My, What Big Biceps You Have, Keller

Three of the four Salem gladiators who will do battle on the armory ring card Wednesday night took time out from their drill labors Saturday to pose for this picture. Dean Abney (left) and Indian Joe Pete (right) give Keller Wagner's powerful arms a checkup. Abney fights Davey Ball in the 10ground main event. Indian Joe goes against another Indian, Brave Junior, in the six round special. Big Keller launches a comeback in the top four-rounder.

galion, we suffice a tip to the Portland Beavers, who now admit they willing to reg, borrow or steal themselves a first baseman. Acturily, they have only to look into our Western Internationa league relief enough to take off the some until they land the guy vice after Our man is Vic Bucsa ker. And after talking to Mgr. Tot Norbert on Buccola the other night, the Bevos could spear the lad in case No, we don't say Buccola Il knock down any fences in the Pill's, or that he'll bash a solid 300 against the Triple-A flingers But we do say and we've lots of aye, Vic is as good a glove man as there is in the Coast loop right now, that he would be 100 per cent more help at first base for the Portlands than they have, that he would pick up his share of the bingles, that he would lash one against that short right field wall in the Bevo park once in awhile, that he's a hustler and that he's too good a ballgamer to be playing in the WIL. And what the heck, when the Portlands do get the big shot first baser they seem to be after, they could send Buccola to our town Senators . . When the posies are passed out to those who have proved they have what it takes in athletics, don't overlook slender Darrell Gired, the Salem high basketballer-baseballer. Darrell hurt his foot just before the start of the state basketball tournament. The pain was there apenty, but he played all through the tournament and played well. The foot was still bothering him during the early part of the baseball season. So he finally had it X-rayed, found that he had a broken bone and now hobbles around in a big cast. Lots of the intestinal stuff there . . .

Nelson Showing 'Em in Coast League

Speaking of pitching with the posies, pass a few to he who predicted last summer of Spokane's 24-game winning Frank Nelson, "There's a guy who could win regularly in the Coast league." Frank just happeris to be the same Nelson who is uncorking one mound sparkler after another these days for Charley Dressen's Oaklands ... Come to think of it, our own Hal Saltzman isn't making any of the Portland patriots mad when he pitches for the Bevos either. Certainly is good o see lads like Saltzman getting a break in the neighboring PCL. Bill Burgher got one too, but it took a break of a different hue to get him his When Eddie Fernandez caught a foul tip on his tootsie, breaking three bones in it, Burgher was handed the No. 1 backstopping assignment by Bill Sweeney. And strong-armed Bill is apt to keep Fernander parked right on the bench the rest of the campaign if ever he gets that big bat of his functioning regularly

The Two-bit Parking at Waters Field

Considerable yipping has come from the Waters field elientele who were greeted with a "Parking 25c" surprise when the season opened. Some have grown quite peeved over it. But Biz Boss George Emigh would like to have the folks know this: Last year there were two free parking lots adjacent to the park. Yet many of the customers parked their buggies across the street in a private lot, and for two-bits a throw. Inasmuch as operating the Senators is a costly venture. Emigh reminds, he figured the club should step in for some of those quarters. So now there is one free parking lot and one with the two-bit sign attached. Take your pick, but don't get mad. It isn't mandatory that you go into the

Yankees Top Chisox: Graham Raps Seventh

By the Associated Press The New York Giants, who are long on hitting and not so wellstacked in the pitching department, got both hitting and hurling Saturday as they whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 9-1, to climb into a tie for first place in the National league with the Boston Braves. The Giants belted 12 hits while lanky Clint Hartung was holding as they bowed to Cincinnati's Reds, 4-2. Bill Voiselle of the Reds held the Braves to only two hits but in the eighth inning for three runs Brooklyn Dodgers went into second place, one game back of the leaders after stopping the Chicago Cubs, 10-4. The Burns tallied seven runs in the fourth frame. Pittburgh's Pirates clubbed the Philadelphia Phils, 6-4, behind Hall Gregg's fine relief hurling.

ing New York Yankees got another sharp mound performance as Bob Porterfield pitched them to an 8-1 victory over Chicago's White Sox. It was Porterfield's first start of the season. The Cleveland Indians stayed 212 games back of the Yanks after eking out a 12-inning 4-3 win over the Boston Red Sox. Freddie Hutchinson set the Philadelphia Athletics down with five hits as Detroit's Tigers got a 4-2 decision, and Washington's Senators continued their fast pace as they topped the St. Louis Browns, 6-4.
