Senators Open Training Tilts

OSC, Ducks, Pilots On Weekend Menu

OREGON STATE COLLE' E, April 6(Special)-The first phases of their spring training shakedown cruise now over, Salem's Senators Thursday open their 10 - game "grapefruit league" schedule. The first game is set for three o'clock Thursday afternoon with Ralph Coleman's Oregon Staters here. Then on Friday and Saturday it's to Eugene to play Don Kirsch's Oregon Webfoots. On Sunday the Solons trek to Portland to play Mush Torson's Pilots.

The chips for his questionable pitching staff are now down, as far as Manager Bill Beard is concerned. It will be in these upcoming 10 games that Beard intends finding just who is and who isn't ready to charge the enemy when the WIL bell rings at Tacoma April 22.

Beard has named the veteran Gene Peterson to open against Oregon State, and will follow up with two more flingers, each slated for three-inning stints. Johnny Bianco may be one of the two. Lefty Warren Miller, the rookie prize is being saved to open against the Ducks Friday. All others in camp-Bill Osburn, Ray McNulty, Clyde DeWitt, Jack Ferluga, Jimmy Foster, Elmer Childers, Rod Province, Irv Whitt, Bill Stites-will get into the act before Sunday night comes.

The rest of Beard's lineup seems set for the present. Were he to open the WIL race Thursday he would likely be back of the dish himself, or would have Bob Courrage there, another right hand hitter. Jim Wert would be at first base and Al Spaeter, although he's hobbling around on a slightly sprained ankle suffered this week, would be at second. Hockey player Doug Stevenson is filling in for Spaeter. Bud Peterson would be at short and Wayne Peterson at third. The outfield would find Mel Walsey in left, Bob Cherry or Hill Beeson in center and Jim Olson in right.

There would be no scarcity of left hand batsmen, for Wert, Wayne Peterson, Wasley and Olson all swing from the port side. So does Norm Lucich, the rookie gardener from Estacada. But he likely will wind up with Medford on option.

Gill to Talk Here Friday

the hour in Oregon State col-lege basketball and just fresh-ly accoladed Tuesday night during a testimonial at Corvallis, will be the principal speak-er for the Salem Breakfast club's basketball breakfast meeting Friday morning at Nohlgren's. The meeting has been cooked up to honor the Salem high Viking basketeers who recently won fifth place in the state eage tournament at Eugene.

Club President Howard Maple urges a full turnout for the 7:30 a.m. occasion, and reminds that the session is open to the public. Gill will speak on the NCAA tournament held recently at Seattle. He will be accompanied by Cliff Crandall and Alex Peterson, his two senior players. Orandall played in the East-West all star game at New York only last Saturday night.

by Al Lightner

Not mentioning any names, but he who hollers "Hey, Baldie" when the Salem Senators are around is apt to get a "Whadda ya want?" from a fistful of 'em. There'll be some embarrassed ballgamers on our side if ever they get caught on the field when the National Anthem starts. They'll tell you they're not bald, however. Just that they have high foreheads . . . The Spokane Injuns, after all their trouble may not be so sad at that. Both Bob Hedington and Joe Rossi, better than somewhat as WIL campaigners, have decided to report, and the Spokes have picked up time-tested Kenny Richardson and Jack Calvey a pair of 30-odd year old-ex-Coast league vets . . . Big Jim Ol-son, as we mentioned before, may be back in pitching harness when the WIL bell rings. And not merely because Mgr. Bill Beard is in need of experienced moundsmen on the club. Seems the spectacled Jeem doesn't see too well at night in the outfield, and admits it. Which wouldn't be healthy at all for him or the Senators over the long route, unless he installed a mattress in his cap . . .

TAD SHELTON

Another biggie due in the league this year. Vancouver has a six-foot, five-inch first baseman in Bobby McLean who played in the California State loop last season . . . The training season got started officially at Corvallis on Monday, and not four days previous as advertised. It just isn't a Senator camp until Assessorman Tad Shelton shows up to look things over and greet all the boys. Tad checked in Monday, and chewed up seven cigars during the afternoon . . . And while we're team today scored six runs in the one which Indian Joe Pete, the 345, Phipps 586, Larson 562, at it, a phoo to George Emigh for having so many Petersons on the fourth inning and went on to down former Chemawan, now fighting West 497. club. Hard out of Salem won every round by Pink Elephant -1- Mirich 541, score if all three are in the same game? . . .

Bianco Merely on Trial With Senators

A few solid cohs were giggled by the patriots when they heard that Johnny Bianco was now with the Townies, and little onder. When right, Bianco is strictly major league as a prospect. He has the good fast ball and other essentials to go ith it. When he's right, that is. But that's why he's now with the Salems instead of the Portland varsity. For some reason or another, Bianco feels that something is haywire with his pitching arm. The Portland bosses tell us, "It's all in his head-there's nothing wrong with him that he couldn't cure if he would just rare up and start throwing that fast ball."

Perhaps being lowered to the Class B ranks will be incentive for John to commence firing. We hope so, as it's a shame to see a pitcher with as much stuff as he has on the sidelines. But then it may do M. Beard & Co. little good if he does bust loose. Just as soon as Bianco bounces back, the Bevos will bounce him right out of Salem and into Portland. They haven't any Bob Lemons or Gene Beardens on their

Chalky Wright Likes Looks of Bobby Ford

Chalky Wright, the boxing oldtimer who now guides the ring destines of Baby Dutch Culbertson, Joe Kahut's Portland foe earlier this week, took one long look at Beltin' Bobby Ford during the long-armed negro's drills the other day and predicted a bright future for him as a fighter. Wright was even more enthusiastic when he learned that Ford is not yet 20 years old Looks like a rough start for George Vico with Detroit this time, as new Tiger Mgr. Red Rolfe is dividing the first basing chores between Tony Lupien and Paul Campbell in all spring training games. But George doesn't even get in as a pinch hitter . . . Want to see an interesting sports library in pictures? Drop in to George Dwyer's lodge (the old Crawfish tavern) on Portland road some night and look around. George has framed pictures of this 'n that all over the place. He's an A-1 sports Tan for sure . . .

Harger's Good Stuff to Be Missing Awhile

Much as we dislike reporting it, the "Goin' After 'Em" outdoor columns by Don Harger will not appear on the sheet for a while. Busy Donald, who we imagine has a rough go in finding time to eat and sleep these days, has a number of writing committments with magazines, so has bowed out for the time being. We anticipate his early return, as do the many others who read his good stuff . . . Speaking of the outdoors, notice that fishing season this time opens May 1, a Sunday. Which means that everyone and his brother, plus their grand-mother will be out after 'em if the weather is good. The anglers don't usually get a Sunday as opening May day . . .

Evening of Weird Decisions

Kennedy Given Nod In Mix With Wolfe

Perseverance and pursuit failed to pay off for Indian Dick Wolfe in his rematch 10-rounder with Longview Paul Kennedy at the armory last night, as the Washington negro was handed a split decision, climaxing an evening of weird verdicts. Although the mainer did not in any way live up to its slambang expectations, it was figured by most of the customers that the rugged Indian lad, through his aggressiveness and harder punching
