Young Ice Skaters Performing In 'Frolics' Now at Ice Arena

A troupe of youngsters who make ice skating look as easy as eating ice cream are among the stars of this year's Ice Frolics, being staged at Salem Ice arena at 8 o'clock each evening through Tuesday. Full advantage is taken of colorful costumes and presentation on the glistening ice.

Children from 2-year-olds up which gets the show off to a good start. Featured in the numbers are Larry McCarger and Bobby Butch as wooden soldiers, Toni Desart and Jackie Ladue as buttons and bows, Robert Sjoding as fairy, Julius Peterson as beginner, Rex Peterson and Yvonne Meyers as king and queen, Arthur Lang, Larry Brown, Rodney McClellan, Bobby Burnside and Ronald Baker as a glowworm.

First number for the older skaters is "Here Comes the Bride" by Peggy Jewel and Gail Desart. The older children are back for the Frolics' traditional march of the dolls.

Snowflake Ballet

Esther Smith stars as the ballerina in a snowflake ballet, as well as in a duet, "Wedding of the Winds," with George Holmes, formerly with the Sonia Henie show. Holmes displays his skill as well in a solo, "The Wanderer," and in a second duet with Dean Lapoint.

One of the outstanding events is "April Showers," the first black light number to be given in Salem. It stars Holmes as the skeleton, ably supported by 10 "senior skaters."

Lapoint, who started his skating career at the local arena, wrote, produced and directed this year's Frolics, as well as supervising costumes and settings. A student of Mary Rose Thacker, figure skating champion, he solos as "The Daredevil," and as King Rex in a Brazilian Mardi Gras, and appears with Dolores Koutney in "Sidewalks of New York" and "Stairway to the Stars."

Farmer's Daughter
Other hits of the show this year include Sharon Heider as the farmer's daughter, Dolores Koutney is "Tico Tico," and Arthur Lang and Fred Cleveland in a spectacular obstacle jump number. Lang and Cleveland also team up with Donald Zink in "Farm Foolery."

The overture is played by Mrs. Mary Barton at the electric organ.

The 2 to 6-year-olds who are the candy kids in the opening number are Carol Scott, Ann Cates, Deanne Siqua, Peggy Huston, Joan Bourne, Sharon Casey, Pam Campbell, Claudia Newland, Judy McClellan, Maurine Jerrigan, Bonnie Stevenson, Beverly Carpenter, Lynn Kittenberger, Phyllis K. Morris, Joan Scott, Judy Query, Sharon Truax, Phyllis Butch, Susan Roberts, Jackie Fisher, Judy Hartwell, Ellen Williams, Charlotte Norby, Virginia Morris, Judy Reiman, Judy Mefford, Pat Stevenson, Sharlene Scott and Edwina Fitzgerald.

'Dolls' in Show

The "dolls" are Jolene Addy, Ann Fallin, Janet Hamlin, Sue Young, Toni Desart, Ruth White, Pat Erwin, Joan Ward, Mary Jane Meford, Julie Peterson, Geraldine Willard, Diana Wasserman, Phyllis Clatterbuck, Betty Burnside, Lorraine Battles, Sharon Whitacre, Donna Whitacre, Beverly Johns, Phyllis Graber, Carol Meford, Donna Stanton, Diana Ladue, Marie Buren, Joyce Brown, Lorraine Ellis, Mary Laroche, Marilyn Hoffman, Janice Roberts, Jane McAlpine, Judy Porter, Ann Butler and Marjorie Olson.

Most frequently appearing are the senior skaters, girls who are in seven numbers, including the snowflake ballet, "Spring on the Farm," "Brazilian Mardi Gras," "One, Two, Three, Kick" and "April Showers." They are Patsy Pease, Derna Martin, Carol Hunter, Sharon Heider, Shirley Koutney, Dolores Koutney, Robert Sjoding, Virginia Hurting, Yvonne Meyers and Katherine Beaulacrier.

Maj. Gen. Albert Brown

C. of C. to Hear General Brown

The Salem Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday noon, with Maj. Gen. Albert Brown of Vancouver Barracks as speaker, will launch local observance of Army day activities, which will center on Saturday.

General Brown, commanding general of the northern military district, 8th army, has commanded both the Fifth and Seventh divisions and since the war has headed the U. S. group on a joint U. S.-Russian commission to coordinate affairs in Korea.

Other activities for the week will include several speakers at service clubs, concerning the military and its relationship to civilians, window displays and special films.

County Jury List Drawn

Seven Salem residents' names are included in a Marion county district court jury list drawn Saturday by County Clerk Harlan Judd and Sheriff Denver Young.

The 15 jurors are to report at the district court rooms, room 202 Grey building, on April 15 at 9:30 a.m. The Salem names include Adolph Greenbaum, Daniel J. Fry, Simon P. Mayberry, Elizabeth K. Wilson, Elijah A. Bradfield, Earl M. Pettycrew and Frank Johnson.

Other jurors are Daniel B. Kiehege, Auburn; John F. Sauvain and Myrtle Smith, both of East Woodburn; Gertrude T. Bachman and Anna M. Powell, both of West Silverton; Floyd M. Shepherd, Scotts Mills; George E. Glover, Sublimity, and Erna Ahrens, Turner.

Civil Service Tests Open for Clerk Positions

Applications for a new series of Oregon civil service clerical examinations and for positions as county welfare administrator I and II will be accepted by the state civil service commission through Saturday. Director Robert R. Johnson announced yesterday.

The commission reminded that the state has employees in nearly every city in various fields of work, as well as a steady demand for replacements in Salem and Portland. Applicants from outside the Portland area were especially urged to try.

Application blanks are available at employment service offices and the commission office, 444 Center st.

The welfare positions' starting salaries are $210 and $250 per month.

Clerical positions slated for examination are clerk I, II and III, starting at from $150 to $250 per month, clerk-typist I, II, III from $150 to $200; clerk-typographer I, II and III, $170 to $200.

Services Set Monday for Mrs. Johnson

Christian Science services will be held Monday at 10:30 a.m. in the W. T. Rigdon chapel for Mrs. Flora E. Johnson, resident of Salem for the past 56 years, who died Friday. Interment will be in Belcrest Memorial park.

A member of the Christian Science church, Mrs. Johnson was practitioner for 42 years and was also reader for the Salem church.

She was born in Lancaster, Ohio August 13, 1868 and was married to Walter W. Johnson at Ferdonia, Kans., in 1890. Johnson joined the Salem fire department in 1900 and later chief for three years. He was later a guard at the state penitentiary.

Surviving Mrs. Johnson are sons, Duleigh P. Johnson and Emert Johnson, both of Salem; sister, Mrs. Della Connelly, Portland; brothers, Frank L. Newkirk, Hood River, Harry Newkirk, San Francisco, Walter Newkirk in Colorado, Simon Newkirk, Vancouver, Wash., Jern Newkirk, Gladstone, and Charley Newkirk.

Discharged OSC Professors to Talk In Salem Thursday

Two former Oregon State college faculty members, who were not rehired because of progressive party activities, are to speak Thursday evening at the Lion's den before an open meeting arranged by Marion County Progressive club.

The men are Dr. Ralph Spitzer, who was an associate professor of chemistry, and L. R. LaVallee, who was assistant professor of economics. Also on the program will be Aubrey Grossman, San Francisco, west coast director of the Civil Rights congress.
