CAA Airport Program Lists Valley Towns

Several mid-Willamette valley locations are listed by the civil aeronautics administration where airports should be constructed or improved on the basis of existing and anticipated demands for air service.

The listings are contained in the 1949 national airport program, an annual report prepared by the CAA in accordance with the federal airport service. The plan does not represent an allocation of funds.

Listed among the 149 locations in Oregon are Salem's McNary field, Albany's city airport, the Aurora-Canby flight strip, McMinnville field, Newport field and Corvallis field. Albany, McMinnville and Salem have already had federal aid grants, and Newport is federal aid programmed. Aid is proposed for Corvallis.

Proposed class one fields (usable landing strip 1,800 to 2,700 feet) for the area are at Breitenbush Springs, Dallas, Idanha, Independence, Mill City, Philomath, Woodburn and Stayton.

Estimated cost of construction and development for the entire state outlined in the plan would be $17,143,000, of which $9,172,000 would be federal funds and the remainder provided by the sponsor.

In addition the plan lists new seaplane bases and improvements of existing bases. Ocean Lake base is included in the improvement category.

Owens' Theme Chosen for UO Spring Fete

Beldon Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Owens, 1893 Saginaw st., was awarded a $15 prize for winning theme in the annual University of Oregon spring pageant theme contest. Beldon's winning theme was "One Thousand and One Nights".

All the floats constructed by various living organizations for the spring pageant in May will be designed after the spirit of the Arabian Nights.

Beldon is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity and is vice president of the Young Republican Federation of Oregon at the university.

Lecture Monday on Christian Science

Paul Stark Seeley, C.S.B., of Portland, Ore., will deliver a lecture on Christian Science in Salem high school, at 8 p.m., Monday. It is open to the public, sponsored by the local church.

Seeley is a member of the board of lecturership of the Mother church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Joseph W. Chambers, of the lecture committee of First Church, said, "Many people are interested in learning about Christian Science. The purpose of these lectures is to give the public the facts in simple, understandable terms."

the fast time even longer. Referendum petitions on the state law are to be circulated, and if the necessary 15,926 signatures are obtained. The law will not go into effect until it is referred to the people in the November, 1950, election.

The Portland city council, rebelling against the legislature's dictum, decreed daylight saving for the April 24-September 11 period. Portlanders had favored the fast time in last November's balloting.

Waltons Slate Spring Frolic

The annual Spring Anglers' Frolic, sponsored by the Salem Chapter of the Izaak Walton League has been dated for Monday, May 2, at 6:30 o'clock. Chapter Secretary Lynne Darnielle has announced. Site of the Frolic will be announced later. It will be open to the public.

All proceeds gained from the sale of tickets to the lively party will go into the Salem chapter's club house fund, Darnielle adds. Chapter President Don Harger is in charge of the ticket sale, but most members of the chapter will have duets for public consumption later on.

OCE to Play Host to State Education Meet

MONMOUTH—The annual state conference on elementary education will be held at Oregon College of Education on Saturday, April 30, with Dr. Charles R. Bursch, director of school housing, California state department of education, as featured speaker.

Dr. Bursch, author of numerous books and articles, is an authority on utilization of schools by teachers and students. He will have a prime example of good school design at OCE in the primary unit of the campus elementary school, recently completed at a cost of $120,000.

Others who will lead conference sessions include: Dr. Ray Faulkner, head of the art department at Stanford university; Dr. R. D. Langston of University of Oregon's department of elementary education; Claude Cook, physical education supervisor at Bend high school; Mrs. Faye Know, instructor in dance and rhythms at OCE, who will present a demonstration of creative rhythms by boys and girls; Dr. Robert B. D. Baron, of the OCE department of psychology.

State, Portland To Part Time Next Sunday

PORTLAND, April 16—(P)—Portland and Oregon will come to the parting of the clock a week from Sunday.

On that date, the city of Portland will go on daylight saving time, despite the new state law banning daylight time in Oregon.

Portland—and any other town that should decide to follow suit—can stay on the fast time at least until mid-July. That is when the new law, passed by the legislature, goes into effect. Daylight advocates hope to keep

"Holly" Says

Now is the time of year when young men's fancies turn to love and young women wish they'd "get going" to my place. Yes, folks it's nice to have the reputation of being "a nice place to buy diamonds." Young and older people alike agree that there is something nice in going into a store and looking at diamonds and other merchandise and not being urged to buy. Well we feel the same about going into other stores, we like to go in, look around and select what we want, not what someone wants to sell to us, so we follow that policy in our store. We will be glad to show you everything in the store and if you do not buy a thing you'll see the same happy smile on our face as you leave as the one you stay when you came in. Try it sometime — Everybody's our friend.
