Friday, April 1, 1892

New York, March 25.—The American Schooner Winney Lawrey arrived here today from Haiti, after being short of food nearly 60 days. Three of her crew are missing and it is intimated that they were killed and eaten by their seven shipmates in order that they 11 might not die of starvation.

Chimes on Howell Prairie. — Howell Central School, District No. 40 has been furnished with a 500 lb. bell which was mounted last week. The money for the bell and belfry, about $100, was raised by subscription.

Will Begin Soon. — The contract for building the bridge on Commercial St. across South Mill Creek has been signed by J. E. McCoy. He will commence as soon as his materials arrive. The contract price is $2491, but the bridge is to be extended 80 ft. beyond, the extra cost will be in proportion to the original proposed.

Who Wants It?—A one or two horse Studebaker spring wagon for sale. Almost new, has not been driven enough to cover 20 miles. Cost $75, including brake attachment. Can be bought for much less.

There will be another poultry show this June—a rooster show.

If the run of fish in the Columbia this spring is large it is said that another new cannery will be put up at Astoria. There are at present 20 canneries in the city and tributary surroundings.

New Capitola School Project Ready to Start

Excavation as first step in construction of a new Salem district elementary school, on Lansing avenue near Silverton road, probably will begin next week. Contractor Henry G. Carl said Wednesday. Carl has just finished the Bush school addition project.

Carl was successful bidder Tuesday night for construction of both the Capitola school and a similar grade school at Four Corners, both to be added to Salem school district 24 under a $1,500,000 school expansion program.

Although Carl's basic bids were $264,397 for the Capitola school and $266,397 for the Four Corners school, alternatives as called for in the bidding were accepted by the school board in order to bring the construction costs down to $206,082 for Capitola and $209,249 for Four Corners.

The alternates call for eight instead of 10 classrooms in each building and elimination of a separate gymnasium in each, as well as deducting 4 of 1 per cent for granting Carl both projects.

The schools will be built to a common plan, so designed that additional units like the gymnasium or two, four or six classrooms can be added conveniently if needed later. A multi-purpose room will provide space for cafeteria, covered play area and auditorium.

The school bids include also about $3,000 each for septic tank installation, as Four Corners is out of the city and the Capitola site, although just within city limits, is still beyond the city sewerage system. School officials were hopeful that city sewers would reach the site this year but city officials remain doubtful whether it can be accomplished before the school is built.

In other bidding Tuesday night, the school board awarded E. E. Batterman contract for a $42,687 addition to Swegle school and ordered 3,000 opera chairs at $7,540 low bid from B. F. Shearer Co., 9-row, 184-feet folding bleachers from W. H. Cress Co. at $5,958 and six basketball banks from Northern School Supply Co. at total of $1,810. Equipment from the three Portland firms is for the new Parrish junior high school addition.

Nominated for Salem Cherryland Court

Above are three of the candidates for Salem Cherryland festival's 1949 court, to be selected April 21. The girls already have been entered by as many high schools in Marion and Polk county. Pictured are (left to right) Katherine Specht of Jefferson, Jeannine Bentley of Stayton and Jeannie Ruef of Sublimity.

Sublimity Girl Nominated for Cherry Court

Jeannie Ruef, 18-year-old senior of St. Boniface high school will represent Sublimity in the Salem Cherryland court selection here April 21.

Jeannie Wednesday became the 10th contestant for princess for the Salem festival this summer. She has light brown hair and blue eyes, weighs 115 pounds and stands 5 feet 4 inches. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ditter and has two brothers and two sisters.

In school Jeannie is on staffs of the school paper and yearbook, is a yell leader, basketball player and is cast in the senior play. She also is a member of the Committee of Sociality.

Salem Cherryland, who are handling the Princess Selection night in advance of the Salem Cherryland festival, announced Wednesday that several entries are still expected from high schools in Marion and Polk counties. All entries blanks from schools must reach C. T. Reany, Salem Cherryland, Hotel Senator, Salem, this week.

Surviving besides the daughter are five sons, Lee of Salem, Roy of Mill City, Jack and Waynard of Portland and Elvin of San Diego, Calif.; five brothers, two sisters and several grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Moral: Good Lobbyists Should Bring Along a Couple of Chairs

By Ralph Watson
Tom Mahoney is quite a guy. In the first place he is Irish which is quite an advantage, or a disadvantage, depending on which side of his fence you may, at the time, be standing. In the second place he is unpredictable, which is a perfectly apt and fitting term and, according to Funk & Wagnall's, not at all libelous per se. Then he is nimble and frisky as the traditional Irishman's flea;—wherever you think you'll put your finger, there he ain't.

But Tom, "irregardless"—Senator Musa please correct us—is a kind hearted Irishman, full of deep rooted compassion for his fellow men, wincing at their discomfort, yearning to take the load off their bunion and to soothe the pain of the calloused hoof.

All of which brings us up, or down as desire, to the senate joint resolution No. 28. You see it is Tom's resolution, born of the innate kindness of his Irish heart and made predictable by his job as chairman of the senate committee on resolutions.

That resolution fills a long felt want; no foolin'. It takes an echo of forgotten prayers in the minds of many, many men, and some women. And it brings back something not at all akin to prayers almost to the lips of those same persons.

The resolution starts off, candidly, truthfully and accusingly: "Whereas there is a total lack of suitable furniture in the lobby of the capitol building available for the convenience and comfort of the public";

Now, could anything built of words be truer than that: could all the eloquence of a Webster, a Clay or a Calhoun, or even of our own well-remembered Bob Butler and his most silver tongue paint a truer and more agonizing picture? We hope to chuckle they could not.

Mournful Throng
Just close your eyes and see the sad and mournful throng, leaning against the cold and unresponsive marble, curling their toes while they listen to their sprouting corns and try to kick into silence the yeaps of their protesting dogs.

Eighty nine days of ceaseless plodding on the spavin and rindbone factory of the second floor corridors surely ought to be

... and a new suit equals a broad grin! Why not, when it's a neat Bishop's suit sporting the season's top style features.

Come in today and look these suits over and you'll find a selection that's planned to please even the most critical young man's taste.

P.S. They're priced right too! 14.75 up. We also have all necessary accessories. Sharp new spread collar shirts by Kaynee—new spring ties—just like Dad's—and the latest thing in shoes—heavy sole—plain toe oxfords—cordovan calf, of course.

$1,500 in Cash, Postal Savings, Checks Taken

Salem city police are investigating two home burglaries which netted thieves over $1,500 in cash, checks and postal savings Tuesday night.

A total of $1,050 in postal savings, $23 in cash and about $500 in checks was taken from the Truman Phelps home at 1647 N. Church st. Here the burglar gained access to the house through a window. The items taken were all in a purse.

Mrs. Neva Tedrick, 1213 N. Church st., reported that a burglar entered there through a rear door and made off with a purse containing $15 in cash and other items.

Silverton Legion To Hear Speakers On Monday Night

SILVERTON—Mrs. A. J. Titus of Sheridan, department chairman enough to touch the heart of any Irishman.

But, even though his heart were melting and his eyes dimmed with tears, Tom would slip in the nimble word to shift the mind away from the horror of it all. Not all the anguish of Jim Cellars and his six feet plus; or of Roy Myers who has the offset of not so many inches, or of Pete Cover and his twin, or of any of them, or all, could steer Tom away from the hidden humor of it. Says he: whereas it is necessary that members of the general public are compelled to spend time in the lobby during legislative sessions";

"Compelled—to spend time! Ain't it so, pal. And how much longer, Oh! Tom! how much longer!

Please put the emergency clause on it, Tom. Make Mr. Newbry get that comfortable furniture now, before we are all calluses, all conquered, all corned, and all surrendered to our spavin and our sprains. There might be votes in it, Tom. "Irregardless" of anything.

of child welfare, and past president of the Silverton auxiliary, American Legion, will be one of the guest speakers at the Silverton auxiliary meeting Monday night.
Mrs. George Towe, president, has planned a special program honoring past presidents.
Following the individual meetings of the auxiliary and post, W. D. Fenson, who spent considerable time in South America with a machine company, will speak at a joint program. This will be in keeping with the Pan-American program of the group. Mrs. Thomas Blundell is arranging for the speaker and Mrs. Lewis A. Hall for the music.
