

Senior Coeds Honor Guests

Pi Beta Phi alumnae will entertain the seniors of the active chapter on the Willamette university campus at their regular meeting Thursday night at the chapter house. A 7:30 dessert supper will be served and Mrs. Charles Huggins, the new president, will preside at the business session.

Hostesses for evening will be Mrs. Richard Spooner, Mrs. Albert T. Anderson, Mrs. Paul B. Wallace, Mrs. Robert W. Gormsen, Mrs. Ralph E. Purvine, Mrs. Lester Pearmine, jr., Mrs. Rus-

On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When the person who is making an introduction does not speak a name clearly, and it is very important that the name be known, of whom should one ask that the name be repeated?

A. Ask the person introduced, not the one who has made the introduction.

Q. It is ever permissible to take food into the mouth from the point of the spoon.

A. Never; food should always be taken from the side of the spoon.

Q. Is it correct for a man to use the title "Mr." on his business cards?

A. No. Only such titles as "Rev." and "Dr." are permissible.

Don't Look Now...

but... We're not too sure where the poor mothers come in. Saturday the horses and riders paraded, publicizing the show for last night and today, and the boy scouts followed along later in the day in a prologue to the Scout Circus. We did think, however, that so many motherly looking women were storming the shops Saturday, that there just couldn't be very many remaining home waiting to be honored.

Furthermore... though our suggestion for a national Aunt's day has never kicked up a furor among the florists, greeting card people or gift manufacturers, we still think they are missing a good bet. Nevertheless we always think that there are many advantages to being an aunt over being a parent — you can always love 'em and leave 'em (with no baby sitting problems to turn your hair to silver).

Hard to get... There's nothing to spending a lot of money hiring a landscape architect and a gardener to whip you up a lovely showplace for people to drive by and stare at. But it takes talent to develop a small garden with a minimum of expense and a maximum of labor. Next time you're out for a drive, go through some of the less expensive parts of the city, you'll be surprised at the pretty places you find. Having a deep feeling for Salem as we used to know it, we like to drive along the waterfront from Center street north to Division. We're always surprised at the interesting places along Water street, and marvel at how many are well kept. If you are like us, you'll feel a pang of regret that the great beautiful maples there are among the only ones surviving what used to be a beautiful city of trees and is now a "bustling industrial town whose population is increasing by leaps and bounds" as if that was the criterion of a city of happy people.

Take a glance... at the lavishly flowering (what looks to be) laburnum you see as you look down hill under the bridge approach at the foot of Center street. There's a full blooming old fashioned clematis which must have covered the side of the house for years... Maxine Buren

BUILDING TIME... out at the Ronald Jones country place on the Portland highway... They will soon be moving their present home just to the south on their property... and their new ranch style house will be built further back from the highway nearer the swimming pool... While the house is under construction they will be domiciled in the guest house...

In Kingwood Heights, just off Glen Creek drive, Hubert and Joan Williamson are building a five room home... situated just north of the new home of her parents, the John S. Lochheads... The Williamsons hope to be moved in by the time the Lochheads return later in the month from Canada...

MOVING SOON... Newcomers in the capital from Chicago Mr. and Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale, have purchased the lovely country home of the Harley Bosslers on the South River road...

The Bosslers plan to build on other property in the near future... After living in the east for years the Massengales were thrilled at finding a country place so close to the city and with a view... and we understand she has some lovely antique furniture from the south for her new home

... They plan to move within a week...

The Clayton Foremans, who have been living in an apartment for several years, have purchased the Carl Jordan home on Market and Fourteenth streets... Kathryn is more than excited about furnishing and decorating with all kinds of clever ideas up her sleeve... The Jordans will be in temporary quarters until they build in another year...

CONGRATULATIONS... to Mrs. Peter Buck, Mrs. Robert Mc Murray, jr. and Ingrid Liljeqvist, new provisional members of the Portland Junior League... Mrs. Buck will be remembered as Josephine McGilchrist and the daughter of Mrs. William McGilchrist, jr... Jo was an active member of the Spinners here until her marriage... Mrs. McMurray, the former Jean Halstead, is a niece of Mrs. Earl Snell and her husband is a nephew of Mrs. Taylor Hawkins... both have many college friends in the capital... and Ingrid is a sister of Mrs. David Eyre, jr., who also is an active member of the Junior League...

A GORGEOUS VIEW... and perfect setting for the luncheon for which Mrs. Lloyd Riches and Mrs. Ralph Campbell were hostesses Thursday at the Riches' lovely new home in Ben Lomond Park... large view windows in the living and dining rooms with a veranda the length of the living room... Even a view to see while doing dishes in the kitchen... Soft reds and draw drapes and the flowered wallpaper in shades of pink and rose with a green background... a playroom downstairs with windows overlooking the city...

At the luncheon... guests not missing a sight as a beautiful, clear sunny day... Matching the color scheme... Mrs. A. L. Adolphson in her pink and soft blue print silk dress with a long strand of pink pearls... her black straw adorned with a pink taffeta bow... She is busy making plans for her European trip come July, which includes a several weeks stay in London with her relatives... Mrs. Russell E. Pratt choosing black with pink pearls and a single pink rose caught at either side of her black hat... Vicki Campbell, one of the hostesses, also matching the color scheme with her mauve and navy blue striped full skirted frock... A green dress complemented with a bunch of violets for Mrs. R. D. Paris... Mrs. Abner Kline's pink hat with maine trim... Mrs. Kline just back from a California jaunt and later in the summer planning a trip to Toronto and other eastern points... A white straw with emerald green bow and veiling for Mrs. Homer Smith, jr...

TRAVEL NOTES... The Robert Elfstroms home from a seven weeks trip south and east... Visiting their son, Robert, jr. in Texas and he joining them again in Kansas... Their daughter, Patricia, flying east to Omaha to meet her folks on the last lap of the trip... Pat's first plane trip and she took a plane that made stops everywhere so she wouldn't miss a thing... Highlights of the trip for the Elfstroms... a stay at Lee Eyerly's ranch at Wickensberf, Arizona, where they enjoyed riding horses... Visiting the lovely old homes in Natchez, Miss. filled with collectors' items... several weeks of basking in the sun in Miami Beach, where they had an apartment on the ocean front... and a plane trip over to Havana, where they stayed at the famous Nationale hotel, quite an experience for the Elfstroms, not speaking any Spanish.

MAY DAY TIME... on the Willamette university campus last week end... Jupiter Pivius really let forth with a downpour... thus the coronation of Queen Edith Fairham in the gymnasium, which had been decorated just in case... a false ceiling of woven pastel crepe paper... draped walls and the throne beautifully decorated... Although Edith didn't walk across the soft, green grass... she was lovely in her white marquisette gown as she walked to the throne to receive her floral crown... she carried red roses and stock... and her princesses, Barbara Miller and Carol Dimond, in attractive identical white polka dot araganz frocks with cascade ruffles in back and a wide flounce at the bottom of the skirts... adorable were the two little flower girls, Susan De Vall and Kathy Adams, in blue ruffled dresses... and Rickie Lewis, son of Coach and Mrs. John Lewis, the crown bearer...

Delta Gamma mothers will meet at the Court street chapter house Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Hostesses will be Mrs. O. B. Long and Mrs. L. M. Case.

Mrs. Clifton Ross is spending the Mother's Way week end in Medford with her son and daughter-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. Milo Ross.
