THE ART WORLD

The exhibit of etchings of Jacques Collet and the paintings of Lith Kaye now at the Elstrom Galleries will continue to be shown through Saturday, March 26.

A display of work done in the Salem art association classes in ceramics and sketching will be placed for the meeting of the Art association on March 28 at the galleries.

Mrs. Norman Huffman, advisor to the galleries has expressed pleasure at the interest shown in both the old and modern works now being shown.

The Collet collection, she stated, is being shown here for the first time outside of New York since its arrival in this country. It is reputed to be from the collection of the Duc d'Orleans and has been intact from 1619 until the present when it was brought as a unit in November to the U. S. Of the 800 prints which were in the original collection, 16 are being shown here. Several other art museums of much greater size than Salem's have attempted to have the collection, but Mrs. Huffman, through connections with the owners succeeded in being the first to receive it. The prints are mostly of stage sets, done in intricate detail.

The paintings of Lith Kaye, while quite different, have attracted many to the galleries during the past two weeks.

She took her master's degree at Syracuse university and although a new member of the faculty, has already made many friends among the faculty and students.

Miss Matilda Gilles, principal of Richmond school, will lead the club collect and Mrs. Esther Little, YWCA executive secretary, will lead the patriotic observance. The program will be in charge of the education and vocation committee of which Miss Ruth Jones is chairman.
