Rotary Told of Migration of Jews to Israel

The Jews are flocking from over the world to the new state of Israel, even though they were dispersed from there more than 60 generations ago, because they maintained their faith and yearning for a homeland when they had no material goods and were persecuted, Hershal M. Tanzer of Portland told Salem Rotary club Wednesday.

Tanzer, western representative for the Anti-Defamation league, worked with displaced persons in Europe for some time after World War II.

Describing Israel as the "most democratic government in the world," he said it is trying to mend the tragedy of Europe. Because of their world-wide experience and subjection by various governments, the Jews know the meaning of democracy, he declared.

The present parliament contains only four communists, two of them Jews and two Arabs. Tanzer felt that communism would not make much progress in Israel because the country is showing progress and is growing. He noted that it claims the highest percentage of skilled workers of any country. While its government is labor, he added, it is not as leftist as Britain's.

Tanzer blamed the British administration of its between-wars mandate for much of the Near East unrest, saying that the Jews were not allowed to invest capital in development and that oil royalties in various countries were not used to better the lot of the common people.

The new state has so far experienced no internal strife since its formation, according to Tanzer, but several nations are bickering over the Arabian part of Palestine, which now has no government.

In Israel, development of the land, for a self-sustaining agricultural economy, has priority, Tanzer noted.

Earth-Shaking Bill in Senate Brings Results

Wednesday noon's earth tremor produced plenty of excitement at the statehouse where the senate still was in session.

Scores of attaches streamed outdoors, and in the senate—where woodwork creaked—Sen. Allan Carson jumped to his feet when personnel started to leave, saying "don't get excited—everyone sit down." Most everyone did. He added that "I told you that last bill was earthquake." The house already had adjourned for the noon recess but a good many members still were on the floor. The game committee meeting nearby was suddenly adjourned to the grass at the west end of the statehouse.

By coincidence, the last action in the house' morning session, just a few minutes before the tremor, comprised a reduction of a bill, by the Multnomah county delegation, giving the governor certain powers in event of flood or earthquake.
