By Francis W. Carpenter
NEW YORK, April 12—(AP)—The United Nations assembly turned aside soviet protests today and approved a full airing of the trials of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and 15 Bulgarian Protestant clergymen.

The vote, on a show of hands, was 30 to 7, with 20 nations abstaining.

CVA Forum at College Tonight

A public forum on "Social and Political Implications of CVA" will be conducted at Waller hall tonight at 8 o'clock under sponsorship of Willamette university's Philosophy club.

Panel speakers preceding general discussion will be General Thomas M. Robins, former Bonneville dam construction chief and James V. Collins, national Young Republican committeeman, speaking in opposition to a Columbia Valley authority, and State Rep. Howard Morgan of Portland and Monroe Sweetland, Newport, democratic party national committeeman from Oregon, as favoring a CVA. Moderator will be Dean Robert D. Gregg.

Businessmen to Choose Name for Shopping Area

Choosing of a name for the business area centering around East State and South 12th streets will take place at a meeting tonight of that area's business operators in the Del' Ann beauty salon, 1345 State st.

The group organized recently to boost and encourage expansion of business, social and civic enterprises in that district. At a meeting last week the group narrowed its choice down to two names — to be voted on tonight.

Funeral for Kathy Today At San Marino

SAN MARINO, Calif., April 12—(AP)—The last act of this community's most heart-breaking drama will be enacted tomorrow.

Final home will be paid then to a golden-haired girl whose tragic death in the depths of an abandoned well shocked a world that for 48 hours prayed that she might be saved.

The Rev. Bertrand R. Crist of the San Marino Congregational church will conduct funeral services for little three-year-old Kathy Fiscus in the little stone church of an Alhambra mortuary.

Interment will be in Glen Abbey Memorial park at Chula Vista, Calif., the home of Kathy's grandparents.

Attired in a frilly white Easter dress, Kathy lies in state in a small blue casket in the mortuary chapel. Her parents decided that friends who wish to, may see her.

As they opened their hearts at news of Kathy's plight, Americans also are opening their pockets to reward the 50 to 60 heroes who toiled for more than 50 hours to save her.

The Los Angeles chamber of commerce has formed a committee to consolidate contributions that are pouring in from over the nation.

The chamber also is considering nominating some of the engineers and sandhogs for Carnegie medals for heroism.

15 Teen Agers Jailed After Beach Party

TILLAMOOK, Ore., April 12—(AP)—Fifteen teen age boys and girls were jailed here last night at the climax of a weekend beach party that became an uproarious event involving liquor, bedding and disorderly conduct.

Sheriff Allen Birch said the Rockaway fire department had to be deputized to quell problems arising from a coastal invasion in the area of some 300 Portland area juveniles.

Sheriff Birch said the incident involving those jailed started with arrival at Rockaway of a busload of high school girls. They were chaperoned but later the "hot rods and long hairs poured in."

Before the day was out, two houses had been broken into, three boys were arrested for drinking and disorderly conduct and bedding and other household goods stolen.

Names were not released by authorities, but the sheriff said Portland School Superintendent Rehms was notified and the 15 jailed overnight were fined $10 each.

The girls' fines were suspended and they were ordered out of town.

Motorist Attempts To Lure Boy to Car

A second attempt to lure grade school youngsters into cars with the promise of money was reported to city police Tuesday.

The father of a seven-year-old boy reported that a man had attempted to induce the youngster into his car on North Commercial street Tuesday afternoon.

The boy said he refused and the man drove off towards town. He was able to give police a partial description of the car and occupant.

14 Convicted For Ordering Jews to Death

NUERNBERG, Germany, April 12—(AP)—A U. S. war crimes court announced today the conviction of 14 former Nazi government officials of crimes against humanity in the murder of 6,000,000 Jews.

The vote of the three judges was two to one.

The majority reasoning was that the man who signs a death warrant is as guilty as the man who pulls the trigger.

All the 14, the court held, helped Hitler carry out history's most systematic program of race extermination. Only seven of the 21 defendants in this closing American war crimes case escaped conviction on that count.

Five of the 21 defendants were acquitted of the mass murder charge. The other two had not been accused of that crime, which is only one of seven the prosecution attributed to the group.

Two defendants walked from jail today, freed of all charges. They were Otto Meissner, one-time chief of the presidential chancellery, and Otto von Erdmannsdorff, who was deputy chief of the foreign office political division. Both had been accused of offenses against the Jews.

Sentences probably will not be passed before Thursday.

Contracts for State Highway Jobs Awarded

Contracts awarded Tuesday by the state highway commission brought the total for the two-day Portland session to $1,584,852.

One of the largest awarded went to the D. and H. Paving company, Vancouver, Wash., for 13.9 miles of surfacing and 25.96 miles of oiling on three state highways of the Bellview - Dayton - West Salem project in Polk and Yamhill counties. The low bid was $176,002.

A $38,701 contract for grading, surfacing and oiling of .81 miles of the Amity - Hopewell section on the Bellview - Hopewell highway was issued to the Durbin Co., Eugene.

E. E. Batterman Co., Salem, was awarded the contract for the construction of a vehicular storage shed in Salem. The bid was $15,389.

A request for an estimated $350,000 in improvements on the Albany - Lyons secondary highway between Scio and Lyons was tabled by the state highway commission, meeting in Portland Tuesday. The improvement had been requested by Linn county.

The commission promised to study the proposal of a four-lane highway between Scio and Lyons and Central Point when the group visits southern Oregon in the next three weeks.

Extra Funds For Jobless Vets Sought

WASHINGTON, April 12—(AP)—The government acted today toward providing an extra $595,890,000 in G. I. benefits for the next three months, partly because of increased joblessness among veterans.

A portion of the money would be used for unemployment payments under the G. I. bill of rights. Most of the rest would be for educational benefits under the same law.

President Truman asked the extra money in a letter to congressional leaders. The House appropriations committee quickly approved the fund, which would supplement money already voted for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The bill will come before the house tomorrow for expected prompt passage. It has not been considered by the senate.

Mr. Truman said costs of unemployment benefits exceeded previous estimates "due to higher numbers of veterans receiving these benefits than had been expected."

Permit for Construction of Church Filed

Construction of the new First Christian church at 680 Marion st. was authorized Tuesday by the city building inspector's office. Excavation for the three-story, $265,000 structure has already been completed.

Builder E. E. Batterman has contracted to complete the structure in 500 days but said he thought it could be finished prior to Easter 1950.

The congregation has until June 1950 to vacate the present church at Center and High streets.

Other permits issued Tuesday went to Elva Gruchow, new house, 527 N. 22nd st., $4,000; Marvin Lewis, alter dwelling, 440 Mill st., $500; James Thompson, repair porch, 1385 N. 4th st., $300; Thomas B. Kenagy, repair garage, 1975 W. Nob Hill, $50; and Frank Mapes, repair garage, 445 E. Meyer st., $40.

Courthouse Parking Bill Introduced

A bill granting Marion and other counties in Oregon the right to regulate parking on courthouse squares was introduced in the senate Tuesday by the revision of laws committee.

The bill was sparked by Marion county court. It recently found itself powerless to regulate the congested parking on the courthouse grounds here. Salem Fire Chief W. P. Robie had informed the court the congestion constituted a serious hazard to fire-fighting equipment in case of a fire.

Rules were suspended on the bill and it was placed on second reading. This means it will probably come up for final senate consideration today or Thursday. If passed it will go to the house probably in time for last minute consideration.

The bill would permit county courts to regulate parking on the courthouse grounds and would authorize them to prohibit it entirely during certain hours. A penalty for violators is provided.

Court Reduces 2 Assessments On Property

Personal property assessments were reduced for two Salem business men at hearings held before Marion county court Tuesday.

Hearing on petition of W. H. Townsend for a reduction was continued to today.

John Schneider, owner of the Bluebird cafe, agreed to pay a compromised tax of $6,855 for fixtures and $850 for merchandise. He said that, through an error, his 1947 personal property assessment included some items not included as personal property.

Mike Steinbock, owner of the former Leonard's Supper club, accepted an assessment of $1,000 on fixtures. An original assessment of $5,580 was based on a false return made out, he said, by a public accountant.

Open House at McKinley School Scheduled Tonight

McKinley grade school will stage its annual "achievement night" tonight from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. Although there will be no formal program, visitors are welcome to inspect the various displays and social studies and music classes.

Specialty displays will include the handicraft, woodcraft, masks and widely known puppet collections, all made by McKinley students.

Also displayed will be recent gifts to the school by the McKinley Mothers' club. Items in this display include 100 song books, two magnifying glasses and the large beaded screen for permanent use in the movie room.

District to Hire School Lunch Supervisor

Recommendation by Superintendent Frank B. Bennett that Salem school district employ a school lunch supervisor for the first time next year was accepted by the school district directors Tuesday night at a board meeting in the public school administration building.

Bennett asserted that a full-time supervisor would benefit the lunch program which is now operated in all but five of the district's schools, with some 2,000 pupils eating there daily. Meals range from 20 to 25 cents.

The board discussed a Junior Woman's club proposal for use of the old Lincoln school site for one of several recreation program sites suggested by the club. Board members indicated they might favor the proposal if the city of Salem backs the new recreational developments suggested by the woman's group.

Possibility that the school district teaching staff will be increased next year by as many as 11 appeared when the board authorized the superintendent to hire an additional high school shop teacher and investigate possible need for a new Leslie Junior High teacher. Earlier this spring, the board authorized nine additional teachers.

Six elementary teachers were hired for the coming year, all already in the teaching profession. They are Mrs. Kathleey Toyen of 365 S. 16th st., former Yakima, Wash., teacher; Mrs. Rosella Brucka of Brooks, now teaching at Canby; Bass O. Egan, Toppenish, Wash.; Mrs. Clarice Akerson, Puyallup, Wash.; Martha Matejcek, Albany; Alma Kjersem, Parkrose school in Portland.

Carrie Thoma was rehired as teacher for the state tuberculosis hospital school and leave of absence for next year was approved for Mary Bradley. Resignations were accepted from Hiram Smith, Salem high school; Anna Hansen, Washington; Sigrun Harding, Richmond; Lorraine Kent, McKinley; Alice Twombly, Gardfield.

Bloodmobile Back in Salem

The Red Cross bloodmobile was in Salem again Tuesday, collecting 82 pints of blood from 119 prospective donors processed at the First Methodist church collection point.

Amount of blood taken was the greatest since the bloodmobile started operating from the Portland regional center a month ago. Of the total number of volunteers offering blood, 37 were rejected for physical or age reasons.

The bloodmobile will return here May 10; meanwhile Col. Philip Allison's recruitment committee will continue to seek volunteer donors.
