high food prices.

Others are now doing something about it! They are knocking the stuffings out of high food bills by buying the new, sensible way. They have gotten in the habit of buying food in large quantities when they see sales or real bargains. Then they place the food in their G-E Home Freezer, and eat it when they want it-perhaps months later!

They don't buy a sliver of meat from the butcher. They buy a section of meat at a time—at a discount. Then the butcher cuts the meat into family portions for daily use. They buy ice cream by the gallon instead of the pint-and the savings are amazing. Now you don't have to spend a lot of money for a real savings every week of the year. You just get in the habit of buying one or two items in quantity as you go alonginstead of a dozen small ones!
