engdahl and Shirley Lamparter on the stage design and setting. Victor Palmason will direct the orchestra, which will play for the carnival.

To Honor Birthdays

Jerilyn and John Hughes will celebrate their birthdays at a joint party on Sunday afternoon at the Vista avenue home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes. Jerilyn will be seven and John, who was born on the 29th of February and only celebrates his birthday every four years, will be five. A group of their friends have been invited to come in for refreshments, to be followed by birthday cake and refreshments.

Old Stuff

Old Cookbook Reveals Interesting Data and Early Day Food Prices

The dear, good old days, how we recall times gone by when we spent fifteen cents to see "Perils of Pauline" and could feed the whole family on a quarter's worth of meat.

And I do mean a quarter's worth. Looking into a book of recipes put out by the Kraft Cheese company a long time ago I find an interesting item. The book has no copyright date, but pictures of women workers, show them with skirts sweeping the floor—which would indicate that it's rather old—even before the days of "cheesecake" in advertising and long ago before the new look.

The booklet says that one pound of what you want as "2 pounds beef-steak, (approximate cost) $0.44, 6-4/3 pounds chicken, $1.90; 7 pounds codfish $1.75 or 25 eggs $0.70."

I'm not sure about present codfish prices, but who wants seven pounds codfish, even at $1.75?

Returning to the cheese booklet quoted above, here's a good sounding recipe from it:

Recently while looking through old recipes from the files of a friend's mother, I found several places where she had listed "a sickle's worth of bacon." That would not even throw a shadow these days.

But though food was much cheaper in those days, cooking has certainly taken a step forward. What with stoves with thermostats and time clocks, meals ready frozen and waiting to be heated, and some long cooking foods even processed for quick preparation, the modern housewife is ahead anyway.

Legislative Tidbits

By JERYME ENGLISH

LUNCH TIME . . . on Friday when Mrs. Eugene Marsh of McMinnville entertains informally for a few friends at the Senator's home. Her guests include Mrs. Merle Chessman of Astoria, who is here visiting this week her legislative and Salem friends, Mrs. Dean Walker of Independence, Mrs. Austin Dunn of Baker, Mrs. William McAllister of Medford, all wives of senators, and Mrs. Stewart Johnson . . .

The week has been filled with luncheons . . . On Tuesday the senate secretaries entertained their bosses (the 51st day of the legislature and their first day without pay) at the Senator hotel . . . This is a traditional affair each session and later when the senators were at their desks in the senate they looked mighty nice in their red carnation bou-tonnieres, a gift of their hostesses . . . and what a coincidence all thirty senators and their secretaries were present . . . Mrs. Orval Thompson of Albany presented Sen. Truman Chase of Eugene with a cake in honor of his birthday, which he later cut (and a grand job he did) and served in the president of the senate's office.

Style shows and luncheons . . . At the Fairview Home on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons . . . with state representatives, wives and secretaries as guests . . . Dr. Irvin Hill, superintendent of the Home, and Mrs. Hill the official hosts . . . Two of the admiring guests . . . Rep. and Mrs. Earl Hill of Cushman, parents of the superintendent . . . Girls in the home economics and sewing classes cooked the luncheon and presenting the style show . . . the clothes all made by the girls in their classes . . .

A CRAB FEED . . . seemingly there were several cracked crab feeds Tuesday night after Sen. Russell Gardner of Newport distributed crab (each one sealed in a cellophane bag) to all the legislators . . . at the hotels there were numerous groups gathered in the various rooms to enjoy the crab, many of them picking it and eating it with relishes and French fries . . .

At the symphony . . . Spotted President of the Senate William E. Walsh, sitting all alone, center seat, center section, at the Portland Symphony's last performance Tuesday night . . . when queried later Sen. Walsh remarked whenever he is within fifty miles of

Campfire Corner

Mrs. Vera Button's Happy-Go-Lucky Blue Birds group held their regular meeting February 22. Plans were made for a dinner for parents and sponsors.

The Okeyasin met with their leader Mrs. Clark Irwin, Monday, February 28. The girls made invitations for the mothers' tea and made plans for a party March 19. Kay Ruberg brought refreshments. Mrs. Everett Wood's Little Chatter Box Blue Bird group made yarn corsages for handcraft honors. Rachel Seek was hostess.

Mrs. James Haskell led her Fairy Blue Bird group on a field trip through Jason Lee cemetery to study nature. Nine girls met February 28 with Gall Fitzgerald as hostess.

The Busy Blue Birds led by Mrs. Gladys Jones made popcorn balls at their meeting on March 1.

SALEM HEIGHTS — Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas will honor Mr. and Mrs. Richard Larson (Elsie Douglas) at dinner tonight in their home.

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Larson will be Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kilber, Steve, David and Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker, Jenny and Jeanna, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bates, Gary and Loretta, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Waddie and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Douglas, David and Dale, George Douglas, Beverly Matlock and Mrs. Leora Matlock.

Nuptials to Be Today

SALEM HEIGHTS — Miss Elsie Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, will become the bride of Richard E. Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Larson of Gresham, today at a candlelight service at 4 o'clock in the fireside room of the Calvary Baptist church with Dr. Charles Durden officiating.

The bride has chosen a white two-piece girdle dress with navy blue accessories. The maid of honor, Miss Beverly Matlock, will wear an aqua dressmaker suit with white accessories. Dale Smith will stand as best man.

The couple will greet their friends in the church parlors. Following the ceremony and a dinner a reception will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kilber. Mrs. John Croisan, Mrs. C. W. Holder, Mrs. Leora Matlock and Joyce Gordon will assist.

Mrs. John Douglas has chosen a grey crepe dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Salem high school, attended Willamette and is now employed at the J. K. Gill Co. in Portland. Mr. Larson is a graduate of the Gresham high school and is attending Northwest School of Photography.

The couple will make their home in Portland at 629 S. E. Morrison st.

New Classes to Begin at YWCA

A new series of classes at the YWCA, to be sponsored by the young adults department of the YW, will begin this month. All classes will be held weekly at the YW for six consecutive weeks.

The beginning bridge class, Mrs. Arthur Lewis, instructor, will begin March 19, 7:30 p.m.; intermediate bridge, Mrs. J. Parker Lineberry, March 15, 7:30 p.m.; textile painting classes, afternoon group, Mrs. Wilbur Tripp, instructor, March 8, 2 p.m., and evening class, March 10, 7:30 p.m.

All those interested in attending the classes are asked to register by calling the YWCA before the first session, as the classes will be limited. They are open to both men and women.
