

Salem Man Weds in Denver

Of interest to the groom's many Salem friends is announcement of the marriage of Luke Moro Johnston, son of Mrs. William B. Johnston of Salem, and Mrs. Eve Moore MacDonald of Denver, which took place on February 27 in the sanctuary of Central Christian church in Denver. The Rev. Kelly O'Neill, DD, performed the 4 o'clock rites. Mrs. John Kyde of Hood River sang.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor length gown of Alice blue crepe with matching hat and corsage of white orchids. Miss Marjorie Hawkins of Denver was the honor attendant and wore an ashen of roses gown with a gardenia corsage.

Best man for the groom was Conrad W. Werth and the ushers were Glenn C. Werth and Lee Schneider of Denver.

After March 15 Mr. Johnston and his bride will be at home in Salem at 1648 South Liberty street. He is employed by the City of Salem in the water department.

The new Mrs. Johnston was an active club woman in Colorado, serving as fine arts chairman of the State Federation of Women's clubs and an active member of the DAR. Prior to her marriage she was vice-president of the Denver Civic Garden club as well as associate editor of the Colorado Garden magazine. She also sang at the Central Presbyterian church in Denver.

Geological Banquet

Nearly a hundred attended the Salem Geological Society banquet at the Mayflower hall Wednesday night. Organizations represented were Chemeketa, Willamette Gem Cutters, Sweet Home Mineral Society and Geology Society of the Oregon County.

Theme of the banquet was a tribute to Dr. Thomas Condon, father of Oregon geology. Each guest was presented with a picture of Dr. Condon and the entire motif was geological. The menu was written in geological terms.

Main feature of the evening was an impersonation of the pioneer circuit rider presented by A. W. Hancock of Portland. Other speakers were Fay Libby, director of state mineral industries and geology, and Leo Simon, president of the GSOC. Other events on the program included solo by Mrs. Clark Lethin; piano numbers by Mrs. Ted Gordon; flute solos by Mrs. James C. Stone, accompanied by Miss Alice Cray Brown; a talk by George R. K. Moorhead and impersonations by A. W. Hancock.

Carl Smith was toastmaster and Charles Layport, the new president, presented a gift to the outgoing president, Edwin Minar. Mrs. Ted Gordon was in charge of the banquet and Mrs. C. L. Bowes of the displays.

Knickerbockers Are Honored

JEFFERSON—One hundred relatives and friends called during the day when Mr. and Mrs. Ernest K. Knickerbocker of Albany observed their golden wedding anniversary. They are parents of Mrs. Albert Meyers of Jefferson.

Arrangements of yellow roses and daffodils decorated the guest rooms. The serving table was covered by a hand-embroidered linen cloth, made by Mr. Knickerbocker's mother, and was centered by a large wedding cake baked by Mrs. Albert Meyers of Jefferson and patterned from her father's grandmother's cake made for all family occasions. Also used for serving was a sugar and creamer, wedding gifts of the couple 50 years ago.

Attending from Jefferson were Mr. and Mrs. James Hague and children, Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Bashford, Mrs. Karl Kihns, Mr. and Mrs. John Kihns and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hartley, Miss Flora Thomas, Miss Laura Thomas, Mrs. C. M. Cochran, Mrs. Ada Young, Mrs. Lila Settle, and the Albert Meyers family. Serving were Mrs. Pearl Bullis of Wendell, Minn., Mrs. James Hague and Mrs. Albert Meyers of Jefferson.
